Job Given Leff Angers Marshall; Politics Charged in Shifts

Charges of Democratic political maneuvering in the Department of Public Safety were hurled by Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall today after he had told Mayor McNair he would not be a "puppet" of the administration.

Marshall came out of a conference with the Mayor with a declaration that "certain high police officials" are attempting to wreck the police department.

Earlier, Richard L. Smith, ousted as fire chief, said he feared the Fire Bureau was about to become "a political dumping ground."

M'NAIR STAND VAGUE

Marshall protested to McNair because he was not consulted in the appointment of Louis H. Leff, former detective captain, to succeed Frank R. Boyd as inspector of detectives, the firing of 20 detectives and appointment of nine new men.

Marshall demanded that he be told his exact status as police head under the Democratic regime.

Marshall said he would demand reinstatement of Detective Joe Linden for at least the two months necessary to make him eligible for a pension. The superintendent bitterly denounced Linden's dismissal.

It was difficult to learn what position McNair was taking in the face of the ire of his police head, but finally he said Public Safety Director Ralph E. Smith had full charge of police and fire department affairs, and what Smith did was satisfactory to him.

That was the way Al Smith ad-

JOB OVER, MAN SHOOTS SELF

Today was to have been the last day for Frank A. Ley, 62, as manager of a grocery at 2318 East street, police reported.

As a driver, making a delivery, mounted the store steps he heard a shot. Entering, he found Ley, a bullet through his right temple and a gun on the floor beside him, he reported. The wounded man was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, with little chance of recovery.

A son, Norman H. Ley, of 4496 Rodenbaugh avenue, told police his father had been worried over financial difficulties and that he was to have turned the store over to other management today. The elder Ley resides at 4238 Perrysville avenue.

Prince Testifies Monk Rasputin Hypnotized Him

International News Service.

LONDON, March 1.—A breathless crowd in a packed courtroom today heard Prince Felix Youssoupoff tell how Rasputin, the "Mad Monk" of Russia, had tried to cure him of ill health by mesmerism.

To the suggestion that he might have been under such a severe nervous strain at the time Rasputin was assassinated that he did not know what he was doing, the Prince replied:

WIFE'S SUIT

Prince Youssoupoff is testifying in the suit brought by his wife against a film company, claiming a motion picture depicting the life of Rasputin damaged her. The film company contends the character in the picture which Princess Youssoupoff claims portrayed her, is purely fictional.

Yesterday, Prince Youssoupoff told in starkly realistic fashion the grim story of the slaying of Rasputin 18 years ago in a Petrograd cellar. Today, he continued the story of his dealings with Rasputin under cross-examination by Sir William Jowitt, attorney for the defense.

The Prince gave a graphic description of the attempt of Rasputin to use hypnotic power to improve the Prince's health. He said:

"I laid on a couch in his study. He made passes over my face.

MESMERIC INFLUENCE

"I found that a powerful, mesmeric influence had been exercised over me. I was unable to call out, or move.

"But I wasn't cured."

It was then that Sir William suggested the Prince might have been so highly unstrung because of illness that he did not know what he was doing when he killed Rasputin and Youssoupoff declared this was quite possible since he was not a "murderer" by profession.

The defense counsel constantly sought to show that the description of the killing of Rasputin given by the Prince was totally different from the film version.

Evans Bequeaths Daughter $105,000

Former Judge John A. Evans left an estate of $105,000, according to his will which was probated today. The entire estate was left in trust for his daughter, Mrs. Jean Evans Rose. The net income is to be given Mrs. Rose during her life time. The estate is to be divided among her three children at her death.

Snow Drifts Block Charleroi Funeral

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 1.—Huge snow drifts along the road leading to Mt. Tabor Cemetery today blocked a funeral procession accompanying the body of John Schwartz, Sr., 62, of Roscoe. He died Sunday. The cortege returned and the body was placed temporarily in the receiving vault of the Monongahela Cemetery.

RAIN NEARS, FLOOD PERIL MINIMIZED

No Immediate Rise In Rivers Seen; Cold Wave Ends

March arrived in a blanket of smog today to supplant the coldest February on record and with a promise of milder weather.

With relief from the severe cold came also the prospect that part, at least, of the eight-inch snowfall which has lingered for three days, would melt under the sun's rays without menace of a flood.

The nearest rain belt today was in Texas and Louisiana, Observer W. S. Brotzman reported. While the fling of the storm may reach this district, the snow or rain would not be sufficient to cause a marked rise in the rivers, he asserted.

He anticipated a temperature of around 40 late today, sufficient to dissipate layers of snow.

The mercury fell to an official 17 at the Weather Bureau and to zero in valleys of rural districts and along the rivers.

Kane's Son, 10, Dies; Father at Bedside

Death today invaded the home of Councilman John J. Kane, fighting minority leader of the Democratic bloc. His 10-year-old son, David T., a pupil in the parochial school of the Church of the Resurrection, died of pneumonia in the Kane home, 751 Rossmore avenue. He had been ill since Saturday. Councilman Kane remained at home today to be at the boy's bedside.

LABOR BOARD REFERS ROW

Criminal Prosecution May Result From Controversy

As President Roosevelt announced he would speak to the nation Monday morning regarding his plans for NRA (see story on page 2), there were these developments affecting industries in the Pittsburgh district today:

1—The National Labor Board Board referred the case of the Weirton Steel Company to the Department of Justice for immediate action.

2—Senator Wagner, Labor Board chairman, introduced a bill to ban company unions, make the board permanent and deny direct representation to labor minorities. (See story on page two.)

3—Approximately 5,000 employes declared a "holiday" at three plants of the Aluminum Company of America in furtherance of demands for a 30-hour week and increased wages.

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—The National Labor Board announced today it had unanimously decided to refer the Weirton Steel Company case to the Department of Justice for immediate action.

In making public its decision, the board said the action was decided upon at an all-day executive session last Tuesday. No explanation was given for the delay in making it public.

COURSE IN DOUBT

At the Department of Justice it was said the problem included consideration of whether to start criminal proceedings against the company for alleged violation of NRA codes and an effort to secure an injunction restraining the Weirton Company from interfering in any election which might be held by the workers.

This is the second time a case has been given to the Department of Justice.

Action of that body was deferred, however, pending the outcome of efforts to conduct a poll among the Weirton employes, in conformance with an executive order by President Roosevelt, to determine whether a "substantial number" of the employes desired a new election of employe representatives.

The board said the Weirton company continually had refused to co-operate with it in conducting such an election.

It added the company had refused to furnish identification lists

Doomed Slayer Attempts Suicide

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 1.—(INS.)—Harley Edwards, 38-year-old Mitchell, Ind., World War veteran, under sentence to be executed one minute after midnight with the State Prison here for the murder of his wife, tried to beat the electric chair by attempting suicide early today.

HIGHBALL TRIAL NEARS JURY

International News Service.

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 1.—The trial of Dr. Sara Ruth Dean for the "poison highball" murder of Dr. J. Preston Kennedy may go to the jury tonight.

Summations began today as soon as court opened and about 12 hours in all probability will be taken up by both sides. Hence, the cotton planter jury may have the case in its hands by 9 p. m.

In the summations, the state will maintain that the defendant poisoned Dr. Kennedy, her erstwhile sweetheart, in a fury because he intended to remarry his divorced wife. The defense will insist that Dr. Dean had already broken off the love affair at the time of the alleged poisoning, that she had been engaged to Capt. Franklin Maull, a Delaware harbor pilot.

ASK PAY RAISE, 30-HOUR WEEK

Approximately 5,000 employes, 600 of them women, declared a "holiday" today at three plants of the Aluminum Company of America, at New Kensington, Arnold and Logans Ferry. Company officials claimed only 3,700 employes are affected.

Picketing by both men and women was quiet and orderly.

The holiday, called at a meeting in New Kensington last night, was a culmination of a three-day convention of the Aluminum Workers' National Union. Representatives from seven aluminum plants in Illinois, West Virginia, New Jersey, New York and Tennessee attended. Only one of these is affiliated with the Aluminum Company of America.

DEMANDS OUTLINED

The holiday was called, according to Clyde Holmes, chairman of the New Kensington committee, in protest over refusal of the company to recognize demands of the employes for a 30-hour week and increased wages. The Aluminum company plants have been on a 40-hour week.

Picket lines formed at 6 a. m.

McNair Hedges on Dual Job Decree

Mayor McNair—who wants to be Governor—was at it again today.

Taking a page out of the book of President Roosevelt, he decreed that any holders of political party jobs—ward chairmen, county committeemen and the like—are ineligible for city jobs.

And then he equivocated and hedged and backed away from the statement—a loosely worded affair in writing—which would have spoiled the sleep of many small and large politicians.

McNair first said:

"It is my desire to establish as soon as possible the policy of the administration of having those individuals as ward chairmen, et cetera, in political positions to relinquish them."

Democrats holding party offices and city positions include James P. Kirk, city treasurer and Democratic county treasurer and Fourth Ward chairman; John Murray, city assessor and Democratic city chairman; Harry Lodsdon, water assessor and Fifteenth Ward chairman; William Fromm, city assessor and Sixtenth Ward chairman, and Charles McCall, police magistrate and Third Ward chairman.

Some of the Republicans are Deputy Fire Chief Louis Conley, who is also Ninth Ward chairman; Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, Eighteenth Ward chairman, and Charles Martin, city assessor and Tenth Ward chairman.

It all happened when a delegate from Penn avenue protested Conley's retention, pointing out his Republican Party position. McNair didn't like that, so he issued his statement.

Newspapermen asked him:

"Does this statement apply to Jimmy Kirk?"

McNair said:

"I can't be pinned down to specifications."

He was asked:

"How about John Murray?"

"Oh, we can't discuss individuals."

They tried to pin him down:

"Well, does this statement mean that city employes can't keep their jobs if they keep their party jobs?"

The Mayor eluded them when he said:

"The statement means what it says. We'll let it lie for a week and see what happens."

Other prominent Democrats doubling as public officials include County Chairman David L. Lawrence, who is Collector of Internal Revenue here, and State Chairman Warren Van Dyke, Collector of Port in Philadelphia.

Longfellow's Daughter, 'Laughing Allegra', Dies

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 1.—(AP.)—Mrs. Annie Longfellow Thorp, the "Laughing Allegra" of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem, "The Children's Hour," is dead. She was the youngest of the poet's children and was 79 years old.

Years ago her father immortalized her in the lines:

"From my study I see in the lamplight
Descending the broad hall stair,
Grave Alice, and laughing Allegra,
And Edith with golden hair."

Annie Allegra Longfellow married Joseph Gilbert Thorp in 1885. She died yesterday at the family home here. Five daughters and a number of grandchildren survive.

BUTLER, March 1.—(AP.)—Funeral services will be held at Cabot today for the Rev. Lambert E. Lennox, D. D., a friend of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and Oliver Wendell Holmes. He was 80.

Mr. Lennox, a pastor in Methodist Episcopal churches of Michigan for half a century, died at the home of his daughter.

Nation's Chief Will Appear at Session On Monday

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt will sclose his plans for NRA in a rsonal appearance Monday be- re the group meetings called by iministrator Johnson to hear mplaints.

This was made known today as iticism was received from a large mber of persons who came here the invitation of Johnson to r their views.

The President's address at 11 a. m. (eastern standard time) will be broadcast to the nation.

Significance was attached by observers to the sudden decision to address the conference.

IDEAS FOR FUTURE

Some believed the President would give his ideas for the future of the National Recovery Act as well as take up some of the complaints presented at the invitation of Johnson.

At yesterday's session, 15 state purchasing agencies demanded that NRA curb monopolistic practices, while Mrs. Gifford Pinchot termed the recovery organization's enforcement of its labor program a "grisly farce."

Saying she spoke for smiilar agencies in 14 other states, Mrs. Mary E. O'Connor, New York's director of purchase, charged that virtually all bids being received were identical.

Mrs. Pinchot, red-haired wife of Pennsylvania's Governor, joined in the complaints that were beating down on NRA like rain on a tin roof by charging that defiance of labor provisions by some large concerns "has been taken by the lesser fry as a signal that they could cheat and chisel without being called to account."

She named "Weir" and "Budd," apparently referring to Ernest T. Weir, president of National Steel, and the head of the E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia.

30-HOUR WEEK

A demand by the American Federation of Labor for establishment of the 30-hour week in manufacturing industries was presented to NRA's public forum of criticism today by John P. Frey, secretary of the organization's metal trade department.

A new attack on the steel industry was made by E. P. Cush, national president of the Steel and Metal Workers' Industrial Union, who cited what he called oppressive acts by officials in the steel mill towns of Western Pennsylvania.

The NRA, he said, "has given us no protection" but had allowed the big companies to impose company unions on the workers without a voice in the preparation of the rule.

Renewing his attack on what he colled the "robbery of the masses" by NRA, Robert Minor, leader of the Communist Party, predicted a second World War for conquest of markets abroad.

RYAN GRANTED NEW TRIAL

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 1.—Martin Ryan, fiery labor leader of the coal fields, convicted of assault in connection with trouble at the polls at Grindstone on election day, last November, was ...ted a new trial today by Judge Henderson.

... court held that records of previous convictions should not have been used against him to affect his credibility. Ryan was defeated for school director at the election. The retrial will be held next week.

500 Brownsville Miners on Strike

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 1.—Five hundred employes at the Valley Camp Coal company's Lilley mine here were on strike today, as a result of the discharge of two miners for alleged violation of the state mining laws.

WEIR CASE REFERRED BY BOARD of its employes and had endeavored "in other ways" to hamper the board.

MENTIONS WEIR

In a statement accompanying the decision, Chairman Wagner emphasized that no other course had been open.

Wagner added that Ernest T. Weir, president of the company, had not only refused co-operation "but made it plain to the board's representatives that he would not deal with any employe representatives if they should be selected at a nw election under the board's supervision."

In addition to Wagner, the resolution was signed by the following members of the board: Walter C. Teagle, Pierre S. DuPont, William Green, John L. Lewis, Francis J. Haas and George L. Berry.

The Weirton dispute dates back to last September, when employe representatives were chosen at an election sponsored by the company. This election was challenged by employes of the company as not being representative and the National Labor Board has been trying since last December to hold or supervise its own election.

The Weirton company throughout has opposed every move and threatened legal action to restrain the board from carrying out its plans.

Weir was reported as conferring on more than one occasion with President Roosevelt in an effort to settle the differences. Details of these conpersations have not been made public.

Familiar with details of the Weirton case by virtue of investigations carried on early in the history of the affair, the Justice Department awaited word from the National Labor Board regarding the matter.

Assistant Attorney General Harold M. Stephens, of the anti-trust division, was active in the early investigation into the case.

WEIR ADAMANT

Maj. George L. Berry, one of the signers of the board's decision, disclosed that he and Walter C. Teagle had negotiated privately for the last two weeks with Weir in an effort to adjust the dispute. Berry said:

"Teagle and I exhausted every recourse to secure an adjustment of the matter in the interests of all concerned.

"While we found Mr. Weir cordial and in some respects sympathetic to our point of view, nevertheless he insisted the circumstances under which he was laboring made it impossible for him to accept our suggestions.

"We were both persuaded that he felt the great responsibilities resting upon his shoulders in consequence of the decision made by him."

Berry declined to amplify this statement as to the proposals made to Weir. However, he disclosed that in the course of the negotiations, he and Teagle had conferred with Weir and other prominent steel magnates in New York last week. He said also that on the day that the board reached its decision, he had held two telephone conversations with Weir without succeeding in altering the latter's attitude.

NEW MONETARY LAWS OPPOSED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Declaring that the administration's gold policy is working successfully, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., today opposed enactment of new monetary legislation by Congress in the near future.

Morgenthau's statement was given to a House banking subcommittee, which sought his views on the Goldsborough Bill, creating a federal monetary authority to take over the Federal Reserve System's power of money issue.

Morgenthau said:

"What the future monetary policy will be I don't think anyone can say. We haven't had enough experience."

Morgenthau told the committee that "business has been getting a little better each week since I came into the Treasury."

He predicted ratification of a world pact on silver, pointing out that China ratified yesterday. This ratification, he said, will increase the price of silver.

New York Hotel Strike Settled

NEW YORK, March 1.—(Universal.)—The strike of hotel waiters and kitchen workers, in effect a month, was settled last night. The hotels agreed to re-employ former workers "so far as conditions permit," but refused to recognize the union.

The settlement was regarded as largely a victory for the hotels. Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, acting head of the Regional Labor Board, announced acceptance of the terms by the union.

Two Men Arrested As Chow Kidnapers

KANSAS CITY, March 1.—(AP.)—Police today arrested Sam Benanti, 29, and C. J. Bruett, 34, when the men returned a chow dog to collect a reward of $20.

They denied they had stolen the dog, but Miss Alice Wolfberg, the owner, said Ching vanished Sunday and the next day a man's voice on the telephone asked $10 reward for the dog's return. By Wednesday, Miss Wolfberg said, the demand became $20.

Employes of the Homestead Works of the Carnegie Steel Company have voted for a revision of the company union rules, according to the Employes Association.

The change will allow each department to select its representative for collective bargaining.

SEA MONSTER RARE WHALE

CHERBOURG, France, March 1.—(AP.)—A "sea monster" found on the beach here today was identified by Prof. Corbierre, eminent scholar of natural history, as a rare form of hyperoodon—in plain language, a bottle nosed whale.

Strange, unwhalelike contours of the mammal were found on close inspection to be the result of the wear and tear of rocks as the carcass washed to shore.

Prof. Corbierre expressed belief the "monster" came from the North Sea, as it is not a native of channel regions. Fishermen in this region had never seen anything like it.

WAGNER BILL ASKS COMPANY UNION BAN

Senator Acts to Aid Workers on Bargaining

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP.)—Abolition of company unions, establishment of a permanent national labor board and denial of the right of direct representation to labor minorities were proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, chairman of the National Labor Board.

Wagner described the bill in an accompanying statement as designed "to clarify and fortify" the provisions of Section 7-A of the Recovery Act governing the right of workers to collective bargaining and to provide means of enforcing the section through increased powers for the Labor Board.

CITES OBSTACLES

Wagner said:

"The greatest obstacles to collective bargaining are employer-dominated unions, which have multiplied with amazing rapidity since the enactment of the Recovery Act.

"Such a union makes a sham of equal bargaining power by restricting employe co-operation to a single employer unit at a time when businessmen are allowed to band together in large groups.

"The bill which I am introducing today forbids any employer to foster or participate in or influence any organization which deals with problems that should be covered by a genuine labor union."

The bill would give the Labor Board powers of subpena and investigation and to "prevent violations of the substantive features of the law by restraining orders, enforced through the courts in the same manner as the orders of the Federal Trade Commission."

CLOSED SHOP

The Senator declared his bill does not dictate any policy as to the closed union shop, adding "that is a problem which labor must work out for itself." He said:

"But the new bill does make clear that section 7-A was not intended to ban the closed union shops and that Congress never intended to place employes in a worse position than they were before the Recovery Act was passed.

Wagner described as an "evil" of the Recovery Act its guarantee of the right to organize but not the right to recognition. He added:

"My six months as chairman of the National Labor Board has proved conclusively to me that the second guarantee should be firmly established by Congress. Over 70 per cent of the disputes coming before the labor board have been caused by the refusal of the employers to deal with representatives chosen by their workers."

ALUMINUM CO. WORKERS QUIT IN PAY ROW

30-Hour Week Also Demanded by Union; Pickets Peaceful

In New Kensington several hundred men and women gathered at the main entrance to the aluminumware plant in Tenth street. Chief of Police Dan J. Zeloyle and a squad of nine patrolmen were on hand.

By an arrangement with police, the pickets kept on the move and confined their activities to words and songs. Nobody seeking to enter the plant was molested. Only a handful of employes, in addition to the plant's maintenance men went in, according to reports.

WORKERS PEACEFUL

At the Arnold foil plant, about 2,000 employes joined the holiday. There were no police on hand. Neither was there any trouble.

At the Logans Ferry aluminum powder plant, about 150 men are affected. Harry O. Wolfe, president of the Aluminum Bronze Powder Works Union, Local No. 18,332, said that his committee had tried several times to get an interview with Arthur V. Davis, president of the Aluminum company. They received, instead, Wolfe declared, a letter from Davis' secretary, Donald McDonald, stating he was "sorry" the interview could not be arranged because Davis was in Florida.

Three hundred machinists, members of the International Association of Machinists, Local No. 551, joined the Aluminum workers' holiday, along with 35 engineers, members of the International Operating Engineers, at the New Kensington plant.

Paul Howlett, acting president of the Aluminum workers' union, said a checkoff of union dues was also included in the demands. A minimum wage of $1.06 an hour for men and 85 per cent of that sum for women is being asked. The present rate for men is 40 cents an hour.

CITES FIRM'S STAND

Charging that union membership among its employes is only "a fraction of the total" number of employes of the Aluminum Company, I. W. Wilson, in a statement issued at the Pittsburgh office today, declared:

"Insofar as wage rates are concerned, our company made only two general reductions of 10 per cent during the entire period from 1929 to 1933, and on August 1, 1933, made a general wage increase of 11 per cent. As a result of the provisions of the President's reemployment agreement and subsequent code provisions a great many increases in wages were made following that date and effective as of today further general increases had already been announced."

A. C. Jewett, secretary of the Regional Labor Board, met with Aluminum Company officials today to arrange a conference with representatives of the union, probably tomorrow. Jewett said he was not cognizant with the specific demands of the union, having met with them last night for the first time. Union leaders have appealed to the National Labor Board at Washington, which has turned the matter over to the regional board as a matter of routine.

ILLINOIS PLANTS WORK

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP.)—Plants of the Aluminum Company of America at La Grange and Lemont, Ill., were operating as usual today, officials said, and had not yet been affected by the "holiday" called last night in an employes' meeting in New Kensington, Pa. Representatives of the workers in the two plants had not yet returned from the eastern meeting.

BRANCH UNAFFECTED

ALCOA, Tenn., March 1.—(AP.)—A. D. Huddleston, assistant superintendent of the plant operated here by the Alumnum Company of America, today said that "no workers are on strike at our plant."

He said he had heard of no movement among employes to call a "holiday."

Dern Hits Plan For 4,384 Army Planes as Insane

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP.)—Secretary Dern smacked a "beyond any sane estimate" label today across Congressional plans for a wide expansion of Army aviation.

The War Department and its one-time traditional ally, the House Military Affairs Committee, thereupon broke off friendly relations. The committee promptly prepared a comeback of its own.

BILLS ATTACKED

Dern singled out for attack two bills introduced by Chairman McSwain, one of which would give the Army 4,384 new planes. In a statement to the committee he termed them "one-sided," "partisan," and "even prompted by self-interest." He said:

"The first of these two bills would provide an air force so far beyond any sane estimate of our defensive needs, and so costly, that its passage could be construed by the world only an evidence either of ardent militarism or immediate war."

McSwain forthwith invited the War Secretary to come up and tell his committee about it. He added:

"The committee has several times requested Secretary Dern to appear before it and explain his attitude, but he has never come. We are still ready to have him appear at his convenience."

TO APPLY PRESSURE

McSwain said he would apply all possible pressure to have the House adopt today a resolution to authorize a committee investigation of all Army procurement methods. The committee would hire special investigators.

There was a report at the Capitol today that the military committee room in the House Office Building in which a number of papers were kept had been broken into on several occasions recently.

It was stated unofficially that nothing of value had been removed, and that the matter had been kept secret in hope of catching the intruder.

Meanwhile, a House military sub-committee investigating War Department contracts decided today to call on J. R. McCarl, the comptroller general, to determine whether he had asked Congress to change the law under which the Army has been buying airplanes. If he has not, they want to know why.

ALUMINUM AIDE GAS VICTIM

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., March 1.—(AP.)—John W. Ingram, 47, purchasing agent at the New Kensington plant of the Aluminum Company of America, was found dead in his garage last night, a victim of carbon monoxide gas.

Members of the family said he had gone into the garage to start his automobile in preparation for a trip to Pittsburgh.

A sister, Miss Maibie Ingram, found him, with the car's motor running. Ingram, a former New Kensington Councilman, had been the Aluminum company plant purchasing agent since 1916.

Kin of Hanged Man Hints Police Murder

GADSDEN, Ala., March 1.—(AP.)—Thomas P. Mayo, brother of Fred Mayo, who, allegedly, hanged himself in a Chicago police station cell after admitting a part in the attempted kidnaping of E. P. Adler, today issued a statement declaring he did not believe his brother committed suicide.

The statement also pointed to "certain other unexplained bruises about his face and body," and said the family believed Fred Mayo was "forced into a confession" of his part in the plot.

PWA Submits Plans For Juvenile Court

The state Public Works Administration has forwarded to Washington for approval the plans for the proposed $350,000 Allegheny County Juvenile Detention Home and building, over which the County Commissioners and new Juvenile Court officials have been in controversy, it was learned today in Harrisburg.

Goldwyn Assails Bill Banning Foreign Talent

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP.)—Sam Goldwyn, the motion picture producer, said today that if Congress passes the Dickstein bill "Hollywood will be half empty," he declared:

"Actors will be at the Senate door asking for doles."

The bill was approved by a House committee yesterday.

Goldwyn assailed the bill which would restrict the entry of foreign theatrical talent, as "destructive." He raised the question:

"What harm has Maurice Chevalier done in this country? The interchange of talent between countries gives new life, injects new blood.

"Norma Shearer is as great in England as Ronald Colman is here. What kick has America got coming?"

Goldwyn added that "every other country is trying to help the motion picture industry, but this country figures up ways and means of hurting it."

He commented that the Dickstein bill would leave it up to the government to decide what foreign actors should come in. He inquired:

"Since when has the Labor Department, or a Senate committee, been able to decide about talent?

"Personalities are rare. They are like diamonds. You have to take them where you find them. They aren't dealing with bricklayers."

Goldwyn declared that producers are making every effort to find great American talent. But the Dickstein bill, he said, "would curtail rather than create jobs for Americans." He added:

"For example, my employment of Anna Sten gave jobs to thousands. I wasn't paying Anna Sten—I was paying the people in Hollywood."

Feed Dog Right, Man Asks Kidnapers

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP.)—Louis Rudginsky wants the kidnapers of his prize dog, Timmie, to know that Timmie is sick and needs a special diet.

Raw meat, raw eggs and milk once a day—that's Timmie's diet—and Rudginsky hopes the kidnapers will have a heart and feed him right.

Rudginsky, Boston tire merchant, today canceled plans to leave for home. He hoped to contact the kidnapers.

The kidnapers, in two telephone calls, demanded $500, but now apparently are afraid to come out of hiding. Rudginsky said wistfully:

"I'm ready to do business with them."

The Boston bull terrier, listed in pedigree books as "Kid Boot's Ace," disappeared Monday night after collecting the honors in three recent shows. His owner said.

DEBRIS YIELDS FOREST ARMY YOUTH'S BODY

Rider Still Missing; One Victim Remains Unidentified

The death toll of the Pennsylvania Railroad wreck on the North Side Monday night mounted to 10 early today, when a wrecking crew dragged out the body of a young Civilian Conservation Corps worker from under a pile of debris.

Believing another body may remain in the midst of the wreckage, Coroner W. J. McGregor today ordered railroad officials to proceed carefully in removing the remaining debris. McGregor said a Samuel Moore, address unknown, reported among the injured after the accident, had not been located and may be buried in the wreckage.

Coincidental with the finding of the body of the CCC youth was an announcement that a public hearing would be held Monday to probe the causes of the derailment.

The announcement was made by representatives of the interstate Commerce Commission, who, with Public Service Commission agents, are conducting a dual probe.

From a tag bearing the number, "373," deputy coroners established the identification of the youth as James R. Glover, 21, of Industry, who has been missing since the crash. His clothes were found in the wreckage yesterday. His body was mangled beyond recognition.

FOUND UNDER DEBRIS

The body was found in Merchant street under masonry that had been knocked down by the locomotive.

A search was instituted for Glover when it was learned he had boarded the train at Rochester on a return trip to Wolf Rock camp of the CCC, near Philipsburg. A check on the passenger list revealed that someone on the ill-fated train had boarded it for Philipsburg.

Only one of the wreck victims remained unidentified today. Railroad police reported to the Morgue they believed she is a resident of Cavenna, O., and have applied to the District Attorney's office for permission for an inmate of the Allegheny County workhouse to view the body for possible identification. The prisoner is John Hopkins, believed to be a cousin.

PROBE CONTINUES

That speed was the apparent cause of the fatal plunge is indicated in the revelation of investigators that so far they have found nothing wrong with the equipment.

State and federal investigators have indicated their belief that the switch was not to blame for the derailment. It appears from a study of the tracks that the derailment occurred before the locomotive reached the switch.

Neither Guy Johnson, representing the Public Service Commission, nor the three federal investigators, Robert Tonkin, H. D. Lyon and H. E. Nason, would comment on their findings today. They will be here for at least two weeks, the investigators said, studying every angle of the wreck and its probable cause before making final reports to Harrisburg and Washington.

MRS. WARDROP RITES TODAY

Cousins of Mrs. W. M. Wardrop, killed in the Pennsylvania Railroad train wreck here Monday, were to be pallbearers at her funeral this afternoon from the residence of Robert Wardrop, 605 Academy avenue, Sewickley.

Meanwhile, chance delay was blamed for her tragic death.

Mrs. Wardrop had planned to go to Wilmington, Del., Sunday night, but the son of a cousin, Mrs. S. N. Whitworth, was ill in Washington, Pa.

Mrs. Wardrop's concern over the illness caused her to remain there Sunday night. She was on her way from her Sewickley home to Wilmington when she was killed.

The pallbearers are John H. and Alvin E. Donnan, S. N. Whitworth, John L. Stewart and Richard G. Miller, all of Washington, Albert Osbourne, of Crafton. Interment will be at New Castle.

DORIS KENYON WINS DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(AP.)—How and why Doris Kenyon, movie and stage actress, and Arthur Hopkins, wealthy Syracuse (N. Y.) real estate man, separated 54 days after their marriage, was told yesterday in Superior Court where they were divorced.

Mrs. Mabel Haanel, the actress' sister, testified Hopkins told her:

"I not only think Doris made a mistake, but I made a mistake also—she likes to go to bed at 9 o'clock and I like to stay up, and we don't seem to get along."

Miss Kenyon said he swore at her, called her names, wanted to stay up late at night, go out to night clubs and created scenes when she talked to other men.

The actress, widow of the late Milton Sills, of the movies, and Hopkins, her former childhood schoolmate, were married at her Brentwood home near here last June 14. Miss Kenyon said Hopkins left her August 7.

Weather Conditions.

Two highs, the one over the Middle Atlantic states (Philadelphia, 30.76), and the other over the plateau (Winnemucca, Nev., 30.32), are separated by a trough of low pressure, extending from Saskatchewan southward over the western plains to the west gulf, with centers over Saskatchewan (Prince Albert, 29.62), and Southern Texas (San Antonio, 29.90). Weather is mostly cloudy this morning in the central valleys and plains states, and temperatures are now approaching the normal, except in the Middle Atlantic states, where it is still moderately cold. Moderate to heavy rains have occurred in Texas, and light rains in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma, and snows or rains in the Northern Rocky Mountains and on the North Pacific coast.

River Conditions.

There has been no change in the snow and ice conditions in Pittsburgh since yesterday morning. Temperatures were near zero again last night over the entire district.

Lindbergh Baby Slain 2 Years; Hunt Goes On

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Today is the second anniversary of America's most flagrant, memorable and puzzling crime—the kidnaping and subsequent murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Despite social, political and economic upheaval, the nation is as keenly interested in its potential solution as when the horror of it vibrated through the world.

'TIPS' STILL POUR IN

Said Col. Norman Schwarzkopf, commander of the New Jersey State Police, within whose province the kidnaping occurred:

"We are still working on it."

Federal authorities and New York police said the same thing.

Ten thousand detectives throughout the United States and a million, at least, amateur detectives, are alert for a clue to the puzzling case. Hundreds of "tips" continue to pour into local and federal authorities.

The ill-fated Lindbergh home in Hopewell is vacated and unlighted but still the souvernir hunters and the curious continue to putter about the vicinity.

Book by Lindy's Father, Once Suppressed, Released

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—(AP.)—The late Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., Minnesota congressman and father of the famous flier, speaks today through a book which was suppressed by the government during the World War.

Entitled "Your Country at War," the elder Lindbergh's work is described by the publishers who brought it out today as prophetic. In its attacks on war-time hysteria, profiteers, bankers and giant monopolies, the volume makes predictions and recommendations which have materialized in the years since the representative's death in 1924.

JEWEL THIEVES PERIL WOMAN

The story of how two yeggs smashed a window and pilfered the display of a Wilkinsburg jeweler was being told today by Miss Hazel Stark, Box 245, R. D. Wilkinsburg, who witnessed the affair—under the muzzle of the gun of one of the thieves.

She was on the way home from church last night when she saw two men jump out of a coupe in front of the Mur Jewelry Company store at 810 Wood street. When one of the men made a swinging motion with a gun toward the window, Miss Stark said she warned him:

"Don't break that window; you'll get arrested."

The window crashed, and the thief said to Miss Stark:

"You stand still. One move and I'll shoot you."

The license plates on the thieves' auto, police said, were stolen from George H. Brumbaugh, of 503 North Sheridan avenue.

PROBE 'FRAMED' HOLDUP DEATH

An inquest into the killing February 14 of John Cotton, 19, in an allegedly "framed" holdup at a barbecue in West Deer Township, will be held tomorrow. County Detective Frank Ritz said today that Constables Irvey Asay and Frank Brozek, accused of murder with State Troopers Harry Stinnett and Charles Mullen, will testify for the state.

Milton Eckler, 20, of Culmerville, wounded in the shooting, has been held in jail on a District Attorney's detainer pending the inquest.

Restaurant Window Broken With Brick

A brick was thrown through the window of the restaurant of Serafine DeSimono, 434 Fourth avenue, early today, according to police. Nothing was reported stolen.

STROHEIMS SUE OVER BURNS

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(AP.)—Heavily veiled, Mrs. Valerie von Stroheim sat beside her husband, Eric von Stroheim, noted film director, in court today at the trial of her $275,000 damage suit brought as the result of burns she suffered in a beauty shop.

The suit was brought against James Simoniello, proprietor of the shop, and Mrs. Betty Schweitzer, an operator. Mrs. Von Stroheim charged that on September 2 when she was having her hair treated the fluid used exploded, enveloping her in flames and burning her face.

Simoniello and Mrs. Schweitzer denied negligence and placed the blame on the asserted faulty manufacturing of the hair lotion. Simoniello has pending a $150,000 damage suit against the manufacturing and distributing concerns.

PUPIL ACCUSES TWO TEACHERS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 1.—Two women teachers accused of beating a boy pupil in the Shenango Consolidated School will be arraigned tonight before an alderman on aggravated assault and battery charges.

The instructors remained in their classrooms, pending the hearing, having been released under $300 bond each.

The information was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gardner, parents of Francis Gardner, 12, a fifth grade pupil, against Miss Virginia West and Miss Rose Martin, teachers in the Shenango Township School.

The parents charged Miss West whipped the boy while Miss Martin guarded the door of a room in which the boy was held. The information was filed before Alderman James Brice, of New Castle, before whom the hearing will be held.

LIQUOR FLOWS IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP.)—Police dashed through the capital like modern Paul Reveres early today to spread word of "legal liquor" after 14 years of prohibition.

Citizens by thousands cheered as police cars, sirens open, rushed to deliver retail liquor permits to 200 clubs, restaurants, hotels and night clubs. The dash started on the dot of midnight.

Just as Washington was at least allegedly dried up by the Sheppard Act long before national prohibition, so it was late in returning lawfully wet.

In the crowds at the nightspots were many of the personages who are nationally recognized by day. But the imbibers were orderly, and by local law the supply was shut off at 2 a. m.

Others waited for their first legal sips until 1,000 licensed retail establishments opened at 9 a. m. for sale by the drink.

The National Press Club, whose license was No. 1, claimed to have popped the first proper cork.

Lighthouse Keeper Trapped by Ice Floes

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP.)—Imprisoned by ice floes since February 9 and his food supply gone, Charles A. Rogers, 44, keeper of the Stepping Stone Light at the entrance of Long Island Sound, ran up a signal of distress today.

Supplies will soon be on the way, as his signal was answered by the tug Mexpet and the information passed on to the lighthouse service.

PASTOR ASKS GUARDS

International News Service.

BOSTON, March 1.—Fearing that his 19-year-old daughter, Norma, was to be "put on the spot" by two men cruising around his Natick cottage home in an automobile without lights, the Rev. Norman Brighton today called on police and guards were posted.

The ex-minister said he feared reprisal for the part Norma had played in the case of her husband, Merton Millen, the latter's young brother, Irving, and Abraham M. Faber, the trio indicted at Dedham for the Needham Bank holdup and double murder.

Police reported they had found clues to link the Millen brothers and Faber with no less than four murders and 30 holdups.

OLD BALM SUIT LOSES HERE

Mrs. Vada Enterline Nelson, of Seward, Neb., who filed a breach of promise suit in 1918 against John Leathery, 505 Union avenue, won a verdict of $5,000 in 1921, resulting in a new trial being granted, lost her suit yesterday. Judge Elder W. Marshall heard the case, the jury finding for the defendant.

Mrs. Nelson, who brought the original action as Vada Enterline, married in 1926 and claimed $10,000 damages for the loss of Leathery's affections. She averred he first met her in 1915, began paying marked attention in 1916, promised to marry her, but in 1918 refused to have anything to do with her. He alleged that he settled his troubles with her for $250.

After the first trial, the case was reviewed by a board of arbitrators, who awarded the plaintiff $1,250. The court on March 2, 1922, ruled that unless she accept $1,000, a new trial would be granted, and the case went before Judge Marshall Tuesday. Numerous letters were offered in evidence, some of which Peter M. Cancelliere, representing the defendant, refused to read to the jury because of their nature.

The late Rody P. Marshall was Mrs. Nelson's original counsel in the case. The jury was out less than one hour.

DR. WYNEKOOP CALLED TO TESTIFY

Aged Doctor Anxious To Take Stand in Own Defense

CHICAGO, March 1.—(AP.)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, a slight figure almost entirely enrobed in black, came to court today ready to take the stand and deny that she killed her daughter-in-law, the 23-year-old Rheta Gardner Wynekoop.

Milton Smith, defense attorney, said she would be put on the stand today.

Several additional character witnesses testified today and the 63-year-old defendant will probably be called late this afternoon.

The possibility that the accused would make her appearance in the witness box brought out hordes of court fans. The 250 seats in the courtroom were filled almost immediately upon opening of the doors. Said Dr. Wynekoop:

"I feel awfully weak and exhausted, but I am anxious to have the opportunity to tell my side.

"I am ready. I must go ahead and prove my innocence. There cannot be a question of physical ability."

Clipping out her words with emphasis, Dr. Wynekoop thus expressed her determination to "see the trial through," despite a court session yesterday that left her weak—and for a time in tears.

The tears came during a recess after her eldest son, Walker, had testified that he had waited for eight hours outside a police station door while the police subjected his mother to indignities before they got her to sign a statement of accidentally killing Rheta as she lay on an operating table in the doctor's basement surgery.

Dr. Wynekoop cried:

"Oh, it's been terrible. I never realized until now what a terrible night poor Walker had. How he stood it is more than I can understand."

Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty soughtt o show that Dr. Wynekoop was surrounded by her friends when she was questioned.

Earle, husband of the salin Rheta, who has not attended sessions of either hearing, was in Kansas City, Walker asserted in answer to a question by Dougherty.

VET BILL FACES NEW REVISION

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The independent officers supply bill, which carries the drastic revision of the Veterans Economy Act and federal pay cut restoration, was returned to the House Appropriations Committee today by Speaker Rainey.

Leaders on the committee said that an effort would be made to frame new provisions affecting veterans and government employes, which will be satisfactory to the President, and thus avert the threatened veto of the bill.

Speaker Rainey departed from the practice the House has followed for years of sending similar bills to conference with the Senate. His action deprived backers of the $350 million dollar liberalization program of the Senate of a chance to demand acceptance of the program on the floor.

Factor Kidnaping Suspect's Trial Set

CHICAGO, March 1.—(INS.)—Basil (The Owl) Banghart today was scheduled to go on trial before Judge Walter P. Steffen March 7 for the $70,000 ransom abduction of John (Jake the Barber) Factor.

Judge Michael Feinberg, who sentenced Roger Touhy and two other members of his gang to 99 years in prison last week for the Factor kidnaping, granted Banghart's request for a change of venue.

Police Revive Gas Fumes Victim

Jazz, Crooning, Irony Mark New Opera

NEW YORK, March 1.—Tin Pan Alley has been inserted into the operatic world by George Antheil.

The feat was accomplished at the world premiere last night of "Helen Retires," the opera upon which John Erskine and Antheil collaborated. It was the third new American opera to reach New York in the month, the others being "Merry Mount" and "Four Saints in Three Acts."

The newcomer deals with Helen of Troy, but not with one of the legends familiar to schoolboys. Erskine has taken Helen for a ride; he has made up an ironic yarn about her activities after the funeral of Menelaos.

Antheil, whose music in the past has been somewhat unpredictable, and generally cacophanous, fooled everybody by flavoring his new opera with just plain jazz. Helen sings what might be called the first cousin of a torch song, and Paris croons to Helen.

Staging was more than modern—almost unique at times. Frederick Kiesler, who was responsible, achieved most of his effects with light.

The chorus was used in a vaguely Greek manner, seated on each side of the proscenium, and dressed in flowing purple robes and curious white masks.

Occasionally the principals drop into parlando, with one especially long exchange between Helen and Eteoneus which is accompanied by nothing but one flute.

MAJOR CHARLES HUGH TEBAY, FAMOUS STYLE AUTHORITY

This well-known Soldier, Sportsman, Traveler—seven years with the great London tailoring house of Burberry, Ltd.—now styles Fintex Clothes for Spring!

AT ARTIST'S BOARD—Major Tebay discusses placing of pockets, slant of lapels, with one of the artists in Fintex Studios. In each detail, your Fintex Suit for Spring will reflect the Major's intense personal interest and style knowledge.

We know that we are lucky to have induced the Major to style Fintex Clothes.

We know that men who choose these new Spring styles will count themselves lucky, too!

For your friends will admire what your own eyes and our mirrors show you; that unmistakable "London look" from lapels to trousers hem; superb care in the tailoring; a fine frank quality to the woolens that lifts Fintex out of the common run of Suits and Topcoats!

There's one detail that the mirrors won't show, and your friends won't guess—the modest prices that buy you all this good Fintex style.

Remember that we save you money because we make Fintex Clothes in our own fine tailoring plants. We sell them direct to you in our own stores.

Come see the new lines personally styled by the Major. Come today! Both Pittsburgh stores listed below have a full assortment of correct styles.

EXAMINING NEW MATERIALS—Fintex styles start with the fabric! Major Tebay's service for Fintex takes in selection of correct weaves, colors, patterns. You can wear your new Fintex Clothes with full reliance on their "London look"—in fabrics, as well as in style and tailoring details.

SUITS AND TOPCOATS

MADE-TO-YOUR MEASURE

You know what's happened to clothing tailoring costs. Woolens, too, have made new advances. In times like these a sale of made-to-measure clothing at 34.50 is FRONT PAGE NEWS.

Every pattern (there are nearly 200) is all-wool and correct for Spring. You select the fabric and pattern, our skilled tailors will take your measurements, and one of the finest makers in the East will tailor your garment just as you want it. Extra features cost you nothing more. Your size makes no difference. 34.50 covers everything. 2-week delivery.

We bought these shirts last October. Manufacturing costs had gone up then, but not near the high levels they've reached now. The 1.35 price tag is no indication of their actual worth today. This price is based on making costs of last Fall.

The fabrics are all high-count broadcloths; the whites a little finer count than the patterns. The good cotton yarn from which they were woven assures good wear, good tubbing, and good appearance. The broadcloths are pre-shrunk, but may shrink a trifle in the first washing. We had them cut extra full to allow for that. Every shirt is a woven fabric, not a print in the lot.

Take our advice and stock up tomorrow.

PU-YI ASCENDS THRONE; RITES COST MILLION

HSINKING (Changchun), Manchukuo, March 1.—(AP.)—A new dynasty was born today under the protecting guns of more than 50,000 soldiers when Henry Pu-Yi became Kang Teh, emperor of The Great Manchu Empire."

A bulletproof limousine, made in America, carried him to and from the imperial palace. Barbed wire stockades kept back the throngs. Everywhere were the soldiers—Manchukuoan and Japanese.

FORM HUMAN WALL

They formed human walls along the five-mile route from the palace to the "Altar of Heaven." For every three Manchukuoan soldiers there was one Japanese trooper in the lines.

It was bitter cold—below zero. At the "Altar of Heaven" the small handful of foreigners—mostly newspapermen, including several Americans—stood in the required evening dress and without hats, literally freezing as they were forced to stand for almost two hours on the bare earth at the altar.

MILLION-DOLLAR RITES

Thus, in rites costing the government a million gold dollars to finance, a new empire was created in the ancient domain of the Manchus, with the last of the Manchu emperors of China on the throne.

Henceforth, the Japanese-protected Manchurian empire will be known as "Ta Manchu Ti Kuo"—the "Great Manchu Empire."

The 28-year-old emperor, formerly plain "Mr. Pu-Yi," as chief executive of the Japanese-advised state, was given the name "Kang Teh," meaning tranquility and virtue.

"MYSTERY QUEEN55 THERE

The American spectators agreed that there were only three picturesque characters in the spectacle—the frail and impassive Kang Teh in his quaint Manchu ceremonials, the pink sacrificial bull at the "Altar of Heaven," and a little woman who is rarely seen and about whom nothing can be ascertained—the wistful invalid Empress Elizabeth — the Empress Yueh Hua.

She remained in seclusion in the palace during the "Altar of Heaven" ceremony, but made a dramatic and unexpected appearance before the group which gathered in the plaace.

She appeared pale and fragile, to receive a group of Manchus and Mongolians bearing gifts. Her emergence from her convent-like seclusion caused a mild sensation.

HARDWARE MEN TO END MEET

Co-operation of consumer, industry and labor are necessary for continued improvements and the depression is over, A. W. Robertson told the Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Association convention here today.

Robertson, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, pointed out that social as well as economic plans were involved in the "new deal." He contended that very few persons have resisted the recovery program.

The utility firms' responsibility in aiding hardware dealers merchandise electric appliances was discussed by P. H. Powers, vice president in charge of sales, West Penn Power Company.

The annual ball will be held tonight preceding close of the convention with a business session tomorrow in the Hotel William Penn.

might have added, but did not, that Heaven had got its orders—in the matter—from Japan.

GOLD CONTINUES to pour in. The Berengaria left France with $7,500,000 of it yesterday, on its way to the New York Federal Reserve Bank. Hundreds of millions of gold have been coming in.

We said this country did not need gold, and we were "off" it. But the world insists on sending it. Queer world. American green money for which it exchanges its gold must be good money.

UP TO January 1, government paid farmers as a bonus, not for greater efficiency, but for cutting down their crops, a total of $224,954,301 "processing taxes," plus "import and compensating taxes," expected to make up for the government's expenditure, but those sources failed to produce the necessary amount by more than $122,000,000.

You don't criticize, always hoping for the best, but you do wonder why a government that can afford $224,954,301 for farmers, cannot somehow or other, pay the veterans compelled to forfeit their chance at the war's high wages, short hours, and big profits.

Rifle Shots Endanger Baby Asleep in Crib

County detectives today were searching for an unidentified person who fired five rifle shots yesterday in the living room of the home of Thomas Holmes, 43 Wilson road, Reserve Township.

One of the missiles barely missed an 18-month-old child asleep in its crib, the detectives said. Holmes said he has no known enemies.

Youth Dies in Fire After Saving Family

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 1.—After calling a warning to three sisters and a brother asleep upstairs, enabling them to leap to safety, Frank Flaherty, 25, was suffocated in the kitchen of their home here early today. Blinded by the smoke and flame he chose the wrong way to escape. His body was found in a clothes closet he had mistaken for the rear door.

Midgets Protest Children on Stage

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP.)—"Major" James D. Doyle, four-foot leader of New York's theater midgets, thinks producers ought to use midgets for children's parts on the stage to relieve unemployment and abolish child labor.

He wrote Mayor F. H. LaGuardia today protesting against permits issued by the Child Welfare Board for the employment of children in several current plays.

Policeman's Slayer Doomed to Chair

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—(AP.)—Death in the electric chair is decreed for William Joseph Deni, convicted as the slayer of a Philadelphia policeman.

Actor Suspended By Equity Society

NEW YORK, March 1.—(INS.)—Gavin Muir, actor, has been suspended indefinitely by the Actors' Equity Association, it was learned yesterday, on a charge that he held up the performance of "Dangerous Corner" the last of its engagement in Washington January 27.

Wee and Leventhal, producers of the play, charged that Muir refused to go on until he was paid $200 and that they were compelled to refund $75 to patrons.

AUTHORS RAP CENSORSHIP AT COLLEGE

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Theodore Dreiser loosed a bellow and a snort, John Erskine framed an epigrammatic sneer, and Mark Van Doren placed a neat thrust when, as leading authors and critics, they variously viewed the Midwest exhibit of literary censorship today.

Dreiser's bellow came from the bottom of his capacious frame, when he commented on new censorship at Teacher's College, of Columbia University, where the librarian, Miss Eleanor Whitmer, has begun to protect students there from Erskine Caldwell and his raw slices of Southern life.

Miss Whitmer recently removed Caldwell's books, "God's Little Acre" and "Tobacco Road," from circulation. They are "indecent and tending to corrupt," she held. John Erskine, novelist, pianist, critic and now head of the Juillard School of Music, said:

"Some people think Caldwell's writing gives too frank a picture of life. Anybody who is decadent, to be protected from it would hardly be worth the protecting."

Dreiser's booming remark was simply:

"Asinine. Everybody knows censorship is asinine."

Mark Van Doren, present lecturer on American literature at Columbia College, said:

"Books are never harmful. I always want to ask a censor, 'Did the book corrupt you?' I have never had an answer in the affirmative to that question and I never expect to have."

Mae West Takes Ranch to Hear Birdies Sing

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—(AP.)—Mae West's familiar invitation has been changed to "come out 'n see me sometime."

Disclosing the purchase of a six-acre orange ranch near Van Nuys, the movie actress said she was going out "to see how it is to wake up and hear a bird singing for a change, instead of listening to taxis and trucks and milkmen."

The ranch has a 10-room residence and two guest houses.

P.R.R. SHOPMEN ASK PAY BOOST

Requests for a general 10 per cent increase in wages and reinstatement of the 10 per cent deduction in force since last November for shop employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad went out to general managers of five divisions from the office of the Railroad Shopcrafts here today.

Action on the wage scale proposal was taken at a meeting of representatives of 35,000 railroad employes in Cincinnati yesterday.

L. M. Graham, of Pittsburgh, general chairman of the Shopcrafts for the entire Pennsylvania system, announced today his committee would meet next Wednesday in Philadelphia with representatives of the railroad management for a regional conference to discuss a new wage scale. The railroad served notice on the Shopcrafts last month of its intention to reduce wages 15 per cent. An agreement to deduct 10 per cent from each employe's pay check has been in force since last November 1. This contract expires June 30.

HEIRESS WON'T WED COUNT

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—(AP.)—Merry Fahrney Pickering Van Eiszner has forsaken the idea of marrying Count Giorgio.

When her marriage to Frank Van Eiszner is annulled she will seek a film career, the 23-year-old heiress to the Fahrney patent medicine fortune said yesterday. Immigration authorities once put Giorgio on a fruit boat and sent him to South America.

The heiress said:

"Although I am fond of Giorgio, I shall never marry him now. My family objects so strenuously to it and he can't come back to this country."

DISCUSS AIR CONDITIONING

Air conditioning dealers from 50 large eastern cities will hear Thomas A. POLISH-GERMAN TREATY BLOW TO FRENCH

Warsaw Loosens Ties Binding It To Paris

The man was an official of the Polish foreign office. He was going home from duty. That night Warsaw was practicing defense against an air attack. That night the Polish foreign office read its messages by candle-light. And that night, when every electric light in Warsaw had been quenched to blind the enemy, the Polish foreign office had received from Berlin the most important message ever to come from Germany to Warsaw since the war.

Behind drawn curtains, with windows sealed by strips of mucilaged paper, the Polish foreign office read that Ambassador Josef Lipsky in Berlin had talked with Adolf Hitler and that Hitler and Lipsky had agreed that "Germany and Poland renounce any use of force in their mutual relations."

PROMISE OF PEACE

The drawn curtains were to keep the candle-light from showing Warsaw to enemy fliers. The paper strips glued on the windows were to keep out enemy gas. The presumptive enemy was Germany. But the message they read said that Germany and Poland had promised not to fight.

This simple declaration was never properly evaluated outside the continent of Europe. Only Europe knows what a sensation it was. It was the first time Germany and Poland had exchanged reassuring words since Poland became a nation. Every living German has sworn at one time or another that he would give his life to recover the Corridor from Poland. Every living Pole has sworn he would give his life to keep the Corridor from Germany. The German-Polish war was the one war of the future called "inevitable."

Now, suddenly, they both declare they will not fight over anything, and today they have put their promises on paper and signed it. They call it a non-aggression pact, to run for 10 years.

What does this promise mean? That is the question that is agitating France today when she looks over her system of alliances and then looks at a Germany that may in a few years be far more powerful than France alone. France knows that her security since the war has been based on three forces: Her gold, her guns and her treaties. Her treaties made a chain around Germany. Besides France herself, the strongest link in the chain was Poland. The Polish-French military treaty promises unqualified mutual help for defense.

MENACED BY GERMANY

This treaty was possible because both Poland and France felt themselves equally menaced by Germany. New Poland, with a secrecy of negotiation that strongly disturbed the French, has promised not to fight Germany. The French, genuinely alarmed, are asking, "Would Poland now come to the aid of France if Germany were to attack France?" The answer all depends on how much faith Poland has in Germany's promise not to attack Poland.

Josef Beck, colonel of the Polish army, is foreign minister of Poland. He above all men could tell what Poland thinks of Hitler's promises. I saw him before the formal pact was announced. Col. Beck lives in the palace of an ancient Polish nobleman in the heart of Warsaw. The approach is through a line of trees glittering with frost. The cold ended at the entrance to the old-fashioned drawing room, but Col. Beck, doffing his overcoat, called for sherry. It came, in a bottle dusty with the fine gray dust of a century.

"So you are investigating the next war. A pre-war correspondent! I hope if you have a son and he becomes a correspondent he will still be a pre-war correspondent!"

The colonel is tall, dark, with marked strong features. His air is "no nonsense!" A soldier first; a diplomat second. His sentences are hard, polished. He, as every Pole, regards his country as a great power. France has been inclined to doubt it. No Pole likes that.

TREATIES EXPLAINED

"It is very significant," he declared, "that in France you can find no indication, not a shadow of a tendency towards an aggressive foreign policy. Therefore anything that Poland may do to settle its affairs with Germany can only correspond with the French policy. Our treaties with France have no aggressive character. It follows logically that any result that might come of the German-Polish negotiations could have no influence on the Polish-French treaties."

So much for the formal statement. Behind it is the fact that the French general staff did discuss the wisdom of making a preventive war against Germany early in 1933. Poland, it was reported, might have been willing to help, could have seized East Prussia, Danzig and so on. But France did not march. The preventive war was off for the time being. Should Poland, feeling herself also a great power, merely wait for France perhaps to change her mind? Poland's answer was "No."

Her first chance to move from under the French wing came when Germany left the League. Ever since the war the League has mediated between Poland and Germany. Now the mediator was gone, Poland approached Germany directly, asked for a talk. The talks went on without France. Now comes the pact, and French anxiety is deep.

For the pact means that 50 per cent of the chances for a preventive war against Germany are gone. If it had still been a remote possibility, it is now twice as remote. This is obviously why Germany wanted the pact now.

WORKS OWN PROBLEMS

The colonel went on somewhat ironically:

"Since Poland cannot reorganize the world, it is necessary for us to go ahead a step at a time with our problems. In thus working for Poland we are working just as truly for the peace of the continent."

He evidently resents the fact that Poland was criticized so long for being at bayonet points with Germany and should now be criticized for making friends with her. "Every Polish foreign minister," he exclaimed, "has had to labor under the burden of the false tradition that Poland is the center of European trouble, that the existence of Poland makes peace difficult on the continent. This is absolutely untrue.

"It was considered impossible that Poland and Russia should ever get together; that Poland and Danzig could ever get together, that Poland and Germany could even talk together. Now you see what has happened: A Polish-Russian non-aggression pact; agreements with Danzig, and the Polish-German declarations. I venture to say the affairs of Eastern Europe are now in better order than they are anywhere else on the continent."

Four years ago Poland was like a nut between the jaws of a huge nutcracker. On the one side was vast Russia, bitterly hostile; on the other the potentially greatest military power of the continent, Germany, violently threatening. Today Poland has non-aggression pacts with both.

Her peace with Germany may be a separate peace, a betrayal, from the point of view of the French. Germany has gained the assurance that she has nothing to fear from Poland while the German army grows to full strength. But peace is peace and even a separate peace between Germany and Poland means one less chance of war in the immediate future.

AUSTRIAN NAZIS EXTEND TIME

International News Service

VIENNA, March 1.—The Nazi party of Austria today announced it had granted Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss a one-week extension of the "ultimatum" delivered by Theodor Habicht, Germany's inspector-general of Austrian Nazis.

The "ultimatum," threatening Dollfuss with "drastic action" against him unless he came to terms with the Nazis before its expiration, formally expired at noon yesterday. As extended, it will be in effect until noon of March 6.

Inhabitants of Vienna were thrown into frenzied panic in the vicinity of the suburb of Florisdorf today when a loud outburst of rifle and machine-gun fire was heard over a large area.

The Heimwehr explained there was no rioting, and that the firing was only that of Heimwehr detachments at practice.

Extension of the Habicht "ultimatum" explained the peace which greeted the scheduled expiration yesterday. Although there was an outburst of Nazi propaganda, no violence occurred.

War-Time Grenade Kills 4 Schoolboys

WARSAW, Poland, March 1.—(AP.)—A heavy war-time grenade exploded in the arms of a railway assistant today, tore him to pieces and killed four schoolboys. Nine children were badly injured.

The railroad man had found the grenade in a pond and it blew up while he was removing it, with the children interested onlookers.

Maj. Gen. Markham To Be Honored Here

Maj. Gen. E. M. Markham, chief of the United States Army Engineers, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the fifth annual banquet of the Propeller Club, A. J. P. Vandermyn, president, announced today. The event is scheduled for the William Penn Hotel, March 15.

AIMEE AND DAVE SPEED DIVORCE

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Default divorce proceedings in the case of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, evangelist, and her rotund husband, David Hutton, Jr., choir leader, who turned torch singer, were scheduled for hearing in Superior Court here late today.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Hutton filed stipulations showing that the evangelist would allow him his freedom without opposition, and that Hutton would not object to her being granted the use of her former name, Aimee Semple McPherson.

It further was stipulated that Mrs. Hutton, now in Columbia, S. C., would offer no proof to support her cross-complaint in the case.

Hutton's attorney explained that Hutton was eager to dispose of the proceedings as soon as possible in order to leave Los Angeles to continue his theatrical work.

M'NAIR, POLICE HEAD CLASH ON SHAKEUP

ised him, the Mayor said—to let is Public Safety Director have ull authority.

Superintendent Marshall mentioned no names as he took the Democratic powers to task and said he was going to have a voice n his department if he is to remain as superintendent.

TALKED OF FARM DAYS"

He expressed the belief after the onference with McNair, however, hat he stood better with the administration than he had before.

McNair, before disclosing that Director Smith had full charge of the police, had this to say of Marshall's visit to his office:

"We had a very pleasant little talk. I did most of the talking. I was interested in the explanation of my gubernatorial platform. Superintendent Marshall talked about the days he spent on the farm."

Nervous and angry as he returned to his office, Marshall plainly wasn't interested in the Mayor's candidacy for governor, nor was he thinking of "the days he spent on the farm." He said:

"As long as I am superintendent, I am going to have some say in the conduct of this office. They started something; now watch my smoke. I'm going to sit tight for a few days, and if things go on as they have been, I'm going to blow the lid off."

Director Smith said neither the Mayor nor Marshall had complained to him regarding the shakeup in the police department yesterday. He said he would take the responsibility if any mistakes were made.

WILL NOT QUIT

Marshall said he would not quit, and added:

"Last night I told them to fire me. I never quit. I told them if I was to go I was to be fired last night and not today or any other time."

Fire Chief Smith assailed the appointment of John Heinz, a hoseman, as his successor and said Mayor McNair was permitting the Fire Bureau to fall into politics, against which he had fought successfully for years. He added:

"The best interests of the city as well as the Fire Bureau have been sacrificed to pay off a political debt. In the appointment of my successor, politics came first and efficiency and morale of the department were given little thought."

Smith described Heinz, defeated Democratic candidate for Sheriff, as "just a politician." He said:

"For 10 years as president of the Firemen's Union, he has devoted practically all of his time to playing politics, and when such a man is placed at the head of the Fire Bureau, the morale of the men is bound to be lowered."

TERMED INCOMPETENT

Deputy Fire Chief Frank G. Jones also retired on pension after 37 years in the department. Smith had 33 years of service and for two years headed the International Association of Fire Chiefs. Jones said:

"I could not conscientiously continue in my present position and serve under a chief who knows less than I. The successor to Chief Smith is incompetent to run the department, and it is for this reason I resign and go out with Chief Smith."

Meanwhile, Heinz announced that he would review the files of the fire department. He promised a shakeup of his department the first of the week and said that he will dismiss firemen too old for active duty.

Capt. Howard Forner was demoted to a patrolman to make way for Boyd as detective captain.

24 GO TO BEATS

Detectives dismissed include Walter Monaghan, Walter Clark, Albert F. Barry, Edward J. Muldowney, John J. Daschbach, Joseph B. Hanna, John G. Briskey, Charles J. Waizenhofer, Sigmund J. Gorskey, Maurice A. Kennelly, John E. Barrett, Joseph Jackson, Louis Monace, Joseph Foster, Clarence Raeder, Joseph Linden, George W. Owens, Frederick Gray, Alexander Stewart and Robert Best.

Among these, Linden and Monaghan are considered by their fellow sleuths to be two of the best detectives in the bureau.

Monaghan, it was said, has made more arrests in the last year than ever has been made by any detective in the history of the force and was instrumental in breaking up many of the city's criminal gangs.

KERR SIFTS RADIO GIFT TO POLICEMAN

Controller James P. Kerr has demanded the name of the city policeman who had three tubes installed in a radio at his home by a representative of the Barton Auto Radio Corporation, holder of the city contract for servicing police radios.

Charges by a competing firm that the city has been paying higher than market prices for radio parts other than tubes and batteries and did not receive some of the goods it paid for are being heard by Controller Kerr, who has thus far refused to sign a 1934 contract awarded to the Barton corporation.

J. S. Steele, Jr., former employe of the Barton firm, testified he went to a policeman's house in the neighborhood of Forty-third street, and, at the direction of August F. Joerger, then secretary-treasurer of the Barton Corporation, put three new tubes in a radio in the officer's home.

Steele said the tubes were charged to a police car at No. 6 station. Joertger denied it, saying:

"The tubes were not charged to the city. The policeman was not a radio car man. I gave him the tubes personally and paid for them personally."

Controller Kerr asked who the policeman was and Joerger replied:

"I don't care to tell. The transaction had no connection with his job."

Kerr demanded:

"I want to know who that policeman was."

M'GIFFIN DIES; FIDELITY TRUST PRESIDENT

Malcolm McGiffin, president of the Fidelity Trust Company, died today in the Allegheny General Hospital following a three-day illness of pneumonia.

Mr. McGiffin was stricken at the bank Monday and removed to the hospital. He was aged 61 years and resided at 123 University Place, Oakland.

He has been president of the trust company 16 years, first joining the staff in 1905 as an assistant trust officer.

Mr. McGiffin was a native of Jefferson County, where he was born June 14, 1872, at Corsica. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John and Anna McCormick McGiffin.

W. & J. GRADUATE

He attended the local public schools, Washington and Jefferson Preparatory School and was graduated from Washington and Jefferson College, where he took an active part in all branches of athletics.

Following his graduation, Mr. McGiffin registered as a law student with Attorney Thomas Patterson, and was admitted to practice at the Allegheny County bar in 1902. In December, 1905, he became assistant trust officer of the Fidelity Trust Company, in which capacity he served until 1914 when he became trust officer and in January, 1918, president.

He was president and director of the John F. Scott Company; vice president and director of the Union-Fidelity Title Insurance Company; vice president and director, Citizens Traction Company; resident vice president and director, American Surety Company of New York; director, Jenkins Arcade Company, the Acheson Manufacturing Company, Jessup Steel Company; treasurer and trustee, Children's Service Bureau; trustee and chairman of the executive committee, Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital; trustee, Kingsley Association; a member of the advisory board, Protestant Home for Incurables and the Home for Aged Protestant Women, and served on the boards of the Travelers' Aid Society and the Legal Aid Society.

MEMBER OF BAR

He was a member of the United Presbyterian Church; Fellowship Lodge, No. 679, Free and Accepted Masons; member of the American, Pennsylvania and Allegheny County bar associations and American and Pennsylvania Bankers' associations.

He was a member of the following clubs: Pittsburgh, Duquesne, University, Allegheny Country, Rolling Rock and Racquet and Tennis of New York.

Mr. McGiffin leaves one sister, Mrs. Frank M. Morrow, of Punxsutawney, Pa., and two brothers, Dr. N. M. McGiffin, New Bedford, Pa., and S. R. McGiffin, Brookville, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Samson Funeral Home, 537 Neville street. Interment will be Saturday at Brookville, Pa.

Burglars Steal Ring Worth $300

Thieves, early today, broke into the home of A. Green, 2512 Center avenue, according to a report to police, and stole a diamond ring worth $300 and $78 worth of clothing. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear window of the home.

Art Objects in Garden Show

GRETA SCHOONMAKER EARP'S SCULPTURED FOUNTAIN

Books, Pictures and Textiles in Exhibit At Institute

By PENELOPE REDD

The Garden Club of Allegheny County has organized an exhibition with "The Garden" as the theme, and has borrowed a thousand or more objects from Pittsburgh and the Sewickley district to illustrate the all-embracing nature of the idea. Today the exhibition opens with a private view in the galleries of Carnegie Institute.

Miss Redd

The collection of some 500 herbals and other old books related to gardens, and about 150 prints of flowers and gardens, and portraits of early garden authorities, comprises the most complete division in the exhibition. In the arrangement of the books, there is historic sequence, human interest, intelligent selection and unerring style.

Thirty paintings of flower subjects and of gardens are shown. Many of them have been purchased from Carnegie internationals. Johanna K. W. Hallman and the late Mary Scully are the Pittsburgh painters represented.

Forty fabrics including old needle-paintings, needle point, tapestries and rugs reveal the unexpected richness of local resources in rare textiles.

Some 200 items of porcelain and glass with flowers as decorative motifs exemplify famed continental European and English potteries and glass houses. Many old porcelain figures and the delightful modern ones by the English sculptor-potter Vyse are also exhibited.

In the section devoted to sculptured figures for the garden, one sees antique statues in lead and in stone, and modern bronzes including examples of MacMonnies, Scudder, Frismuth and Mrs. Raymond Earp, of Pittsburgh.

The garden furnishings and accessories are numerous. Benches, tables, wells, sun dials, armillary spheres and urns in marble, iron, earthenware and other materials testify to the variants available for garden ornamentation.

In this group one notes the weakness of the exhibition. With knowledge of all the treasures owned locally, the power to commandeer them for exhibition and the leisure to organize the show, the final step of co-operation with those experienced in installation has not been taken.

Thus, while the Garden Club is to be commended for a laudable intention to exhibit to the world at large the rare objects possessed by members, the expert knowledge in placing these objects of art to the best advantage has not been utilized.

The "Pompeian House" would require considerable more distance to lend enchantment to the view. The paintings of local gardens by Anna Belle Craig and the superb flower screens designed by Minnie Sellers would have lent a joyous note to the exhibition.

The emphasis secured by authoritative installation which one expects of contemporary exhibitions is absent. The exhibition, however, has the virtue of variety which probably will make it the most popular show of the season through its exhibition period during the month of March.

DAVIS TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

International News Service.

CARLYLE, Ill., March 1.—Thomas A. Davis, 19-year-old Pittsburgh youth who confessed, officers declare, that he killed State Highway Patrolman Herbert Brantlinger at Bridgeville, Pa., on the night of September 3, last, will refuse to waive extradition to Pennsylvania to stand trial.

Sheriff J. D. Erlinger, of Clinton County, said yesterday that he had learned from State Police Capt. John Funk and Lieut. Charles A. Keller, of Harrisburg, Pa., who are here to return Davis to Pennsylvania, that a Pennsylvania grand jury is expected to indict Davis "within a week," after which the officers expect to get extradition papers for Davis' return.

NEW TYPE CABS TO BE TESTED

Five light-type cabs will begin taxi service Monday on Pittsburgh streets as the Parmelee System here tests their feasibility in its opposition fight against entrance of the Zone Cab Company of Cleveland with 300 similar cars.

Paul Houston, president of the Yellow Cab Company, said the cars will be completely equipped as taxis though no result of their operations are expected to be introduced before the Public Service Commission hearing Wednesday on the Cleveland firm's application. The hearing will continue three days, a continuation of the application hearings started two weeks ago.

Houston said the cabs will be run 25,000 miles, with monthly records of operation costs maintained. They will be run 24 hours daily.

HOPKINS, BIDDLE TO ADDRESS RELIEF MEET

Harry L. Hopkins, administrator, Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and Eric Biddle, director of Pennsylvania's Emergency Relief Board, are to attend a conference on welfare legislation here Saturday.

Hopkins is to address the conference, which is to be held under the auspices of the American Public Welfare Association, Frank Bane, director.

During the day, Biddle will consult with Douglas P. Falconer, secretary of the Bureau of Charities, Brooklyn, N. Y., who is now engaged in making an investigation of the affairs of the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board, it was announced today by Falconer.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss possible changes in state poor relief laws, which Bane describes as "hopelessly out of date in almost all of the states."

Bane has invited officials from several nearby states to attend.

The conference, according to the tentative program, will open at 10 a. m. Saturday in the City-County Building with a discussion of poor relief legislation in the United States and the administration of relief under existing laws.

Following the morning meeting, W. Frank Persons, director of U. S. Employment Service, will address the conference at a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce scheduled for 1 p. m. At 3 p. m. revision of welfare laws and emergency relief will be discussed at a meeting in the City-County Building.

Also speaking at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon will be Dr. Simeon E. Leland, professor of public finance, University of Chicago. His subject will be "The Modernization of Obsolete Poor Relief Laws." William P. Witherow, vice president of the Chamber and president of the Community Fund, will preside.

Pet Monkey Safe After Eluding Roof Pursuit

Jocko, pet monkey of 9-year-old Billy Thomas, of 741 Wills street, is home again today after the most exciting experience of his career.

The monkey escaped yesterday and was discovered perched on the roof of the house next door. Coaxing failed to bring him down, and firemen, summoned from No. 17 Engine Company, scurried up ladders.

Cold Food Causes Sanitari a 'Strike'

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., March 1.—(AP.)—Explaining there had been a brief walkout of some patients because food was cold, Dr. W. T. Post, superintendent of the state tuberculosis sanitarium Hopemont, today denied reports that there was a hunger strike over the quality of food.

Some of the cottage patients two days ago left the dining room complaining the food was cold but they have since returned and all difficulties have been smoothed out, Post said.

Alienists to Study Girl Slayer spect

READING, March (AP.)—Attorneys for Miss Fra s Sepse, accused of slaying Dr. Paul Hess, announce that they will have alienists examine the young woman.

Harry Matten and Jonathan Batdorf, appointed to the defense by the Berks County Court, said they had decided on this course after a day spent in attemping to gain Miss Sepse's confidence. Their appointment followed the resignation of another attorney who said the defendant refused to talk to him.

HEINZ LAUDED, PLANS SAFETY

Fire Chief John Heinz received the congratulations and good wishes of friends and fellow firefighters in his new office today.

Standing in front of a huge floral offering, the gift of the City Firemen's Protective Association, of which he was president for 10 years, Chief Heinz said:

"The city fire department is in good shape now, but I think I can make it better still. I have some ideas for shifting the equipment around which ought to help, and now that I have the fire department working under my civil service bill we ought to get along fine. One of the first things I am going to do is to conduct a sweeping investigation of the fire hazard in all public buildings, churches, theaters, schools and other large buildings. We aren't going to have a Brookville tragedy here, if I can help it."

Battalion chiefs were on hand this morning to hear his inaugural speech and to receive the new chief's first orders. The Climax street explosion and fire was Heinz "baptism of fire" on his new job last night. He has had 14 years' experience in the fire department, beginning in the horse days as a driver of No. 1 water tower.

DR. M'CREADY PUSHES CLAIM FOR ESTATE

Dr. R. J. McCready(82, of Sewickley, had no idea of the extent of his wife's estate he asserted today in an answer to the petition of the United Presbyterian Women's Association of North America to have his claim to one-half of $1,000,000 set aside.

The aged physician was to receive $1,00 0a month for life under terms of his wife's will. He admitted signing a pre-nuptial agreement not to claim any part of her property but at that time, he stated, he had no means of knowing its value.

The McCreadys were married in 1924. Dr. McCready had been a widower for 14 years at that time. The will was filed last June 24.

Under its provisions, about $700,000 was set aside for a home in Moon Township for women afflicted with mild mental ailments. The home was to be administered by the U. P. Women's Association. Dr. McCready elected to take action against his wife's will. The women petitioned to have his claim set aside.

In his answer he states that he was devoting himself to improvements of his own circumstances and those of his son, the latter's wife and their young daughter.

SLEUTHS CHECK AUTO DRIVERS

The state highway patrol was on duty today stopping Pennsylvania motorists at various points to check up and see that each operator has a 1934 operator's license. Last year's license expired at midnight.

Lieut. A. J. Oldham, of the Greensburg highway patrol, said that 60 motorcycle police have been ordered out to enforce the motor code demanding renewal of cards. Failure to have a new license will subject the motorist to arrest and a fine of $10 and costs, he said.

LARGE FAMILY 'APOSTLE' DIES

MERY-SUR-SEINE, France, March 1.—(AP.)—Dr. Adolphe Pinard, 90, famous "apostle of large families," died today in the village home where he was born.

Dr. Pinard, who also was known in France as "the enemy of race suicide," devoted more than 60 years of his life to bringing new life into the world.

A few years before his retirement from actice practice when he had reached the age of 80 years, it was estimated the venerable doctor had ushered into the world more than 12,000 babies. Dr. Pinard is the author of several books on childbirth and birth rate and many essays on anatomy on childbearing women.

He was elected a deputy in 1919 and made one speech a year and it always dealt with his favorite topic—rendering the operation of birth safer and easier.

SNOWBALL WREATH PATTERN 579

Large Block Makes Lovely Quilt

It is easy to understand why Snowball Wreath is so popular. The wreath, lovely in the single block, makes a handsome pattern as it is repeated in the quilt. The largeness of the block also appeals to the quiltmaker, for it means that the work will go along more quickly. The two colors of material in the snowballs, with a third material in the leaves, make a colorful block on a white background.

Pattern 579 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

$1000 for YOU

Read how YOU can secure this sum for yourself . . . and protect your loved ones with Life Insurance while doing so.

PEOPLES Insured Savings PLAN

. . . a unique combination of a regular Savings Account with the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company and Life Insurance with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

THE PLAN:

You agree to save $7.79 monthly for a period of 120 months—or the total sum of $934.80. At the end of that period you are repaid $1,000 by the bank.

If, at any time during the 120 months period, you should happen to die, your heirs will receive not only the amount that you had already saved, but also an additional amount from the Equitable to equal the $1,000 which you had hoped to accumulate.

In other words—you receive the $1,000 if you live—your heirs receive $1,000 if you do not live to complete the program.

The above example holds for those in the Plan who are between the ages of 18 and 40. The monthly payments are $7.92 between ages 41 and 45, and $8.17 between 46 and 50.

In all cases, when the program is completed, you are repaid more than you put in, in addition to enjoying the insurance feature, the cost of which is more than earned by the compound interest which the bank pays on your monthly deposits.

Many questions will suggest themselves which cannot be answered here. They are all answered in the booklet "$1,000 for You," which you may have, without charge, by a personal or telephone call to the bank, COurt 5600, or by mail request.

MT. RUSHMORE PLAN PRAISED BY WRITERS

America's foremost literary personalities today joined in approving the plan to aid the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission select an inscription for the monument it is having carved on one of the Black Hills in South Dakota.

Carolyn Wells, novelist and essayist, asserted that no finer combination could be found than the union of art and letters to perpetuate the nation's glory.

Kathleen Norris also enlisted in support of the movement, declaring the American people should feel privileged to count themselves in the generation that was giving their country such an impressive monument.

Inaugurated on Washington's Birthday, the plan proposes a national competition in which the men, women and children of the country will take part to assist the Rushmore memorial commission find the inscription that will be engraved in the granite of the mountain cenotaph.

LETTERS OF STONE

Gutzon Borglum, famous sculptor, is planning to cut the inscription on the monument in letters 13 feet high.

On one side of the monument he has started colossal figures of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

The inscription on the other side of the peak will deal with historic episodes connected with the birth and development of the United States.

There are nine of these episodes. Among them are the writing of the Declaration of Independence; the drafting of the Constitution; the purchase of Louisiana, and the ceding of the Floridas.

Others are the rise of the Republic of Texas and its entry to the Union as a state; the Mexican war and the acquisition of California; the settlement of the Oregon boundary dispute, and the building of the Panama Canal.

600 WORD LIMIT

The inscription will be limited to some 600 words. Fred W. Sargent, of Chicago, head of the Rushmore Memorial Commission, and Borglum are agreed that the projected competition will be one of the high spots of interest connected with the rearing of the monument.

The plan now calls for the forming of national and local committees to adjudge the texts submitted in the proposed competition.

The foremost historians, painters and writers in the country have agreed to serve on these committees.

Members of Congress and Army and Navy officers are also interesting themselves in the movement, declaring it is invested with outstanding educational value.

Boards of education in most of the large cities of the country have delegated their chairmen or other officers to represent the public schools in the undertaking.

Details of the project are being published daily in the Hearst newspapers, which will next Sunday have an exposition of its most recent developments.

A Tunneled Peep at Mt. Rushmore

CAROLYN WELLS LAUDS TEXT PLAN

Sees Inspiration in Carving of Words On Peak

By CAROLYN WELLS

Distinguished American Novelist and Essayist.

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers.

For the most part of us patriotism is inspired by words.

Few can go to war and fight for our altars and our fires; few can in peace direct the affairs of our nation; but all can read words from the hearts of our countrymen.

And the carven word, the word that is not for a day but for all time, shall instil patriotism in the souls of the generations to come and prove anew that the pen is mightier than the sword.

Art and letters are two great forces. Can a finer combination be found to perpetuate the glory of our nation?

And as the genius of Gutzon Borglum evolves from the living rock the heroic shapes of our great statesmen, so much the brains of our citizens envolve the expression of great thoughts for accompaniment.

Words are what we want—ringing, stinging words that serve as vehicles for the deep, wise thought that is—that must be—the heartbeat of our patriotism. Words are wanted that glorify the victory of Washington, the declaration of Jefferson, the tragedy of Lincoln, the prowess of Theodore Roosevelt.

They must not be rodomontade or fine writing, but honest, earnest words that would have won the approval of Daniel Webster or Patrick Henry.

Let all who have the gift of tongues devote their energies, time and talent to this effort.

And to those who are organizing and furthering this project be all honor and praise.

Patriotism is our one hope for the land of the free and the home of the brave. The words that are carved on the rock of the Black Hills must mean the same as the words of the Star Spangled Banner. Though we may forget the singer, we will not forget the song.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves Good Money! No Cooking!

If you want the best cough remedy that money can buy, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a real family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CONTEST MEETS NEED OF U. S. SAYS WRITER

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Most widely read of the American novelists.

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers.

America needs exactly what the Rushmore national memorial will give her and reserve in her—a patriotic pride in her own glorious history.

The richest country in the world, we nevertheless are poor in those dramatic customs and landmarks that make France, England and Italy so glorious to their own people.

In the Mount Rushmore national memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota we will have a possession beautiful, suitable and unique.

We should feel privileged to count ourselves in the generation that gives such a monument to America.

It has a sweep and a magnificence of conception that excite wonder.

Bribe Offer Charge Balks Citizenship

The petition of Hipolit Czyz, 56, of 404 Sloan street, Sheraden, for citizenship was denied in Federal Court when W. W. Wiggins, divisional director of naturalization and immigration in the Pittsburgh district, told Judge Nelson McVicar that Czyz had offered him $5 to make a favorable recommendation on the petition.

Czyz, native of Lithuania, who came to this country in 1910, was alleged to have made the offer on January 31.

Mine Fall Injures Youth Digging Coal

Earl Hendrickson, 18, of Ellsworth avenue, Homestead Park, was recovering in Homestead Hospital today from injuries received in a mine fall late yesterday.

According to police, Hendrickson was digging coal in a "depression mine" in Munhall, when the fall occurred. Pinned under the debris 30 minutes before fellow workers could reach him, he suffered injuries of the back.

Musicians Wanted By Marine Corps

Recruits are wanted in the United States Marines who can play the trumpet, bugle or drums. Applicants must be between 17 and 18, according to Maj. Arthur Kingston, in charge of recruiting at the Federal Building.

Applicants accepted must sign for four years. After six months of musical training at Paris Island, S. C., they are assigned to Marine bands.

CAMERA TO PICK WAMPAS STARS

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—(AP)—Screen tests rather than ballots will determine the 13 Wampas baby stars for 1934.

The thirteenth annual selection of promising film youngsters will be made March 13, George Landy president of the Western Association Picture Advertisers, announced today. Landy said:

"For the first time, however, we will follow our original plan and choose these stars by screen tests.

"We will not name any girl who now is under contract, our idea being that any actress who has a contract already is on her way to success. Thus we will revert to our original plan of becoming the seers of the stars, picking promising, outstanding beginners and helping them gain recognition."

Heretofore, Wampas selections have been by ballot and have included many candidates under contract.

"Nickel-Kickers"

Funny term, what? But a mighty apt one—for those lads who used their feet for something else beside walking. You've heard about them, haven't you—those waiters of the olden days—the original singing waiters, who as they waited, clogged a tune—and the folks threw nickels at 'em, and the faster the nickels flew, the faster flew the clogs. We revive this term (not on aesthetic grounds you may be sure), but because it is so handy. We use it to denote the type of individual who does himself badly for the sake of "saving" an extra nickel or two. It is our sincere belief that

It is Better to Buy GOOD Clothes, even though it takes you longer to Pay for them, than to Buy "Cheap" and Shoddy clothes for Cash.

Cheap clothes first of all "look bad." Second, they are made badly. And when they go to and from the cleaners or the washtub it's just too bad. You "save" a dollar when you buy them, but they'll give you never a moment's peace of mind; and Harris' will simply not annoy you with them. Our apparel, whether for women, men, or children, must "stand up," must "take it." If it dared to be inferior, who would be the loser? Both you and we. And zealous to keep your confidence, we will not cheat—you or ourselves.

Here you can buy the best and afford it—because you can take longer to pay for it.

A man can buy a suit here for $25 and know he is getting one of world's best wearing worsteds, as well as a suit that is properly and flatteringly made. And what if he does take an extra few weeks to pay for it—in small sums—if he gets three or four times the wear out of it? We believe in good quality. It pays us, and it certainly will pay you*

A POINTER ON TOBACCO
THIS GOOD OLD KENTUCKY BURLEY OWES ITS EXTRA FRAGRANCE AND MILDNESS TO "WELLMAN'S METHOD"—AN OLD-TIME TOBACCO SECRET. THE ROUGH CUT BURNS MORE SLOWLY AND COMPLETELY, SO YOU GET WHAT EVERY PIPE SMOKER WANTS—A COOLER SMOKE IN A DRIER PIPE.

GRANGER
ROUGH CUT
PIPE TOBACCO
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The method of preparing Granger Tobacco for pipe smoking is not like any other method now in use.

So far as we know, it is the best way ever found of taking out of tobaccos the oils that don't smoke right or taste right in a pipe.

Granger owes its extra fragrance and mildness to Wellman's Method.

The way Granger Tobacco is cut—in big flakes—helps it to smoke cool and last longer. Try it.

—folks seem to like it

Just about the nearest thing to a pouch that a package could be—it keeps the tobacco the way you want it.

'STEEL' ROADS URGED BY DAVIS

A plan for construction of highways with steel bases was before the Federal Bureau of Public Roads today as a suggestion of Senator James J. Davis for unemployment relief.

Senator Davis laid the plan before President Roosevelt, who referred it to the roads bureau for investigation, and urged a prompt report. Senator Davis proposes construction of stretches of experimental concrete roads with steel bases, in all parts of the country.

The Senator also urged the President to consider a proposal for financing church building through government lending at a low rate of interest.

CODE CHARGES HERE PROBED

Alleged violations of the petroleum code here were being investigated today by Frank J. Higgins, special assistant attorney general, of Washington.

Violation complaints against wholesale and retail gasoline filling stations have been made against firms in Pittsburgh and McKeesport, according to Higgins.

They involve unfair trade practices, labor, wage and hours of employment.

Prosecution of violators can be carried on through criminal charges or injunction proceedings, Higgins stated. Action against them will be decided at Washington, he added.

AL WILLIAMS :-: Pittsburgher Guest Of Fred Waring :-: ON RADIO

Famous Flier Waring Guest Tonight

Pittsburgh's own Al Williams, Navy air ace and longtime speed champion of the air, tells of one of his greatest flying thrills when he spins a rapid-fire yarn over the Columbia-WJAS network tonight at 9:30 as guest star on the Fred Waring program.

Williams is inventor of the outside loop and inverted "falling leaf" maneuver, and once deliberately drove a plane to complete destruction, without a parachute, to obtain valuable flying data for the Navy.

Waring and his Pennsylvanians will introduce the famous flier with a medley of tunes dedicated to aviation—"Come Josephine in My Flying Machine," "Happy Landing" and "Flying Down to Rio."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt speaks and Madame Frances Alda sings during the Camp Fire Girls' National Birthday broadcast over the Columbia-WJAS network this afternoon at 4:30.

Mrs. Roosevelt discusses "The Importance of Hobbies in Strengthening Girls' Personalities."

POLA NEGRI

Pola Negri, famous Polish actress, appears as guest on the "Voice of America" program on WJAS at 8:30 p. m.

Paul Whiteman features a new modern suite, "A Deserted Plantation," by William Grant Still, Negro composer, on his 10 p. m. program heard over WCAE.

The City Council Parent-Teacher Association begins a series of weekly broadcasts over KDKA this afternoon at 4:15. On the initial program, Mrs. W. E. Brosius is interrogated on the work of the association by Mrs. P. B. Digby.

GLOBE TROTTING

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We hear from another of the amateur radio operators.

Aileen Jobes says that when a broadcast listener complains that an amateur is interfering with reception the "listener" is usually wrong. Aileen says that power leaks cause most of the radio interference and the worst offender is a heating pad.

Mike Frisco, Elm street, has written also. He is willing to cooperate with globe trotters in detecting causes of interference usually blamed upon amateurs. Of course we have to draw the line carefully in this trouble-shooting activity since we don't want to do anything that might appear as competition to radio repair people. Our co-operation will go only so far as complaints against amateur's interference.

I've been told that Tony Mag knows plenty about the why's and wherefore's of radio interference. He is hereby invited to set a date to broadcast information on this subject.

I'm afraid the case against the starlings looks pretty black. Letters from Jack Mitchell, Jr. and Mrs. E. Tarentum, show the bird to be a pest of the worst kind. Too bad, too! Because he was imported here to be a blessing, to exterminate a certain kind of plant pest.

The starlings usurp nest sites of native birds, in many cases they steal eggs and kill young. Farmers say that whole orchards have been destroyed by them.

Well, it looks as if Ray Sprigle can go on shooting roman candles with out fear of criticism.

Milton Helfer reports a cedar wax wing, several cardinals, and a blue bird. They are probably hungry now. Don't forget to put food out for them.

M. B. W., in these times of old coins, stamps, and Bibles, comes through with an antique razor. It be... the date July 4, 1776. It sounds from the date that it might be a souvenir, but then again it might not. Who wants a shave?

* * *

C. A. Gibson, North Side, started feeding them several years ago when a hungry animal visited his backyard. Now they come in great numbers which leads him to believe that this is a particularly hard year for them.

He suggests that where possible, families, that have walnuts or hickory nuts to spare might put them out for the little squirrels.

Say did you get the latest from Lawrenceville. Signs of spring? I'll say! A lightning bug has been reported.

* * *

I've been warned about all this springtime stuff. One of my most loyal listeners is about to turn away from me. Already, just from the talk, he has spring fever, hay fever, and is sneezing a little. If he threatens me again I'll publish his name.

'Bath Night' Grows Popular With Radio Time Buyers

The late Saturday night hours for 10 years have been headaches to the networks, whose best salesmen have hitherto failed to entice commercial patrons into them.

The B. A. Rolfe show is credited lately, however, with making both patron and listeners Saturday-night conscious.

CBS never has been able to dispose profitably of its late Saturday hours—that is, not until now.

Out of a clear sky yesterday, a full hour on bath night was sought by a cereal company, which begins on March 24, a series of broadcasts in which Abe Lyman's Band, Helen Morgan, Jean Sargent and Everett Marshall will be permanently featured.

The patron is the same who, some months ago, inaugurated a news service over Columbia.

Very quietly a feud had been under way, until yesterday, between the air's two cheese programmes—the one featuring Al Jolson on WCAE, and that with Mark Warnow, at WJAS.

Because Warnow had heard that Jolson had made slighting remarks about the rival show, Warnow had banned the use of "Wonder Bar" music from the Jolson film.

The two met yesterday in a Turkish bath and Jolson denied the calumny.

They made up when Jolson offered to buy $5,000 worth of the rival cheese for orphan asylums if anybody could prove he had said anything one way or another about the Warnow show. The "Wonder Bar" music is now back in the Warnow show.

The first definite attempt to control studio audiences is being made by the Jack Denny Orchestra, in its commercial broadcasts, in the shape of orders to the spectators to sit on their hands and refrain from demonstrations until the finale of the entertainment.

Sun-Telegraph Radio Features

The Globe Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News broadcasts over WCAE-WJAS at 12:15 and 2:15 this afternoon.

Two Commissioners On Vacation Trips

County Commissioner William D. Mansfield is en route to Florida for a few weeks' vacation, and Commissioner C. C. McGovern is on his way for a 10-day rest "somewhere."

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD
IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages: The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. It is twice as easy stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It is expressly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all." It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is inviting trouble.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Only druggists more interested in making an extra profit rather than in your welfare offer you a substitute. When a cold threatens, don't wait or delay, but go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q on every tablet.

I KNOW WHY JIM DOESN'T CALL BUT I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT.
BISODOL PLEASE
MY DEAR, IT'S EASY TO KEEP BREATH SWEET. JUST DO WHAT MY DOCTOR HAD ME DO.
HELLO, SALLY... STILL LOVELY. HOW ABOUT DINNER AND A DANCE TONIGHT?
WONDER HOW SHE GOT RID OF THAT AWFUL BREATH!

Now Keep Breath Sweet 24 hours a day

EASY TO GET RID OF BAD BREATH AT ITS SOURCE BY THIS IMPROVED, SCIENTIFIC WAY THAT DOCTORS ADVISE

Don't fool yourself into believing that you are secure simply because a rinse or gargle with a mouthwash leaves your mouth tingling with a clean, pleasant taste.

To get rid of bad breath and taste you must get at the root of the trouble. That's in your stomach if you're an average person. Excess acids ferment foods, form obnoxious gases that rise up into the mouth and cause embarrassment.

So naturally the easiest, surest way to get relief is to get at the root of the trouble. Doctors advise a teaspoonful of BiSoDoL in water morning and night.

This pleasant-tasting blend of six valuable digestive remedies works wonders. It swiftly neutralizes excess acids, soothes and heals the inflamed mucous membranes. And keeps your stomach so settled and sweet that you are sure of waking up in the morning with a clean, pleasant taste and certain of having a sweet, inconspicuous breath all day!

Don't forget that your breath is only as sweet as your stomach and nothing can keep the stomach any sweeter than BiSoDoL. Try it. Also when you have indigestion, gas, heartburn or any other distressing acid trouble take BiSoDoL. It's the improved, quicker-acting way to get rid of pain and discomfort that doctors have used for many years with success. All druggists sell Bi-SoDoL for only 25c a package.

+ ON BROADWAY +

If I Were the Roosevelt of Radio

I would run a brain-renting agency for censors . . . Grown up men on the air wouldn't be allowed to be coy or act like a sales girl waiting on Gary Cooper . . . Most torch singers would be starred in torch murders! . . . Only deaf people would be allowed to tune in on those early morning pep-babblers . . . Tar and feathers would be the only costume for all those razor-edged sopranos . . . Mildred Bailey's imitators on those small-time stations would have to sit in electric chairs instead of rocking chairs . . . Eddie Cantor would talk about Rubinoff's girl friend (Frances Stutz) who is not only much more interesting that Rubinoff—but prettier! . . . And advertising commercials would be shorter than a midget below sea level.

I'd put Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby on the air every afternoon and give a free radio to every unmarried woman over 30.

I'd fire every executive who thinks the listeners have "12-year-old minds." Particularly the type of exec who is always saying: "Oh, let's not say that. Those morons won't understand it, anyway." When as a matter of fact your audience is as intelligent as your show!

I'd keep the client away from rehearsads and I'd also ban his wife and her friends. Besides, the client is not Omnipotent—the Public is!!!

I'd make the moguls realize that a good program sells indirectly (by creating good will directly), therefore the usual windy advertising should not "sell," but should tie in with newspaper and periodical campaigns. Nobody will ever make me believe that long commercial talks (which interrupt good programs) do not irk listeners.

I'd repeat good programs. Just because they were offered once doesn't mean they are dead forevermore. Word of mouth praise leaves a large audience yearning to hear a show they've missed. A good script, well cast, is always worth a dozen routine stunts.

And New York born announcers, who affect British accents, would be given the annual Diction Award to shame 'em!

I'd make radio actors (or is it the directors?) on a dramatic show—realize that a pause is worth a dozen lines.

I'd take some of those sports announcers (not you, Clem) and make them talk into funnels instead of microphones. . . . Graham McNamee would have to listen to some of those jokes instead of laughing at them. . . . Most script writers would have to write with their brains instead of their typewriters . . . There'd be more commenators like Lowell Thomas and Edwin C. Hill . . . Ruth Etting and Gertrude Niesen would have to sing every night for 15 minutes or be shot . . . And I'd insist that all those blood-curdling tales of terror (broadcast at baby's bedtime) be done before a microphone inside a cage of unreasonable lions, tigers, pumas and leopards.

I'd stop all child singers on the air who feature torch, love and double-entendre ditties. (I don't think they are cute, at all!)

And the second-raters who clutter up the air with their alleged imitations of important and talented people—would have to do an imitation of Judge Crater, whose disappearance of years ago hasn't been solved yet.

I'd eliminate the office politics and situations that permit an artist of a band to make good on one program, and then when the contract expires, let them go unemployed for ages. Take Morton Downey, frinstance. Jacques Renard, Kate Smith, the Boswells.

I'd toss orchids at Toscanini before and after each concert . . . I'd put a gold star on the report card of the Federal Radio Commission for never endangering the right of free speech. I'd have Ed Wynn read all the comic strips to the kids of the nation every Sunday morning . . . I'd buy the rights to O. Henry's stories instead of using some of the hooey on the air—and I'd omit the ham from drhama.

I wouldn't do a thing about President Roosevelt, the only one on the air batting 1.000 per cent. (He writes his own stuff, too!)

There'd never be any of that repulsive chatter at dinner-time, either. Such as what will happen to your gums if you neglect them, or your liver. I'd stop anybody from taking an old and beautiful melody of lovely memory—and setting a theme song to it which advertises a mouth wash and begins: "Buy Boggs Bad Breath Banisher."

I'd go in for a little novelty on bands—and offer a real Hawaiian combination now and then, or some jug and washboard orchestras—or a Havana street orchestra that has an amazing 6-year-old's idea of drum-sticking, which is most fascinating and ear-tickling . . . Announcers who get kittenish and slobber when mentioning the sponsor's name would be poisoned.

I'd have Johnny Mercer (who wrote the words to "Lazy Bones") sing those old time songs like "Wreck of the '97"—I'd have a special hour for poems by Ogden Nash and Dorothy Parker—and once every two weeks there would be three minutes of tap-dancing by Bill Robinson.

Under my regime music would be more than a filler in most programs. For the blind and shut-ins, I would have expert word-painters describe the spring and the sunsets and the beautiful things in life. For "eyes" I would hire such hard-boiled ex-reporters and vivid descriptionists as Gene Fowler of Fire Island, N. Y.; Don Ryan of Hollywood; Capt. Irving O'Hay, of Taos, New Mexico; Morris Markey, of N. Y. C.; Milt Saul, of Atlanta, Ga., and James Joseph Walker, formerly of N. Y. and now in exile.

I would send Will Rogers' swell squeich to listeners who write nasty letters and make them write down a million times: "Will Rogers says he has no sympathy for people too lazy to turn a dial!"

I'd see to it that some comedians were paid off in coins which were in circulation when their jokes were.

Life's Final Curtain Falls As Forgotten Dramatist And Actor Bow Out

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Within a few days of each other two people have died who seemed to have died long before. One was a dramatist—the other an actor. In a sense they had died long before—they were representatives of the old theater world, shadows of a past that is gone beyond recall—Madeleine Lucette Ryley, the playwright, and Corse Payton, the player.

One would think that a woman who wrote one of John Drew's biggest successes, "Christopher, Jr.," and one of Nat Goodwin's biggest successes, "An American Citizen," should have honorable mention in any history of our drama. But in one of the best works on the subject, Madeleine Lucette Ryley is merely mentioned with two other women playwrights—Marguerite Merington and Martha Morton—and all the historian says about the three is: "They need not detain us."

Mr. Seibel

This London girl came to America and made her stage debut at the age of 15. She sang light opera roles as a prima donna while still in her teens. Now that she's dead at the age of 75, after having been helpless from paralysis many months, we may permit her to detain us long enough to say that she added something to the American theater that was worth while.

In comedies like "Mice and Men," "The Grass Widow," "Mrs. Grundy," "The Sugar Bowl," and in more series dramas like "Richard Savage," she conjured up masks of mirth and wraiths of romance that gave joy to her audiences. She was not a great dramatist, but a happy influence. I met her once, on Forty-fourth street in New York, and she gave you the impression that she was alive; that there was a bubbling pool of gayety in her soul, a glow of comfort around her being.

'BEST BAD ACTOR'

Yet Madeleine Lucette Ryley was forgotten years before she died. It's almost the same with Corse Payton, who has just died at the age of 67—and who used to call himself "America's best bad actor."

Corse Payton had the spirit of the indomitable trooper, who never says die. After one unkind audience subjected him to a barrage of eggs and vegetables, ripe and over-ripe, he had the scene-painter repaint the curtain, and instead of "Fire-proof Curtain," it bore the legend "Egg-Proof Curtain" for a whole season.

Yet this player, considered the typical "ham," whose very name was one of the standard jokes in the theater, made a hundred thousand dollars a year in his heyday. And he made it at 10-20-30 cents admission, two shows a day. At the beginning of each season he gave a curtain speech in which he outlined his policy and praised his wares:

RESPECTABLE REPERTOIRE

He gave the people good things, mostly worth much more than they paid. During 15 years of repertoire he presented plays like "Charley's Aunt" and "For Her Children's Sake," but he also put on "The Rivals."

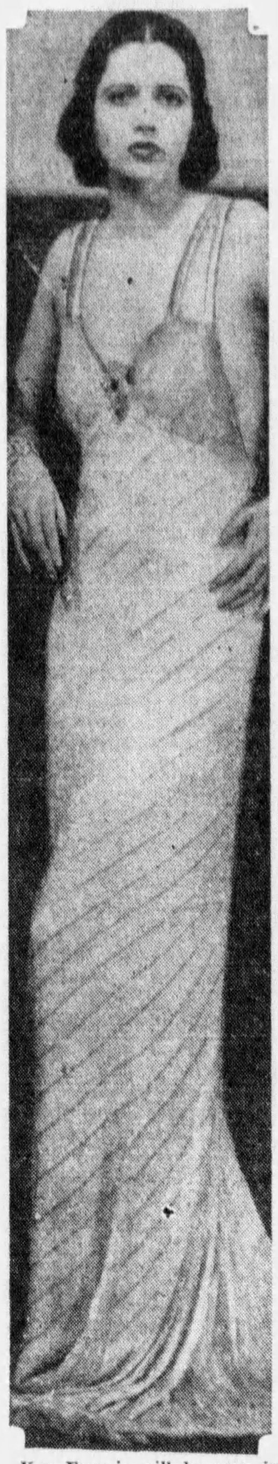
Born in Iowa as the son of the county sheriff, blood-and-thunder melodramas came natural to him. Why should it not?—once when he ran away to join a circus, he happened to be on a train that was held up, and he was kicked off the train by one of the James boys, the famous bandits. It was probably Corse Payton's only regret that he did not know whether the boot of Jesse or Frank James had kicked him off the train.

The first play he appeared in when he started his stage career was "Dora, or the Farmer's Iron Will." It may safely be said that in his 40 years as actor and producer, Corse Payton has saved more maidens from a fate worse than death, paid off more mortgages, delivered more villains into the stern hands of justice, than any other man on the American stage.

Many a well-known star began in the Corse Payton companies. There was a time when Ed Wynn, the fire-chief, worked in Payton's theaters for a few dollars a week, doing a comedy turn between the acts. Now he gets several thousand dollars every time he looks at the mike. Mary Pickford began her acting career under Corse Payton; so did Lillian Gish and her sister. So did Fay Bainter, Ernest Truex, Richard Bennett and Bert Lytell. Hundreds of actors must have got their start under Payton's flag. His dramatic productions were firmly based on the Ten Commandments and the Constitution, for he was a Methodist as well as an Elk. He may not have been on speaking terms with the Nine Muses, but he knew those three human Graces—Faith, Hope and Charity.

He also had an undying faith in the theater he knew. Though 67 years old when he died, he was busy a few weeks before with a plan to revive old-fashioned melodrama in stock theaters. Who wouldn't like to see "The Two Orphans" and "A Celebrated Case?" I would. Who wouldn't like to see "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "The Lights of London?" I would.

Doubles



Kay Francis will be seen in two theaters Friday—"Wonder Bar," in the Stanley, and "Mandalay," in the Sheridan Square.

By GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—Those members ovie colony who for personal or business reasons have for two years, that the Carrol and Garrett Grah tribe against Hollywood, "Queer People," would reach production, have been given cause to relax by the stage offering of the book.

Having viewed the stage piece we would ribly shocked if anyone but the most publicity-hungryky" producer paid a nickel to put the play before ters. "Queer People," as we saw it, hasn't even the ning feature of real humor—or the satire and brilliant comedy that was "Once in a Lifetime's" own excuse for the vicious little jabs it took at Hollywood and its people.

The feeble attempts at entertainment in "Queer People" as it has now been produced, have resulted only in mean, cheap and bawdy situations, some of which paint a picture which has not existed in the film colony for many years, and we doubt where such old-fashioned trash will tempt anyone in the movie industry.

With one fell swoop, the Freddy (very social) Frelinghuysens accomplished something quite easily and naturally that even the most diplomatic local hostess (who was familiar with Hollywood love-life) would not have attempted! Perhaps we'd better refresh your memory on the Gary Cooper-Lupe Velez-Countes Di Frasso-Johnny Weissmuller-Sondra Shaw "quintet." As you probably know, Gary and Lupe battled and beamed at each other all over the place for two years. Then the Countess Di Frasso came upon the scene and acquired Gary's devotion for the next two years. Then Lupe married Johnny (and, by the way, they're very much in love this week-end) and then Gary (surprise! surprise!) married Sondra Shaw. All of which created a situation that was thought to be fraught with danger so far as a "family picnic" for all of them was concerned. But there they were at the Frelinghuysens!—all of them at once—together! Lupe Velez and the Countess shared a little table with those "three great Americans," Jefferson Davis Cohen, Johnny Weis and Sondra Shaw dined atted together and Gary Co ided himself between both and a "good time was l all" without fireworks of a Franchot Tone is to be wheeled from studio to— and not because he's d at the moment 'either. On the contrary, it's because he's working in two pictures at once at different studios and needed in both places at practically the same time! He's still doing scenes for "Pretty Sadie McKee," opposite Joan Crawford, at MGM and is working in "The World Moves On" over at Fox. So Fox is hauling out the "make-up wagon," which is a sort of bungalow on wheels that gets attached trailer-fashion to a car and rushes him back and forth between studios and between scenes. A make-up man goes along to touch up the worn places in Franchot's face en route!

Paramount is scratching its collective head trying to decide on a vehicle for Charlotte Henry, the little gal who rushed into stardom in "Alice in Wonderland." Charlotte is over at Twentieth Century, working in "Head of the Family," but so far there is no story ready for her on her home lot. Paramount is dusting off "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" with the idea of assigning Miss Henry to the role of "Lovely Mary" in the story—and also may put Alison Skipworth in one of the leading roles, when and if "Mrs. Wiggs" goes into production.

Odds and Ends

A YOUNG playwright, growing tired of New York apartments, bought himself a very modest home on Long Island several months ago. Not having any too much money at the moment, he furnished the place as best he could and let it go at that.

His first play had to do with such a house in the country. Accordingly, he took his own living room and described it accurately in the manuscript. When the play was finally produced, one scene was an exact duplicate—even to the furniture—of his own living room.

In his home it had cost him $1,200 to furnish that room. The producer's bill for putting the same thing on the stage, however, was $4,000! . . .

ONE of the most amusing of the recent Hollywood stories concerns a director and his wife who had been living apart for some three months. They loved each other sufficiently enough, but the old Hollywood bug nipped each of them around the same time. Consequently, they separated.

With that separation came too much drinking on the part of both. In an effort to forget, as it is sometimes called, husband and wife attended as many parties as possible. They poured liquor into themselves in stupid fashion.

They were ruining themselves, and if they didn't know it their friends did. But the efforts were unsuccessful. The wife said she would never go back to that brute again. The husband said the same thing.

Last week, while driving home from a party, the director smashed his machine and was arrested for driving while drunk. They took him to the station house and booked him on the charge. As they were taking his name, his wife was led in. She had been arrested on the same charge in another smash-up a few blocks away!

Misery loves company, even when it's husband and wife. These two promptly fell into each other's arms. After their release they went home together. And they swear they'll never part!

IN FRONT of the Lambs Club one can generally find several youngsters who hang around and wait for autographs from any famous actors who might emerge. They stood there a few weeks ago when a certain ham, who hasn't worked in several seasons, but who prides himself on the fact that he resembles John Barrymore stepped from the club. The kids immediately surrounded him and begged for autographs.

"Come on, Mr. Barrymore," they cried. "Be a good sport. Give us your autograph."

The ham, immensely pleased, gazed around to see if anyone was looking. At that moment, Dr. Leo Michel, friend of all Broadway, came out of the club. Whereupon the ham pounced upon him.

"Oh, Doctor," he cried happily. "These very nice children think I am John Barrymore. How can I convince them I am not?"

The doctor's reply was short and to the point.

Miss Elizabeth Harben, Secretary, of Garden City, L. I., says:
"I know that deep-sea diving calls for healthy nerves. But, believe me, you can also feel plenty of real nerve strain being a secretary to a busy office executive! Telephones, callers, dictation, and a million other demands all take their toll. As to smoking—I smoke a great deal, but I'm careful in the choice of my cigarettes. I prefer Camels. They don't make my nerves jumpy, and I like their flavor better."
Frank Crilley, Champion Deep-Sea Diver, says:
"Deep down under 300 feet of water, working feverishly under terrific pressure—no place for a nervous man! A diver's nerves must always be in perfect condition. I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. They never upset my nervous system."
How Are YOUR Nerves?
Do your responsibilities give you that "dragged through a knot hole" feeling? Do you come home tired, irritable, with nerves all askew?
Whatever your job or place in life, healthy nerves are worth any effort. Check up on your habits—your eating, your sleeping, your recreation—and do not overlook the subject of smoking.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand. An important fact to nervous people!

STOP BAD BREATH
Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.
Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after-effects.
Olive Tablets brings no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.
Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.
Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

PILES SUFFER NO MORE!
No more pain! No more itching or scratching! No more torture when you sit or walk! No more embarrassment at the stool! The relief of Piles has now been solved. No matter what the form of Piles you suffer from—painful, itching, bleeding, blind or protruding—genuine relief for you lies in Pazo Ointment.
Pazo not only stops the pain and itching and makes defecation easy, but it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. This is because Pazo is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus, it not only allays the inflammation and repairs torn tissue, but actually reduces the swollen blood vessels, which are Piles. The method of application makes Pazo doubly effective. Perforated Pile Pipe attached to tube reaches high up in the rectum and thoroughly medicates all affected parts. Get Pazo today at any drug store and see the relief it means. You will be more than amazed, more than grateful.

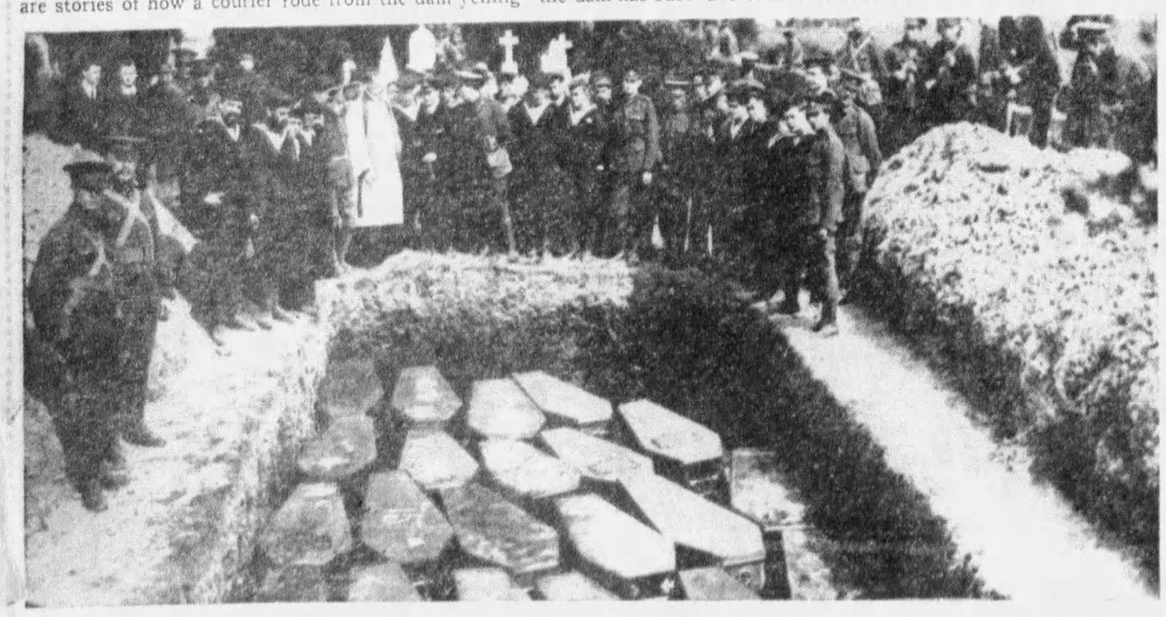
REMEMBER WHEN THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD KILLED 2,209?

This is a Picture-Story of Dramatic Events, Personalities, Beauties, Customs and Fashions Within the Memory of Living Americans

Remember when Johnstown was laid waste by the great flood of May, 1889? A tremendous rainfall on Memorial Day resulted in the destruction of a reservoir dam at South Fork on the Conemaugh River—some ten miles from Johnstown. There are stories of how a courier rode from the dam yelling "the dam has bust" and of how his ride saved the lives of thousands who might otherwise have been trapped in the great rush of mad water. History records that 2,209 were lost in the tragedy.



Remember when British at Queenstown in a common grave buried with full military honors 66 of the victims—most of them civilians—of the sinking of the Lusitania, torpedoed by the German submarine U-20 in May, 1915? Dead: 1,195.

Remember when we sang "Tell me, pretty maiden"? And the Florodora Sextette and its three-year run from April, 1900? The originals: Marie Wilson, Vaughn Texsmith, Agnes Wayburn, Marjorie Relyea, Daisy Green, Margaret Walker.

SCHOOL HEADS IN APPEAL FOR AID

CLEVELAND, March 1.—(AP.)—A picture of what the depression has done to America's public schools, and a call for renewed public support of the schools, was presented today to the department of superintendence of the National Education Association by a committee considering finances.

Headed by Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools at Washington, D. C., the committee asserted:

"The crisis in American education is extensive, serious, spreading daily into new territory and affecting increasing numbers of children."

JOBLESS TEACHERS

The depression, recited the committee, forced 200,000 certified teachers on the rolls of the unemployed and deprived a million children of any education whatever during a part of this school year.

Two thousand six hundred schools were closed on or before January 1, 1934, continued the report, and 20,000 more probably will be closed by April 1.

Money spent on schools in 1933-34 will be $563,000,000 less than in 1929-30. Budget reductions, said the committee, in several states range from 25 to 40 per cent, while city school budgets averaged 20 per cent less for 1933-34 than in 1931.

Chairman Ballou said:

"School building construction in 1933-34 is 75 per cent less than in 1930. Some public schools have gone on a tuition basis, thus forcing children out of school when they cannot afford to pay.

MORE PUPILS

"There are 1,000,000 more pupils in high schools than in 1930, but there are 40,000 fewer public school teachers in the nation.

"Two hundred thousand teachers, one in every four, are receiving less than $750 annually; 40,000 teachers are owed $40,000,000 in back pay."

The committee recommended improvement in taxation methods, stressing local, state and national responsibility in education, and set forth a "platform for educators" which contemplates the creation of an "intelligent public opinion" on education and co-operation with government officials

John Balderston's play will be presented March 7, 8, 9 and 10 in the Washington School auditorium in Mt. Lebanon. It is being directed by Edwad Blaine, who will play the part of Peter Standish, the "man of modern times who returns to enghteenth century England to live the life of one of his ancestors."

DON'T NEGLECT COLDS

RUB soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours. What gratifying relief!

Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—ease in 5 minutes, and relief in 5 hours, as a rule. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes the congested parts, drawing out the pain and infection. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

PRIZE FOR RECIPE GLADDENS 75 ORPHANS, LETTER REVEALS

Home Inmates Given Ice Cream Treat By Matron

Prudence Penny is feeling especially happy today because of a lovely thank-you note received from one of her prize winners. Read it yourself and see if you don't experience a pleasant glow. It's from Mary L. Tussey, of Marwood, and she writes:

"Want to thank you most heartily for the check awarded me in your contest. I am matron of the Concordia Orphan Home at Marwood, so I took the prize money and gave our family of orphan children (75 in number) a nice treat of ice cream today. You never saw such a happy bunch of children and they wish to thank you for their treat."

Your recipes, too, can do their share toward someone's happiness, so send them in to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Your award may be the $5 prize or one of the ten $1 prizes given daily to the best recipes received. Because of the large number sent in, no recipes are returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

TRACY G. AST,
4779 Liberty avenue.
CELERY STUFFING

Take one-half pound of sharp cheese (preferably with some age—for that makes it easier to grate), one onion about the size of a walnut and French dressing. Grate the cheese, then grate your onion and mix with cheese, using sufficient French dressing to make it of such consistency to spread. I have always made my own French dressing.
One-half teacup granulated sugar.
One-half teaspoon dry mustard.
One teaspoon paprika.

Ten $1 Prize Winners

MRS. MARY PAVUK,
4412 Garden way.
HEART CHOP SUEY

Two beef hearts or six veal hearts.
Eight white onions sliced.
One-fourth cup meat drippings.
One large stalk celery, diced.
One-fourth cup flour.
Pepper and salt to taste.
One tablespoon Worcestershire sauce.
One tablespoon Chinese sauce (if desired).
Mushroom bamboo shoots or bean sprouts (if desired).
Wash hearts in cold water. Trim out heavy veins and arteries. Cut into slice one-quarter inch thick, then into narrow strips. Dredge meat in flour, salt and pepper mixed together. Turn into hot pan and sear slightly. Add stock. Simmer until meat is tender. Takes from one to one and one-half hours.
Cook celery in hot water. Brown mushrooms and onions in a little hot fat. Thicken stock on meat. Add rest of seasonings with onions, celery and more salt, if needed. Serve with steamed rice.

MRS. C. B. McCLENAHAN,
418 Second street, Pitcairn.
LEMON SHERBERT

Three cups of sugar.
Three lemons.
Three oranges.
Two quarts of sweet milk.
Beat sugar and juice until sugar is dissolved. Add milk. Freeze.

MRS. J. O. NESBITT,
1126 Moyer street, Sheridan.
COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

One package lemon or lime flavored gelatine.
One cup boiling water.
One cup canned pineapple juice and cold water.
One cup grated pineapple.
One cup cottage cheese.
One-fourth teaspoonful salt.
Dash of cayenne.
Strips of green and red peppers.
Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Add pineapple juice and water. Chill. Combine pineapple, cheese, salt and cayenne. When slightly thickened, fold in pineapple mixture. Decorate molds with strips of red and green peppers. Pour gelatine mixture into it. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves eight.

MRS. MARY PERRY,
548 Ninth Street, Pitcairn.
MINESTRONE A LA CONTADINA

Two-pound shank of beef.
Two medium potatoes.
One medium onion.
One cup canned tomatoes.
One-half cup celery.
One-half pound alphabet macaroni.
Two bunches broccolli.
Boil beef, potatoes, onion, tomatoes and celery in seven quarts water until it boils down to about three quarts. Cut beef into one-inch cubes. Boil separately alphabet macaroni in salted water for eight minutes, drain and drop into stock. Boil in salted water broccolli until tender, drain and mix all ingredients and set on a very slow fire for 30 minutes and add more water if necessary. Season to taste. Serves six to eight persons generously.

MISS GLADYS WATSON,
189 Birch avenue, Mt. Lebanon.
BAVARIAN DINNER (FOR COLD DAYS.)
SOUR ROAST WITH RAW POTATO KNOEDELS (DUMPLINGS.)

Two to four pounds beef (chuck or rump). Put meat from one to three days in following dressing: One-half vinegar, one-half water, mixed spices, pepper, whole cloves, onions, salt). Boil vinegar and spices up, then let cool, pour over meat in bowl, cover, let stand one to three days.
To cook, brown roast on both sides, pour part of vinegar dressing thinned with water on its [illegible] two hours.
Gravy: Take two tablespoons fat. Brown flour (two tablespoons), add meat juice, a little sugar, a few gingersnaps, keep stirring, let boil up a few minutes. (Gravy must be rather thick and dark brown).
Raw potato knoedels: Boil five to 10 medium sized potatoes, press through ricer (while hot), then pare 10 raw potatoes, grate them fine, let stand five minutes, pour off water, mix the potato-starter (left at bottom), mix with raw grated potatoes, press raw potatoes through a bag (old sugar bag), then mix raw and boiled potatoes together. Add salt and small in butter fried pieces of bread (croutons), form balls. Drop in boiling water on fire. Boil 30 minutes. Serve hot with roast and sour gravy.

PEACH AND CANTALOUPE CONSERVE.

One pint diced, peeled peaches.
One pint cantaloupe pulp.
Three-fourths cup sugar.
Two lemons, juice and grated rind.
Three-fourths cup walnut meats.
Mix peaches, cantaloupe, sugar and lemons. Simmer gently until the mixture holds its shape when tested on a cold plate. Add walnuts 15 minutes before removing from fire. Pour into sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.

MISS MARGARET CUNNINGHAM,
144 Washington street, Freeport.
MACARONI BALLS

One cup cold boiled macaroni.
One cup boiling milk.
One tablespoon butter.
Two tablespoons flour.
Two tablespoons grated cheese.
Four egg yolks.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Put butter in saucepan. As it melts, add flour. Do not let brown. Add cup of boiling milk and stir well. When mixture begins to thicken, add grated cheese and let simmer for a few minutes. Take from fire and add beaten yolks of four eggs. Work macaroni, cut into small pieces, well into mixture. Set aside to cool. When cold, rub a little flour on your hands and form macaroni into small balls about two inches long and an inch thick. Dip balls into well-beaten egg and roll in fine cracker crumbs. Fry in boiling lard and serve hot.

MRS. STOWELL C. STEBBINS,

One pint oysters.
One teaspoon salt.
Five tablespoons flour.
One teaspoon paprika.

Contest Offers All Chance to Make Others Happy

Dash of pepper.
Two cups milk.
Three hard cooked eggs.
Six patty shells.
Wash mushrooms. Saute the caps in three tablespoons of butter. Simmer stems with onion and water until only a little water remains. Drain, reserving liquid. Cook oysters in their own liquor until edges curl—drain and reserve liquor. Melt remaining butter in double boiler. Remove from the heat and add flour, salt, paprika and pepper. Stir until smooth. Blend the mushroom and oyster liquor and add enough cream to make one cup. Add two cups milk and stir until smooth and thick. Add mushroom caps, oysters, eggs and heat well. Fill warm patty shells and serve with a sprig of water cress.

THREE CHILDREN RESCUED AS BLAST RAZES HOUSE

POLITICS

Republican Factions Eye Registration

By MARK SHIELDS

All factions in the Republican party are directing an intense interest toward the registration in Pittsburgh and enrollment in Allegheny County for the forthcoming primary election. Strangely enough, their interest is now bent on increasing the affiliation of their own party, but surrounds a possible trend toward the Democrats.

Mr. Shields

The regulars among Republicans would not be distressed to witness an increased Democratic registration and enrollment.

It is their theory, borne out by past events, that defections from the Republican ranks to the opposition party would be principally among elements which would not stand loyally back of the regular candidates.

For corroboration they need in this instance to go no farther than the supporters of Governor Gifford Pinchot, who will oppose Senator David A. Reed for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The Pinchot people are apprehensive of any appreciable switch to the Democrats. They realize, as do the regulars, that this group would be comprised of what were known as Republican independents, displeased with the regulars, and not particular whether they exert that displeasure through Democratic adherence or Republican rebellion.

No one will venture a guess as to whether the Democratic registration in Pittsburgh will increase this year over 1933, when the total was 35,000.

No tax receipt qualification is necessary this year, which should swell the bulk registration, no matter to which party it attaches. The new permanent registration act is effective, and it may be that numbers of electors will wish their names on the books at the first opportunity. * * *

Many Democrats Doubt Enrollment Increase

By the second registration day the campaign in both parties should be well developed, and by the last day to become eligible, only 10 days before election, the lines should be drawn.

Electors who hold off until the second and third days will be able to determine through the development of argument and plea whether they wish to retain their old party designation and fight it out on that line, or switch and try something new.

With a Democratic municipal administration it would be automatic to assume that there would be an increase in the Democratic registration in the city and enrollment in the county. Yet there can be nothing automatic when discussing this new administration.

Some Democratic leaders connected with the organization admit privately that they are doubtful whether their party will gain in the registration. They fear that the regime of Mayor William N. McNair has not been conducive to the attraction of converts.

Offsetting this, of course, is the expectancy that many City Hall employes, hitherto loyal Republicans, will view Democratic registration as a matter of self-protection.

They are aware that Mr. McNair has said that it makes no difference to him how city employes register, that their politics is their own affair, but this attitude, like many others, might be subject to change, particularly as his statement was made before he himself became a candidate for Governor.

So far as the Democrats are concerned, the size of the registration is unimportant.

But it is a vital matter to Republican candidates. All independents of that party are going to find the road much rougher if any considerable number of voters desert to the Democrats. * * *

McNair May Support Mrs. Felix vs. McKay

One congressional district in which the Democrats may have a real battle is the Thirty-second, now represented by Michael J. Muldowney, Republican.

Prof. Marion McKay, of the University of Pittsburgh and president of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, intends to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination. He would be entirely satisfactory to County Chairman David L. Lawrence and other old-line members of the Democratic organization, as he was in 1932.

But he is not liked politically by Mr. McNair, who undoubtedly will use such influence as he has against the Pitt man. Prof. McKay favors a state income tax, and that is anathema to Mr. McNair, for it interferes with his single tax theories.

There is a possibility that Mr. McNair might favor Mrs. Anne Felix, who ran in 1932, and now has pending before Congress a contest against Muldowney, alleging his election was procured by fraud.

Mrs. Felix is not liked by the Lawrence group, and the feeling is bitterly reciprocated. Mrs. Felix overlooks no opportunity to assail Mr. Lawrence, Joseph F. Guffey, and all associated with them. She has never ceased to charge that there was and is an alliance between that faction of the party and Senator James J. Coyne, Republican leader.

Should she have the support of the Mayor, as well as of independent Democrats who backed her in 1932, the primary fight in the Democratic party in this district probably will be one of the most bitter in the county.

It exists also in the Thirty-first District, now represented by Clyde Kelly, Republican.

State Representative James L. Quinn would like to have the Democratic nomination, but there is not yet unanimity behind him—and may not be.

GOVERNMENT SCORES IN VOTE CASE

Signed Fake Tally Sheet, Witness Admits

The government scored again today in testimony against alleged ballot cheaters, on the heels of convictions in Federal Court late yesterday that ran the string of those found guilty to 48.

William H. Chapman, Negro, of Gilmore way, a clerk on the election board of the Eighth District, Third Ward, but not a defendant, testified today he had followed instructions and signed his name to tally papers before the count of votes had been mad

OBEYED ORDERS

Chapman said he was told to do this by James Macri, judge, and obeyed because he didn't know any better. He also testified he had seen Sam Mattes, a defendant though not a member of the board, with a pencil in his hand while the ballots were being counted. Mattes helped mark the tally sheets, the witness testified

On trial, charged with conspiracyq to violate the ballot laws at the 1932 November congressional election, are Macri, Mattes, James A. Ventrone and James Collins, Negro, inspectors; M. J. Ventrone, clerk, and John Stabile. John Cunningham, election constable, in Homeopathic Hospital, with a broken leg, was to be tried later.

OTHERS CONVICTED

Those convicted yesterday were Dewey Budwey, judge; Richard Burgundy and John J. Juliana, inspectors, and Michael Cozza and Francis Haeck, clerks, of the board of the Second District, Third Ward, and H. S. Mahfood, Republican district chairman. The jury recommended extereme mercy of the court for Cozza and Haeck. It deliberated five hours. In the trial, before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, the defendants were accused of falsifying and altering ballots cast for candidates for federal offices at the election.

EASTER SUNRISE RITES IN PARK

The fourth annual Easter sunrise service of the youth of Allegheny County will be held on Flagstaff Hill, Schenley Park, Sunday morning, April 1.

Thousands of young people, representing more than 600 churches in the county, will attend the service, to be held under the auspices of the Allegheny County Youth Council.

Features will be an address by the Rev. Schuyler E. Garth, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, and a musical program by a chorus of 200 directed by Clyde Wolford.

M'Keesport May Annex Glassport

A committee to further plans for the proposed annexation of Glassport borough to the city of McKeesport was appointed at a meeting of representatives of the two municipalities in the McKeesport council chambers last night. Harry Grove, chairman of the Glassport group, said a petition would be circulated among Glassport residents and laid before Council at their next meeting.

This Bumper Crop Of Snow Has to Be Plowed Under

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

So cold yesterday in New York that we all walked like we had glass ankles.

Old men are weeping bitterly because this winter topped their lies about 1888.

We've had ten big bumper crops of snow. After a conference with the farm board we plowed them under.

Those boys who used to chop holes in the ice to take a swim are now chopping holes in their soup to get something to eat.

We haven't got Florida sunshine here. But neither has Florida. We could use some of that California climate. If they heated it up a little.

There has been plenty of suffering, freezing and starving. But it's great for the boys who got a sled for Christmas.

Naval Man Interested In Pippin

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daughter of Chickie, and Kathie McPike laughingly appeal to Kathie's foster-brother, Kevin Malone, to take them to their first dance. Kevin promises. Then, teased by the two girls because he is eight years older than they, he seizes Pippin and kisses her. Pippin goes home to her mother to secure permission to go to the dance, astonished and thrilled at the first real kiss she had ever known. Given permission, Pippin attends the dance with Kevin and has a glorious time. Chickie thinks her daughter has gone into the strange land of adolescence too soon. Kevin sails to Europe and his first letter thrills Pippin.

Now Go On

CHAPTER VI

For weeks after Kevin's letter arrived Pippin lived in a dream. She wondered what he was doing on the ship. She pictured him standing by the rail looking into moonlit waters and calling—with all his heart calling to her.

In her bureau drawer, hidden under a stack of lace and silk, was his photograph. Quite carelessly, Kevin gave it. "Oh, sure, sweetheart, take it and love it," he consented when Pippin shyly asked if he meant one for her. Now, as soon as she came from school, she closed the door of her room and took out the picture.

The flashing sweet eyes looked darkly, with an enchanting smile, into hers. She thought how noble he was, how glorious. With an anguish of yearning she imagined Kevin towering head and shoulders over other men, cleaner than any—clean and warm as fire.

Once, walking home from school with Kathie, she saw Emmie Lawton standing at the corner. Emmie smoked a cigaret and greeted them with breezy nonchalance, but they knew her eyes darted down the block with a violent awareness.

"She's waiting for Jack Garside," Pippin thought, "and he's not going to show up. He's trying to ditch her, but she won't let him go."

Emmie was a symbol of woman waiting in vain for the man who has grown weary.

Then Pippin met the tall blond ensign. That saved her from fading altogether away in longing for Kevin.

Ensign William Lodge had a traveled air. He was 21, with nice brown eyes and a good clean jaw.

It was at the ship's dance. That, of course, was exciting and different. Being on a ship made her feel nearer to Kevin.

Then, too, it was Janina's party. It was always glittering to have Janina for a chaperon. She made you feel grown up and at home in this startling world. She knew interesting people and drew color to her like a magnet.

She introduced all the dashing young officers, picking them just right. A dark, natty fellow with a mustache and a romantic abstraction led the radiant, madonna-faced Kathie to the floor. A big shouldered boy with a jolly grin for the fair, half-frightened Fay.

Dances With Ensign

And for Pippin, this tall, slim man of the world, looking so tailored with his blond hair slicked back, his heels clicking together, and that nice cleft in his chin. In her opinion, the most attractive of the lot.

He danced with verve. Not, of course, making you long to melt with the music into his very heart . . . as Kevin did.

But he danced well enough. With the soft breeze blowing over the deck and a thousand stars flaring in quiet mirth across the bluest sky. Warm, fragrant night in early spring.

Pippin was all in shimmering green with an emerald crescent holding back her hair. All misty with delight she laughed into her partner's face. She quite took the young man's breath away.

He led her to the forward deck; into dark, song-haunted quiet. They gazed at the golden ferryboats, floating like enchanted palaces down somber water. Beyond the many lights, the city's hundred towers and the trees of Telegraph Hill sketched eerie, inspiring lines on the sapphire canvas of the night.

"It's lovely," sighed the girl. "Does it make you feel sad and happy, too? I love ships and the sea."

Stares at Pippin

"The sea has a spell. Just now I wish I didn't have to spend the next two years far

$1,374,990 Relief Fund Shared Here

Of the $9,575,267 allocated by the state for various forms of relief, Allegheny County's share under the Talbot act for March relief was $1,374,990, according to an Associated Press report.

Among the allocations to colleges for student relief was $7,184 to the University of Pittsburgh, the report said.

PITT TO LAUNCH DRIVE FOR CATHEDRAL

Bowman Tells Alumni Of Project; Seeks $1,650,000

Plans for a $1,650,000 subscription campaign to finish the Cathedral of Learning, to be made public in a few days, were being furthered today by the University of Pittsburgh.

Chancellor John G. Bowman announced the campaign to 1,000 Pitt alumni, observing Charter Day at the Hotel Schenley last night.

Western Pennsylvanians will be asked to subscribe to the fund which, with $950,000 expected from the federal Civil Works Administration, will complete the building according to Dr. Bowman.

Dr. Bowman also disclosed he had been advised from Harrisburg that CWA work on the cathedral would be extended until May 1. The present funds have been exhausted.

EXPRESSES CITY'S PRIDE

In his address setting in motion the final step toward completing the 40-story structure, began nine years ago, Dr. Bowman said:

"The disire that the Cathedral of Learning be finished is in the air. This desire is twofold; first, the building expresses the common aspiration and pride of Pittsburgh; and second, it stands for the truth, dignity and creative life of the youth of Pittsburgh."

The need for providing employment, the moral obligation to assist the national recovery movement, and the fact that federal aid can be obtained if the building is finished now, were emphasized in his address.

BENEFIT TO LABOR

The chancellor spoke also of the significance of $2,600,000 expenditure of the community. Most of it, he declared, would go to labor either at the cathedral or in factories in the district.

If the community provides the $1,650,000, he continued, the university will complete construction and equipment of the first 20 floors and "rough finish" the 20 higher ones. Only seven floors are now available for classrooms.

He predicted:

"Completion of the building will be the beginning of a new era in education at the university. The cathedral will become, in fact, a community of great scholars and of great students who work together in many fields, always, however, toward those things which are true and spiritually right."

The building as it stands, he added, is debt-free, the university having refused to proceed with its erection more rapidly than the collection of funds permitted.

GREETINGS RECEIVED

Dr. Alexander Silverman, head of the department of chemistry, also addressed the alumni gathering which marked the one hundred and forty-seventh birthday of the university.

John W. Hallock, secretary, read messages of congratulation from several persons and organizations, including Dr. J. J. Callahan, president of Duquesne University; Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, president of Washington and Jefferson College; Walter J. Blenko, president of the Alumni Federation of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; Dr. N. R. H. Moor, dean of Trinity Cathedral, and W. Leith DeCoursey, president of the Rotary Club.

Unemployed Club Seeks Aid on Rent

Council has been asked to contribute $100 as rental on four rooms occupied by the Freedom Club, an organization for unemployed, on Federal street.

Club representatives said members were so hard-pressed they had fallen behind in their 10 cents a week dues. The men use the rooms for recreation in the winter, their spokesmen said.

Woman Across Street Hurled From Bed In Mt. Washington

Three children narrowly escaped death early today when a gas explosion, followed by a two-alarm fire, destroyed a two-story frame dwelling at 512 Climax street, damaged two adjoining buildings and shattered windows in a dozen houses in the nearby vicinity.

The blast was caused by an accumulation of gas in the cellar of a fruit market, operated by Joseph Gugliuzza, according to Fire Chief John Heinz. Occupants of the second floor, M. Baggio, his wife and daughter, Mary, 6, were visiting friends when the blast occurred, they said.

Basil Onyshkow, who lives next door at 508 Climax street, was awakened by the blast. He aroused his wife, Theodosia, and then rushed into a rear bedroom where their three children, Lovey Joan, 4; Alice, 10, and Gloria Hope, 6, were asleep. As he reached their beds, flames spurted through a window within a few feet of the children.

CARRIED TO SAFETY

James Harmon, 2, and Shirley Ann, his 5-year-old sister, the children of Francis and Grace Harmon, were taken from their bedroom cribs at 502 Climax street, to the home of neighbors when windows in the home were broken.

Mary Theiler, who has a bakery across the street, was thrown from her bed by the force of the blast. Her daughter, Mary, 3, was unharmed. At 507 Climax street, windows were broken and three families shaken up.

PEDESTRIAN FELLED

George Freund, of 315 McKinley avenue, was knocked down by the force of the explosion as he passed within a few feet of the fruit market.

Also damaged was a vacant garage adjoining the fruit market. John Heinz, newly-appointed fire chief, was in charge at the scene. It was a two-alarm fire and came less than two hours after he had assumed office at midnight.

The city detective bomb and arson squad began an investigation.

Several minutes after the first firemen reached the scene, they sounded a second alarm as flames menaced adjoining homes. They confined their efforts to saving nearby houses when the two-story market and residence caved in and flared up in a huge bonfire.

The explosion was heard nearly a mile away.

SPLIT BUDGET PLAN URGED

Continuous budget control, with appropriations made monthly or quarterly instead of for the entire year, was urged today by J. C. Slippy, former city statistician, in a letter to Councilman W. A. Magee, as a means of preventing deficits.

Slippy proposed detailed work programs for each department, restricting expenditures in each month or quarter to allotment of revenues, and a re-estimate of revenues at the end of each allotment period.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

NEW YORK, March 1.

Landing in Newark from Washington, the pilot put us in the back end of the plane, so it would keep its tail down when the wheels hit the deep snow. To give you an idea how many thousand men clearing the streets in New York, they have misplaced 51 thousand and can't find 'em.

Seven below zero in Washington yesterday morning, and snow a foot deep. Lobbyists standing frozen to death out side of Congressmen's homes. A lobbyist has nothing to keep him warm but his brief case.

The hotels of Washington should erect a monument to Gen. Hugh Johnson. They been coming on pilgrimages by the thousands since last July, to make a code, change a code, or cuss a code. Washington D. C. (damn code).

Yours,
WILL.

MUTES CONFESS MURDER PLOT

ISTANBUL, March 1.—(AP.)—A silent conspiracy of murder that failed was confessed without words to Smyrna police today.

The alleged conspirators were 12 deaf and dumb students of the Deaf Mute School of Smyrna.

The sub-director of the school found them, armed with revolvers, approaching the school office. He called police who arrested them.

According to the sub-director, who could read the language of their hands as they answered the official interrogation, they confessed that they wanted to kill the school director, Nediati Kemal, alleging he had mistreated the inmates of the institution.

12 MEN DROPPED BY JOHNSTON

Director of Public Works Leslie M. Johnston has announced dismissal of these workers in the Bureau of Highways and Sewers:

District Supervisors L. C. Briegel and Peter Ridge; Street Foremen Charles Sheehan, Bart O'Connell, Roy Noel and John Wiseman, and in the asphalt division, Assistant Superintendent George Connors.

In the asphalt division these men are to be furloughed: Plant Foreman William Gipson, Street Foremen Howard J. Kerr, Anthony J. Gerber, George J. Powers and Thomas F. Roundtree.

BELLEFONTE, March 1.—(AP.)—Herbert Showers, 67, was asphyxiated and his housekeeper, Mrs. Ida Kaufman, 60, was overcome by illuminating gas which seeped through the ground and into their home after a train broke an underground main at Pleasant Gap yesterday.

Boy Cuts Fish Hook From Dog's Mouth

MINNEAPOLIS, March 1.—(AP.)—Seeing a fish hook lodged in a dog's upper jaw, Nisson Mandel, 16, local high school student, held a bottle of alcohol under the canine's nose until it became unconscious. Then using the fluid as a disinfectant, Nisson removed the hook with the aid of a knife, the report.

NEW TROUBLE FACES COUNTY PENSION FUND

Members of the county employes pension fund, and the county, must together add 4.62 per cent to their present 6 per cent dues or the retirement fund, now held insolvent, will become further involved, according to a report received by the County Commissioners from George B. Buck.

The report from Buck, who made a special study under the County Controller, will be made a part of the county's reply to a mandamus suit.

SUIT PENDING

This suit, now pending in Common Pleas Court, if decided against the Commissioners, would force them to put approximately $214,000 into the fund.

It was brought by members of the retirement fund board, after and Commissioners C. C. McGovern and C. M. Barr refused the money, asserting the fund, under the present law recently passed, would soon fall to pieces unless adequate remedies were taken.

Buck reported:

"Briefly, the figures herein presented show that under the present law, the assets provided are not sufficient to cover the liabilities, and that if the system continues with its present limited resources, it will gradually tend to a greater degree of insolvency until, ultimately, it will not be able to pay the pension roll even on the reduced basis."

277 ON PENSION

Until the Commissioners withheld the county's share of the expense, those on the retirement rolls got 90 per cent pensions.

Buck's report said there are 3,037 active members of the fund and 277 retired on pensions. The total payroll for the retired members is $223,220—on the 90 per cent basis.

Needed to balance the assets with liabilities, Buck pointed out, is $7,266,572. He added that $4,528,561 is needed to bring about this balance. He said:

"If the men retired on full pension instead of 90 per cent, the pension fund would require 5.72 per cent more, and if on 90 per cent, then 4.62 per cent of the active members' salaries."

FIRE TRAPS 3 SUSPECTS

A fire they had built in the rear vestibule of a chain store to keep them warm while, police say, they were jimmying the door, resulted in the arrest of three 16-year-old North Side youths early today, according to a police report.

Those arrested, charged with entering a building, were James Jack, alias Brown, of 900 Lysle street; William Broder, of 856 Lysle street, and John Burns, of 1238½ Sunday street.

After a hearing before Magistrate Howard D. McNutt in Morals Court they were held for further investigation, along with Samuel Lazarro, 19, of 508 Taylor street. The latter, whom the youths had implicated, was charged with receiving stolen goods.

The trio was arrested in the vestibule in the rear of the store at 1301 Federal street. A pedestrian saw the fire they had built and told police the building was afire. The youths already had jimmied a cellar door when police surprised them, according to the report.

M'Nair Supports Tax-Free Cheese Advocate

With Mayor McNair offering him "moral support," Frank Policastro, of 603 Larimer avenue, has announced his candidacy for Congress.

Policastro declared his support of a free port for Pittsburgh, the "Pittsburgh tax plan" and removal of tariff on products desired by people of Italian origin, such as olive oil and Roman cheese.

He said he would back the policies of the President.

MAGEE URGES RATE CUT FIGHT

Speaking before the inquiry forum of the University of Pittsburgh yesterday, Councilman William A. Magee urged organization of utility customers to initiate fact-finding studies and force lower rates. He said:

"The only way to force lower rates is for the different groups, domestic electric consumers, merchants, street car riders, gas and water users and others to organize and get the facts to present a sound case before the Public Service Commission.

"Utilities are confronted with problems which the average customer does not understand. Sections of the city where utilities' costs are low pay for part of the service in less congested districts where the costs are high, since the price for the service is usually the same throughout the area. Different sections really should have different rates."

DRYS TO BACK M'SPARRAN

HARRISBURG, March 1.—(AP.)—John A. McSparran, state secretary of agriculture, is the candidate of organized drys for Governor.

The leader of the Pennsylvania campaign against prohibition's repeal was indorsed at a state conference of drys last night, a few minutes after he told them that he would seek nomination on the Democratic ticket.

In the primary he will oppose George H. Earle, United States minister to Austria, who has the indorsement of the Democratic state committee, and possibly several independent candidates.

Attended by more than 100 chairmen from 60 counties, the prohibitionists' conference organized a state committee with McSparran as chairman. Mrs. Leah Todd Marion, of Cameron County, and Dr. J. M. McQuilkin, of Carnegie, were named vice chairmen.

Voting to support moral and social legislation, the committee agreed to oppose all attempts "to bring back the old-time saloon and all efforts to overthrow the blue laws of 1794."

UTILITIES ASK FOR DELAY ON METER LISTS

With today the dealine for the filing of meter lists, letters from almost all Pittsburgh public utilities request a time extension to March 10.

They will furnish the lists, the companies declare, under protest and without recognizing the city's legal right to request them or to levy the meter tax. Kerr notified the companies several weeks ago that the lists must be filed by today.

GIVES STAND

A letter from C. S. Mitchell, Philadelphia Company vice president and controller, is typical of all the answers. He writes:

"These corporations are advised by counsel that the ordinance referred to is invalid and illegal as applied to the Duquesne Light Company, the Equitable Gas Company and the Allegheny Steam Heating Company."

RULING SOUGHT

All the utilities indicate that the lists will be furnished without prejudice to their right to fight the tax in the courts. The Bell Telephone Company, in addition, calls Kerr's attention to its suit to restrain the city from levying the tax.

Only one company, the Pittsburgh Suburban Water Service Company, filed a list. It owns 94 meters.

M'NAIR AIDE KEEPS 2 JOBS

Ending a controversy over the management of the Keystone Driller Company, Leslie M. Johnston today was back at the helm of the company and remaining in office as city Public Works Director.

Johnston was re-elected president and general manager of the Keystone company at a meeting of the directors in Beaver Falls yesterday. A group of stockholders had opposed him on the ground that he could not devote attention to both the private business and the city job.

Dr. R. J. G. McKnight, of Wilkinsburg, resigned from the board of directors to make a place for Johnston, whose re-election as head of the company followed.

As president and general manager of the Keystone company, Johnston will receive a salary of $8,000 a year. He held the office until a recent stockholders' meeting, when he was not re-elected to the directorate. He was reinstated as a director on insistence of bank creditors of the company.

MACHINE REPAIR COST $400,000

Allegheny County's voting machines will be repaired by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company on a cost plus basis, with the county auditing the costs, it was understood today following several conferences between County Commissioners and company engineers.

While the county has reached no decision, it was understood repairing the 1,100 machines will cost $400,000 to $600,000. Rebates may reduce the figure considerably.

The machines were approved last week by Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

P. R. R. OFFICERS PROMOTED

The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad today announced two promotions in the Pittsburgh office. They are effective immediately.

Elmer B. Hankey, division freight agent, was moved up to assistant general freight agent, and Guernsey Orcutt, assistant general solicitor, was made assistant general counsel. Both will remain in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hankey was born in Parnassus, Pa., and began his career with the Pennsylvania at the Sixteenth street freight station. In 1925 he was transferred to Philadelphia as division freight agent, a position he had held here for a time. He returned to Pittsburgh in 1929.

Attorney Orcutt entered the company's service following the World War. He is a graduate of Beloit College and the Chicago Kent College of Law.

FIVE SUSPECTS HELD IN SOUTH

Capt. Jacob Mauk, of Troop H, State Police at Greensburg, today said five men being held at Ft. Pierce, Fla., were wanted for garage and drug store holdups in Johnstown and Nant-y-Glo, Cambria County.

The suspects were arrested in the alleged $40 holdup of a filling station near Ft. Pierce. Three women also were taken into custody. The men, according to an Associated Press dispatch, gave their names as James Gowen, Thomas Gowen, Francis Blanda, Henry Dysen and J. Gates, all of Nant-y-Glo. The women said they were from Valdosta, Ga.

"I KNOW YOU CAN'T HELP THE TIME, MY DEAR, BUT YOU CAN HELP THE PAIN"

NRA

It's unnecessary to have "regular" pain, or even any discomfort at such a time. That's true, and it's just too bad for the girl who does not realize it. All you have to do is this:

Watch the calendar. Just before your time, take a Midol tablet and drink a glass of water, and you may escape the expected pain entirely. If not, a second tablet should relieve it in seven to ten minutes. That is how rapidly this remedy works!

Midol relieves even those who have always had a difficult time. Relief is such that two tablets should see you through the worst day. Yet they contain no narcotic, nothing injurious. They're as harmless as the aspirin you take for an ordinary headache. But don't be fooled by ordinary pain tablets offered as a specific for calendar pain. Midol is a special medicine, for this special purpose. Your druggist has it on the counter—or just ask for Midol.

Powder Cleans and Whitens Teeth—as nothing else can

THERE is nothing known that will clean and polish teeth so quickly and leave them so gleaming white—as POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know—always uses powder.

As it is only the powder part of any dentifrice that cleans, a dentifrice that is ALL POWDER just naturally cleans best.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—100% cleansing properties. This is more than twice the cleansing properties of tooth pastes.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder cleans off all stains and tartar, and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling—many shades whiter. Free from all grit or pumice, it cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN and clean teeth mean—firm, healthy gums, freedom from pyorrhea and the least possible tooth decay.

Once you use powder you will never go back to a less scientific way of tooth cleansing. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed, and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is not only doubly efficient, but it costs only half as much to use. Even a small package lasts twice as long as a tube of tooth paste.

RELIEF BOARD CONSOLIDATION ADVOCATED

(One way to bring about governmental economy is to abolish the existing poor boards and distribute all relief under a county board, Dr. Charles H. Frazier, of Philadelphia, states. This is the forty-fifth article of a series being published by the Sun-Telegraph in its campaign to reduce taxes through elimination of duplication and overlapping in governmental services.)

Abolition of the present poor boards throughout the state to be replaced by a consolidated county welfare board was urged today by Dr. Charles H. Frazier, of Philadelphia, as a means of bringing about a new deal in public welfare in this state. Dr. Frazier, president of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, urges drastic changes in public welfare administration as a means of reducing cost of government.

The plan advanced by Dr. Frazier calls for an appointed unpaid citizens' board in each county. The board would select a paid director. Dr. Frazier proposes that the new county welfare boards administer poor relief, mothers' assistance, old age and blind assistance as well as direct the care of dependent and neglected children.
ent and neglected children. This was adopted by the executive committee of the state association.

BENEFITS CITED

Such a change would have a widespread effect in Allegheny County. It would mean abolition of the present poor board and the city welfare department and the taking over of much of the work of the Juvenile Court. The Mothers Assistance Fund also would be replaced.

The statement of the executive committee and Dr. Frazier is to the effect that over the state as a whole, and with few local exceptions, poor relief is wasteful and inefficient.

He pointed out that in 15 counties the "antiquated and ineffective township and borough poor districts persist; in the state as a whole some 920 poor directors operating in 424 poor districts administer about 12 million dollars a year with an administrative cost of about two million dollars."

Dr. Frazier said:

"One reason for the change is found in the need for the reduction of the costs of local government through the consolidation of local public welfare services. A single county welfare unit, soundly organized and equipped with qualified personnel, could administer poor relief, mothers' assistance, old age assistance, blind pensions and other local public welfare services with consequent unification of policy, increase in efficiency, and saving of the taxpayers' money."

STRESSES NEED

Dr. Frazier declared there is need also for a simpler, clearer and more comprehensive public relief policy.

He added:

"The existence of human need is the primary basis for relief—not the possession of certain formal requirements of eligibility as an unemployed worker, a widow, a veteran, an aged or blind person. Such laws can be administered satisfactorily only by a single local welfare agency, with unified policy and administration."

The executive committee of the association points out that the plan proposed is not a political issue; it is a plain question of good government, public economy and sound public welfare policy. The adoption of a modern county welfare plan will save money for the taxpayer and will bring about the more humane and effective administration of the public social services to those who are most in need of relief and service from the county and state.

U. S. Surtax Paid On Net Incomes Above $6,000

The normal income tax rate is 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of personal exemption, credit for dependents and other allowable deductions and 8 per cent on the excess over the first $4,000.

In addition, a surtax is levied on any net income in excess of $6,000. In computing surtax, no deduction is allowed for personal exemption or credit for dependents. The surtax rates increase in proportion to the excess over $6,000. The rate on income in excess of $6,000 and not in excess of $10,000 is 1 per cent. The higher rates are shown on a schedule in the instructions on form 1040. The surtax on a net income of $10,000 would be $40.

Husbands and wives, both of whom have incomes, may either file a joint return or they may file separate returns. In case separate returns are filed, each must report only his or her own income. Personal exemption may be taken by either or divided in any proportion. Credit for dependents may be taken by either but cannot be divided.

Where combined net income of a husband and wife, after deducting personal exemptions and credit for dependents is in excess of $4,000 it is to their advantage to file separate returns since the tax can be kept within the 4 per cent bracket while a joint return would show income reaching into the 8 per cent bracket. In larger incomes, savings on surtax also can be made.

If a husband had a net income of $6,000 and his wife a net income of $2,500 they should file separate returns in most cases. The husband should claim the personal exemption of $2,500 since this would leave him a taxable income of $3,500 which would be within the 4 per cent bracket. The wife's income also would be taxable at 4 per cent. The husband's tax would be $140 and the wife's tax $100, or a total of $240.

If they filed a joint return the combined net income would be $8,500. After deducting personal exemption of $2,500 taxable income of $6,000 would remain. Of this $4,000 would be taxable at 4 per cent or $160. The remainder of $2,000 would be taxable at 8 per cent or $160. The total tax would be $320 or $80 more than the result from filing separate returns.

TAX DEDUCTIONS FOR MOTORISTS

Deductions on 1933 income tax returns available to motor vehicle owners and drivers were announced today by the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

Deductions include registration fees, operators' license fees, loss by accident unless the owner has been reimbursed, and interest paid on personal indebtedness, including that on loans carried by finance companies. Loss by accident covers damage to vehicles in accidents, loss through fire or theft, and damage due to freezing.

Owners of vehicles used solely for business purposes may, in addition, deduct operating cost and depreciation at the rate of 25 per cent on the original purchase price for pleasure cars and from 10 to 30 per cent on trucks. A proportionate deduction is allowed for cars used partly for business, club officials said.

CRAFTON WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Mollie Kunzelman, of Noblestown road, Crafton, who testified before Judge W. Heber Dithrich that her husband was not sober six months during a period of three years, was granted a divorce from John Kunzelman.

Divorce suits have been filed by Marcella Sheppard against Franklin Sheppard, Dorothy Bailey against John D. Bailey, Theodore R. Zilch against Esther L. Zilch, Retta Harberth against Joseph J. Harberth, Virginia B. Northnagel against Charles E. Northnagel, Mary L. Callaway against William E. Callaway, Esther Kleimberg against Louis Kleimberg, Alfred Scarnati against Velma Scarnati, Catherine Parcellio against Benjamin Parcellio, M. Virginia Van Deusen against Robert L. Fulkerson against Amelia Fulkerson, Theodore Evans against Madlee Evans and by Joseph R. Brown against Carrybelle Brown.

Divorces were granted to Mollie Kunzelman from John Kunzelman, Louis V. Shollenberger from Helen D. Shollenberger, Isaac D. Barratt from Edith A. Barratt and to Joseph H. Pickford from Tillie Pickford.

LAWRENCE AIDS TAXPAYERS

David L. Lawrence, collector of Internal Revenue in the Pittsburgh district, announced that his office, second floor, Federal Building, will remain open under a new schedule of hours until March 15; the last day income tax returns for 1933 may be filed without a penalty.

The office will be open at 8:30 a. m. On Saturday it will remain open until 4 p. m., and thereafter until March 12, until 5 p. m. It will close on March 13 at 6 p. m., and on March 14 at 9 p. m. On March 15 it will stay open until midnight.

The collector will have on duty a large force of deputy collectors and clerks, to assist taxpayers to prepare returns.

Attorney to Talk On Jews' Survival

Attorney Samuel L. Fuss will discuss "How Shall the Jews Survive?" at a public meeting of the Socialist and Workmen's Circle at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow. The group will meet in the Socialist Center, 1862 Center avenue.

State Officials to Urge Adoption of Sales Tax

Kiwanis in Pitcairn To Hear Talk By Meyer

Reasons for the enactment of manufacturers' sales tax legislation by Congress will be discussed before members of the Kiwanis Club of Pitcairn at its weekly meeting tonight in the First Presbyterian Church, Third street, Pitcairn, by John D. Meyer, former United States Attorney and now assistant state attorney general.

Mr. Meyer has made an exhaustive study of the proposed legislation which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers are urging Congress to enact as a substitution for the income tax and is convinced that the sales tax is fundamental for permanent economic recovery.

Property owners already heavily burdened with taxes would be relieved of part of this unjust load in the enactment of a manufacturers' sales tax, according to F. F. Hilsman, Braddock merchant and president of the Braddock Building and Loan Association, advocating passage of sales tax legislation.

E. A. Hering, president of the Community Home Saving and Loan Association, also of Braddock, will seek action by members of the association's board and urge congressional enactment of sales tax law. He said:

"I advocate enactment of the sales tax because I believe it to be more equitable and under it more revenue would be raised."

The income tax imposes unfair burdens upon a limited number of taxpayers in the opinion of A. N. Simons, president of the Blawnox Building and Loan Association.

Others voicing similar sentiment were C. P. Fording, president of the Seventh Ward Building and Loan Association; Nick Heisler, president of the new Eighteenth Ward German Building and Loan Association, and D. C. Dixon, president of the Lemington Building and Loan Association.

"Two things I wanted—

"I found out my trouble—

". . . more strength and a clear skin."

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, a clear skin, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-glo-bin, the red-coloring of the blood, may also cause a weakened condition of the body . . . loss of strength . . . poor appetite.

Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin.

Why not set in motion the rebuilding of these precious blood-cells instead of procrastinating and sacrificing your appearance and the feeling of being well and fit?

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, try S.S.S. It is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite . . . your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. Its value has been proven by generations of use, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

You will find S.S.S. at all drug stores in two sizes . . . the larger is more economical. © The S.S.S. Co.

". . . and it was all so simple . . . my physician said I had no organic disease, but I did have what is so commonly and truthfully called a low percentage of hemo-glo-bin in the blood. It didn't take S.S.S. very long to get my blood back up to normal . . . and as my strength and energy returned my skin cleared up."

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

Without dashing across the ocean to Paris, without bothering about the rate of exchange for the dollar, without going farther than the heart of their own Golden Triangle, smart Pittsburghers can have a night or two in the Latin quarter.

For the Architectural Club will put on a fool-proof duplication of that famous Parisian artists' corner again this year—in gay Easter week. And the Junior League again is the sponsor—the nights are Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7, in the Architectural Clubhouse in Charette way, the most amusing clubhouse, this writer thinks, in all Pittsburgh.

The architects, who added to the amusing decorations of their clubhouse a year ago for the first soiree charette, who gave a floor show received with roars of laughter, who as bewhiskered waiters served beer and pretzels, are planning even a grander scale of Latin Quarterism for this year.

And I almost forgot the music—an amusing mixture of college glee club and hill-billy stuff—was furnished by Pittsburgh's own debonair young architects.

Today the Jury of Award—the jury to judge sketches submitted for invitations to the soiree charette—met in the Architectural Club to choose the winner.

On the jury are Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland and Mrs. W. McCook Reed, of the Junior League arts and interests committee; Norwood MacGilvary and William Boyd, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Slack.

Heavy Snowfall Revives Sport Of Gay 90's

In the party in this picture, are Mrs. Lewis W. Hicks, Jr., Mrs. Arthur B. Van Buskirk, Mrs. John Follansbee, Mrs. Murray Grimes and Mrs. Albert Horne Burchfield, Jr., with their children, Lewis Hicks III, George and Joseph Van Buskirk, John Follansbee, Jr., Helen Virginia Grimes, Shirley Follansbee, Nancy Burchfield and Albert H. Burchfield III.

After hot chocolate at Longue Vue Country Club, this group of young matrons and their children piled into Farmer George Dollman's sleigh, snuggled deep into the straw, and were off for a ride over the hills surrounding snow-decked Longue Vue.

Skiing and coasting are other sports enjoyed during the snowfall at Longue Vue Country Club, with Sunday afternoon the favorite time for winter sports lovers.

Drawing the sleigh were two strong horses—the type one sees in farm horse classes in horse shows. And notice the lantern hung high at the front of the sleigh to light the way for the horses on the return trip.

H. L. Lang to Address P. T. A. of Aspinwall

Pianist, 14, Makes Debut at Soiree In Mt. Lebanon

A large audience attended the second musical soiree given by the music department of the Mt. Lebanon Women's Club last night in the home of Mrs. Adolph Krebs, Parkway drive.

The occasion marked the debut of a 14-year-old Mt. Lebanon pianist, George Garratt, who presented an all-Chopin program. For encores the young artist played two of his own compositions, a prelude and a brilliant four-part tone poem titled "Fantasie."

Mrs. Harold T. Hanson, club president, gave a program of Japanese musical sketches, using old Japanese school songs as well as the works of the modern composer, Yamada. Mrs. Hanson's work is particularly compelling because of the stamp of authenticity which marks each offering, the singer having for many years taught music in Japan.

Mrs. Edna Todd Batz, contralto, chose for her selections Tschaikowsky's "Nun Wer die Sehnsucht Kennt" and Liszt's descriptive arrangement of "Die Lorelei," and Harold G. Watkins, a graduate of the London College of Music, gave a trio of violin numbers.

Mrs. A. E. Loeffler presented the program and accompanists were Mae Barth Kinder, Luella Volmrich and Marjorie Selkovits.

Federation Friendship Tour to Visit Far East

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

California, Honolulu, Panama Canal, Japan, China, the Philippines and the West Indies will be included in the itinerary for the General Federation of Women's Clubs' second annual world friendship tour.

The party will sail from New York June 21, returning to Seattle on September 4 and will again be personally conducted by the federation president, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, who is a world traveler.

The success of the first friendship tour last year encouraged the Federation to propose this second tour, Mrs. Poole points out.

Much has been heard of the European clubs and their activities, but it is not generally realized that there are clubs in the Far East which are just as closely linked to the Federation in oneness of purpose as those of the West, she says.

Believing that the opportunities of such a tour might prove one of the best pieces of international relations work possible, the present itinerary has been carefully selected.

The 25 clubs in the various countries to be visited will be called upon and a round of receptions, dinners, luncheons and other entertainment will be given for the tourists, who will also be received at the embassies and legations. Travel talks will be given en route by Mrs. Poole.

That small beginnings in regards to dollars have large beginning in a style-wise way! For never have we laid our winter-weary orbs on such an array of clear bright shades . . . such fabrics . . . such smartness for a mere $1.25! Picture the crisp spring-like effect that a plaid tissue gingham blouse will have upon weary spirits—soft in its lines and gathered into a lastex band at the waist! Others, too, at this price . . . smart and wearable for right now!

And then progress to their snootier sisters which are SO like pure dye crepe that you'd almost find yourself swearing they WERE! Here are the new aquarelle sung of by fashionable souls . . . yearned for by every feminine fancy . . . pounced upon by one and all who know the value of such as these when it comes to perking up a suit (to wear under your fur coat, dears!) or by way of giving a swank set to your shoulders when you trot out in one of the otherwise "old" skirts!

Here also the new yellows . . . and one look at these makes anyone proud to show their "yellow streaks" this season. See the tuckings . . . the bows . . . the criss-cross pleating down the frontage! Oh, just gaze at them and then deny, if you can, that they're bargains for $2.98!

And of course . . . they go on . . . and on . . . through a maze of finest new fabrics like "hi-ho" . . . and "peep-hole" and other gaily named types . . . with the new "rope necks" (no, we aren't asking you to hang yourself!) . . . the Roman striped cravat satin blouses . . . and the genteel distinction of the very feminine all handmade georgette-and-lace number! All the blouse concerns in the country must have broken down and spilled their contents over these counters!

Time Out! While we whisper this news flash which just reached us!

Rouge . . . oh pink cheeked damsels . . . rouge! At 30c the box . . . for GOOD rouge too. Also at 3 for 85c if you go for this buying in lots and thriftily keeping yourself supplied at low cost! By a well known cosmetic house . . . whose name, when you hear it, will send you all prying your way through to the table which holds these.

So . . . back to our second loves of the moment . . . these redingote frocks we have dug out.

Two styles . . . wool crepe coats in the new length which is VERY important (get this . . . we have had it impressed upon us—coats are about three inches above dress lines!) . . . and underneath them, clever print frocks, crepe of course, and looking too sophisticated, springy and swank for words! Various color combinations—the buyer herself grabbed us and exclaimed, "My dear, wait until you see the HOT emerald coat with the black-and-white print under it!" And she was right . . . it was "HOT" . . . they were all HOT . . . off the fashion griddle in New York or wherever it is! For $22.50 . . . you get a swellish coat of wool crepe . . . with leather belt . . . much windblown to the front . . . as well as a cute print with tricky neck and short sleeves. Beiges and tans . . . navy and navy-and-white prints . . . all copies of Schiaparelli's lates brain child. Just knockouts, and that's putting it mildly!

Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance

Competition Often a Good Tonic for Boy Friend

Your boy friend says I am WHO-EE.

He says so every evening, as he opens the Sun-Telegraph to my column.

"Go ahead now and read your WHO-EE friend," he says.

And you keep on reading. And he keeps on bringing you the same paper, and opening it at the same page.

Yet he insists he will "choke on his pepper," if he ever before read such hot stuff.

But he hasn't choked yet. And you repeat the dose to him, and he listens. Furthermore, after he has lent an ear from the depths of his easy chair, he says:

"Who's WHOO-EE now?"

HAS OBJECTIONS

He is one of those big he-men who won't accept the fact out loud that women are out in the business world. He audibly insists women should be on the sheltered side of life's ship, and awaiting the big blustering fellow who sweeps all obstacles ahead of him, but who is just a "real home man" when in his own home boat.

He was fed out of the spoon of such ideals when he was a little codger and his fond mamma trained him. She had trailing skirts and said "yes" to everything papa said was right.

Women who are in print GALL him. Especially if they make the front page. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Pinchot. He's against them, he says. Also Elsie Robinson and Adele Garrison. They ought to be chained.

But queer, isn't it, how he listens to all that such women do?

He has been rushing you for seven years, you say. He brings you big boxes of chocolate candies, all tied with fussy ribbons. And he takes you to his clubs, where he talks up to the waiters in his deep he-man tones and says his butter must be of the sweet variety and his mushrooms must be as large as the buttons on your sport coat.

The other evenings, he lolls on that easy chair you bought just for him, and lets you read, or wait on him.

LONG ENGAGEMENT

For he hasn't gotten his mind adjusted yet to paying you the biggest compliment any man can give you, that of making you his wife.

The trouble is, you are a working woman.

So you strap-hang every day but Sunday. And put your coat and hat where the other girls' wraps are. And you clerk in the shop until the eight-hour run is exhausted.

When your feet are ready to drop off with weariness and when your head goes around like the buzz of a saw, you hurry home and creep up the stairs of your walkup and powder your nose and rouge your cheeks again. And then comes his ring at the door.

Gee, how fresh he is. A flower in his buttonhole. And a Jimmy Walker crease in his trousers. And the great big kiss. For you and he are engaged, have been for ever so long. Just a mozey sort of an engagement, though. No remembered beginning. No selected ending.

And all the while you can tell he is dreaming of the stay-at-home girl, sitting at the spinning wheel. You are wise to the fact if he would but meet her, he couldn't see her for the dust of his feet. She wouldn't have a cocktail. Her glass would be upside down. He couldn't call her WHOO-EE. For she wouldn't understand his language.

To prove this, you can recall the evening he came in dripping wet, and needing a cough remedy. He had stood on Smithfield street, in the downpour, watching women strikers who were carrying placards of protest on their backs.

LIFE DRIFTING BY

The joke was on him. But you didn't tell him. Instead you goth the arnica.

The trouble is, sister, you have drawn for yourself one of the brotherhood of men who is a ONE MAN'S MAN. And that man is HIMSELF.

And if you really think he is worthy of the landing, hadn't you better get busy?

You are burning a good deal of daylight.

That he-man of yours owes you something more than the kind of butter he likes and the sort of mushrooms that suit his taste.

You shouldn't be strap-hanging, and him whizzing by in a limousine.

You are letting life drift. You are making it too simple for the boy friend.

There are such things, sister, as not answering the door bell.

There are cousins who might be willing to give you a round of pleasure if you hinted. And when such does happen, be sure and boast of it to the "regular."

Just try being ONE HUNDRED PER CENT MODERN. Then watch who will be WHOO-EE.

A newspaper picture from Paris shows Raymond Duncan, brother of the late Isadora Duncan, marching in his classic Greek robes!

A year or so ago, I spied him in a railroad station, not unlike the famous Diogenes—but looking for a train. Where are Penelope and "Jr.?"

Long ago I called at a large barn to cartoon the "Grecian" Duncans. Penelope was weaving at a great hand loom.

"Jr." was a pugnacious little imp. He hit me over the head with a lath-like spare part of Penelope's loom.

The youngster did not seem so enthusiastic over this Greek idealism, and I was not surprised to read some years later that he had gone in for Oxford tweeds and turtle-neck sweaters.

How to Keep Well

Facts About 'Rat-Bite Fever'

In my mail the other day I had a pathetic letter from a frantic mother who anxiously inquired about "rat bite fever." She wanted to know if it is a serious disease. Her young child, aged 2½ years, had recently been bitten by a rat. He was seriously ill in a hospital.

Dr. Copeland

I hastened to assure the worried mother that her child would undoubtedly recover from his ailment. Though rat bite fever is a strange and alarming disease, it is rarely, if ever, fatal.

The disease is caused, of course, by the bite of a rat. Several cases recently reported were traced to the bites of other animals, such as the cat, field mouse, weasel, dog and even the pig. It is a common disease in Japan and China, but is less frequently seen in this country. It is only found where rats are unusually common and the public hygiene is poor.

As a rule, the first sign of the disease does not appear until several weeks after the bite. The original wound heals and after a period it becomes inflamed and swollen. Following this, there is a sudden chill and then a fever. After a few days of fever the temperature falls to normal. After a period of a few days during which the patient has no complaint, the fever returns.

The fever may disappear again, but soon recurs and such periodical attacks are repeated for several weeks. Of course, there are other signs, such as nausea, irritability, restlessness, and severe pains in the muscles and joints. In adults, the fever may lead to delirium. As a rule, the young victim has serious digestive disturbances which greatly weaken the sufferer and lead to a marked condition of undernourishment.

For many years, little was known concerning this disease. But the cause of the strange malady is now known. It is caused by a microscopic germ called the "spirochaeta morsus moris." These germs are found in the blood of the rat and by the bite are transmitted to the victim.

I believe that too little attention is given to the menace of rats. Besides the economic waste they cause, they are carriers of filth and disease.

A Sequel to Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Avis Faces One More Disappointment.

Never in my life have I known a person so hard to discourage as is Avis Arlen, when she has set her heart upon anything. Her persistence in getting her own way in things that cater to her vanity would surely work wonders for her if applied to matters worth while.

I had made this mental comment many times, but never did it appear more vividly to me than when she turned to Marion and Carolyn with the query: "Won't you have to ask your mothers before you go?"

Her mental processes were fairly clear to me; indeed, to anyone who had observed her to any extent. Failing in her scheme to separate Noel and Mary, she had also been thwarted in her subsequent determination to upset the wedding arrangements and to make the bride and groom as uncomfortable as possible. Thanks to my own vigilance, and to that of Harry and Lillian Underwood, the wedding ceremony had gone off without a hitch, and I now rejoiced in the thought that, because of a clever disguise and Mary's inimitable mimicry, the young couple had been able to get away without running the gauntlet of teasing usually suffered by newly married couples.

For a few minutes of that hectic guarding of Noel and Mary against the schemes of Avis Arlen I had felt genuinely sorry for the girl, because I thought she was actually suffering from thwarted affection for Noel. But if there had been any remnant of that feeling left in my mind, it surely would have vanished when I saw the determined attempt she was making to go with Ronald and Bob upon the chase after Noel and Mary, without having Marion and Carolyn present.

LILLIAN CONSENTS

The rebuff from Bob, when he had responded to Carolyn's urgence that Avis should go by saying that neither he nor Ronald would stir without Marion and Carolyn, had not feazed her, as Dicky would put it.

Accustomed to deceive her own mother whenever she wanted anything beyond Mrs. Arlen's most indulgent regime, I knew that Avis was counting gleefully upon a refusal from Mrs. Brixton and Mrs. Underwood to let their daughters go upon the chase after Mary and Noel, when she, as she patently thought, had forced their hands by asking if they did not have to get their mothers' consent to the expedition.

I could have caroled a pean as Lillian spoke behind him.

"They already have asked their mothers, Avis," she said sweetly. "Mrs. Brixton and I gave our consent hours ago for a chase, if you young people don't go too far."

Lillian gave him a dubious grin.

"It's rather a large order," she said, 'but go to it."

COILED COBRA

"Hooray!" Bob caught Carolyn by the arm and rushed from the room. I saw Marion nudge Ronald, and knew that it was by her compulsion that he caught Marion's hand in one of his and that of Avis in the other, and rushed from the room.

Lillian looked after them with knitted brows.

"A cobra coiled, that one," she said. "I'd like to have the skinning of it."

"Perhaps you will, some time," I said, laughing at her viciousness. "Just now, let's go and see what's doing."

We reached the driveway to find them all engaged in "razzing" Hank and Bill for their failure to recognize Noel and Mary in the garments of Mr. and Mrs. Ticer. Lillian and I could plainly see that their expectations of catching Noel and Mary were low, and that the fun of the drive through the moonlight was what appealed to them.

I came to the rescue of Bill and Hank by telling the others what a marvelous performance Mary had given, and then listened with amusement to their discussion as to how seven people were going to pile into a small car. But my amusement ceased when Avis said:

"Why couldn't Bill and I take the runabout?"

INFORMAL TOILETTE BECOMES GRACEFUL, TRAILING

By PRUNELLA WOOD

IT IS THE vogue these days to make a formal toilette of some extent, even if nothing more than your roommate is to sit opposite you at the dinner table. And for many girls, it is the loose, graceful tea gown that spells a quick change from business to butterily every night at home. Any active maiden can get out of her office costume, in and out of her shower and into her over-the-neck hostess gown in 14 minutes flat, ready for anyone who punches her doorbell later on, even though he call in tails and a high hat.

THE COMPANION piece to the hostess gown is the slightly casual evening gown which has a longish skirt, possible to manage inconspicuously in the trolley, a good decollete, and a cape, scarf, or jacket to transform the whole effect from a ball dress to a concert costume.

This is the sort of outfit that is invaluable on those week-end visits when the antics of the hostess are an unknown quality. Will she drag everyone out to a high time at the country club, or will she think that dancing to the radio between rubbers of contract and ping pong is the ideal Saturday night? A convertible dress will fool her, either way, causing no blush of under or over dressing to stain the guest's cheek.

THERE ARE perfectly lovely fabrics, all soft, which go into the making of such costumes as these informal numbers. Chiffon, often combined with flat crepe or very soft satin; lace, which is enormously smart in its 1934 revival, and those new thin, washable velvets are all appropriate to two-timing evening toilettes. Naturally, extravagant earrings and the necklaces of paste and other deceivers help out these costumes a lot.

Chiffon, with a tulip embossed bodice makes the citron yellow tea gown (left, below). The buckle is emerald green. Right, a not too elaborate evening gown, with a charming back and the new, very low decolletage in front.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Well Played and Well Defended

In watching the play of a no-trump hand by an expert Dummy player, the average spectator is amazed at the almost perfect sequence in which the cards are played to achieve the maximum result. Similarly, the defense of experts, even against very fine play, still gives the Declarer many difficulties, despite the fact that from the bidding the latter can locate most of the high cards.

Today's hand shows the successful making of a three-no-trump contract by Mr. Albert H. Morehead, despite the difficult defense put up by East and West.

East, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ 8 4 ♡ A Q 7 2 ◇ Q 8 ♣ K Q J 10 7
♠ 10 6 5 2 ♡ J 9 3 ◇ J 10 7 2 ♣ 8 2	North West East South	♠ A Q J 9 ♡ K 10 8 ◇ K 6 5 ♣ 9 4 3
	♠ K 7 3 ♡ 6 5 4 ◇ A 9 4 3 ♣ A 6 5

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding needs no comment. Mr. Morehead became the eventual Declarer at three no-trump against the Opening lead of the spade 2 by West. East played the Knave of spades and Mr. Morehead won with the King, and now proceeded to run his clubs. On the last two clubs East was faced with two very difficult discards, but unhesitatingly blanked his diamond King.

Mr. Morehead, from the bidding, knew that East must hold both Kings, but was not certain at this point whether one of them was now blank or whether East had kept two cards in each of the red suits. Moreover, he was certain from the Opening lead that the spades were split 4-4. He accordingly led a spade from Dummy in an effort to throw East in for an early end-play. East realized, however, that if he went up with a high spade he would naturally be giving up on the hand as he would be forced to give Declarer his ninth trick. He accordingly gambled on the possibility that his partner held the spade 10 and played the nine from his own hand. West won this trick with the Ten and, realizing the situation, did not blindly return the suit but promptly laid down the Knave of hearts, hoping thereby to get his partner out of the impending throw-in.

Mr. Morehead now had a difficult decision to make. If East held two cards in each red suit his proper play would consist in winning the Ace of hearts, and then throwing East in with a low heart. However, if East originally held three hearts the proper play would consist of losing the first round of that suit by playing the Queen and thereby eventually confirming his suspicion as to the present diamond division. After a little deliberation, Mr. Morehead finally made the right decision and played the Queen of hearts from Dummy. East won with the King and, after cashing his two spade tricks, returned the Ten of hearts, which was won with the Dummy's Ace. Mr. Morehead now knew that his only hope was that East had blanked his King of diamonds and accordingly led a low diamond from Dummy. He won the last two tricks with the Ace and Queen of diamonds, thereby fulfilling his contract of three notrump. Had East not blanked his King of diamonds early in the play, Mr. Morehead would then have gone up with the heart Ace in Dummy on West's lead of the Knave and thrown East in for a diamond end-play.

This is actually what East had hoped would occur, and, had Mr. Morehead guessed incorrectly, East would have been able to take two heart tricks in addition to the three spade tricks and defeat the contract.

Household Hints

When there is a little suet to spare mince it up and add the right quantity of flour, then mix well and put into a glass jar ready for use. On the next busy morning this forms the basis of a quickly-made pudding.

To save constant basting of a chicken or other roast poultry, insert two large walnuts of butter between the skin and the breast. After inserting the butter, prop up the chicken in the roasting-tin, breast downwards, on two pieces of bread.

Turpentine is excellent for cleaning porcelain baths and enamel ware.

Arrange several lines in the scullery on which to hang the clothes, then light the oven of the gas cooker to heat the room, leave the window open one inch for the moisture to escape, then close the door, and you will find you will be able to dry your clothes very quickly and at a very low cost. This is much better than using a clothes horse.

Smoky Rooms

Smoky rooms can be cleaned if a few drops of vinegar are placed on a hot shovel and allowed to burn. Another way is to take out a small red-hot cinder, place it on a shovel, and pour a few drops of vinegar on it. The same process is excellent in a sick room, using eau de cologne or other perfume instead of vinegar.

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Fight Gate to Be Lean.
Promoters Facing Loss.
Decision System Differs.
Healey's Slow Progress.
Moguls Eye Bonus Plan.
Pitt's Many Floor Tests.

The gate at the Carnera-Loughran heavyweight title fight in Miami is not likely to be helped to any appreciable extent by the postponements, the first of which, at least, may be attributed to a lean advance sale. The match simply doesn't measure up as a championship card. Neither principal is a magnet and the intake will be in sharp contrast to the $400,000 drawn by Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling in the same town five years ago or even the $160,000 attracted by Sharkey and Phil Scott there four years back. The receipts may not go beyond $50,000 sending the heavyweight championship dollar below the level of 1899, when Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey drew $60,000, and certainly they will not come near the hopes of Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, and other officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

J. R. Kilpatrick

There appears to be no chance for the Garden promoters to escape financial loss. The set-up calls for 40 per cent to Carnera, 12½ per cent to Loughran, 10 per cent to the Dade County militia units and Harvey W. Seeds Post No. 29 of the American Legion, and $30,000 for repairs to the arena. Even if the show were to draw $100,000 above taxes, which is very unlikely, the Garden would have only $7,500 with which to pay for the six four-round preliminaries, officials, advertising, and general promotional expenses. A $50,000 gate would leave the promoters in the red to the extent of $11,250, without counting the cost of preliminaries and other expenses of promotion. So the operators can't come close to breaking even with a house of less than $100,000, and it would take a big rush at the eleventh hour to bring the sale anywhere near those figures.

POINTS AND MAJORITY VOTE TO DECIDE

The Carnera-Loughran argument, in which Carnera still looks like the probable winner in decisive fashion on youth and size, perhaps by a knockout, cannot be decided by a foul. This for the simple reason that the low punch is now ignored in Florida as almost everywhere else in the country. The fighters are protected against injury and a low punch can do no damage.

There will be two exceptions to the systems followed in most states. In Pennsylvania, New York and many other centers, the referee's vote does not count unless the judges disagree, and in that event his verdict is final. But in the Miami fight, the majority opinion of the three officials—referee and two judges—will prevail. A three-way verdict will mean a draw.

The other exception is that each official will arrive at his verdict on the total points basis used in Illinois, instead of by the ridiculous rounds-won system. In each round, each official must divide 10 points between the fighters, according to his judgment, and at the finish each official will give his verdict to the man with the higher total on his scorecard. A round won by a shade will not be sufficient to offset a frame won by the other man by a wide margin.

FIFTH TRAINING TRIP AND STILL ON TRIAL

No young ball player ever showed greater perseverance in trying to make the major league grade in the face of repeated failures than has been displayed by Frank Healey, youthful catcher of the Giants. And no big league club ever exhibited patience and hope in a larger measure in carrying a recruit than New York has done in Healey's case. The rookie backstop has established some kind of record in the fact that the current jaunt is his fifth straight spring training trip with the Giants and he is still on trial.

Frank Healey

Since joining the New York club in the spring of 1930, Healey has figured in two training trips to San Antonio, two to Los Angeles, and now is in camp again at Miami. In all that time, Frank has caught in only 17 major league games, six in 1932 and 11 last year. First he was farmed to the Eastern League, and last season he spent the greater part of the time with Toledo in the American Association. Bill Terry hopes he is now ripe.

OTHER CLUBS TO WATCH RED BONUS PLAN

The workings of the new financial set-up at Cincinnati, which puts the players on a bonus system, will be watched closely by other major league clubs that have sliced salaries, and may be adopted by several if it proves successful.

As Crosley has explained, if the Reds draw a total of 275,000 customers at home this year, the players will get 5 per cent as a bonus, and there will be a gradual increase in the percentage if the gates go higher. Should the attendance total 325,000, the athletes will share 10 per cent. If it goes 25,000 higher, they will get 15 per cent, and if it reaches 450,000 they will get 25 per cent. The idea is to spur the players.

CARLSON FIVES FACE FIFTY-SIX SCHOOLS

The consistently fine records that have been made by University of Pittsburgh basketball teams under the coaching of Dr. H. C. Carlson become all the more impressive when you consider the great number and the varying types of the quintets met in competition. The floor fame of the Panthers has not been gained against any particular region, but against a nation-wide field. It speaks volumes for the coaching skill of Dr. Carlson that the success of his passers from year to year has been maintained against all types of basketball and against colleges representing every part of the country from coast to coast.

Dr. H. C. Carlson

Since taking charge of Pitt's hardwood performers in 1922, Dr. Carlson has pitted his teams against no fewer than 56 different opponents. In the Tri-State area, the Panthers have met Duquesne, Carnegie Tech, W. & J., Westminster, Penn State, Geneva, Allegheny, Grove City, Waynesburg, Thiel, St. Vincent, West Virginia U., West Virginia Wesleyan and Bethany.

Eastern opponents have been Army, Navy, Harvard, Penn, Cornell, Dartmouth, Colgate, Syracuse, New York University, Georgetown, Temple, Swarthmore, Bucknell, Lafayette, Fordham, C. C. N. Y., George Washington, Amherst and Rensselaer.

Of the middle western colleges, the locals have faced Wisconsin, Purdue, Indiana, Northwestern, Minnesota, Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan, Chicago (all of the Big Ten except Illinois), Notre Dame, Michigan State, Butler, Marquette, Western Reserve and Muskingum. The South has been represented on the list by Vanderbilt and Washington & Lee; the Missouri Valley by Nebraska, Creighton and Kansas; the Rocky Mountain region by Colorado, and the Pacific Coast by Southern California and Stanford.

PIRATE SQUAD DUE TO REACH CAMP TODAY

OAKLAND, Cal., March 1.—Early this morning, two special Pullmans carrying the advance squad of ball players and officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates, were dropped off in the local railroad yards and rushed by waiting locomotive toward San Jose, where the sleepers are to be picked up by a fast coast line train and transported to the Pirate training camp at Paso Robles.

The long journey across the continent was uneventful save for a few mishaps that delayed the trains and served to break the monotony. After detouring to get around a wreck in Ohio and then being set back by a hot box on one of the coaches, the pilgrims made a belated connection at Chicago and caught up most of the lost time only to encounter another enforced layoff yesterday at Ogden, Utah, where an air hose broke while two cars were being uncoupled.

Hal Smith picked up a particle of cinder in one of his eyes last night. It was promptly removed by Trainer Jorgensen. The big hurler's optic was slightly inflamed today, but he is expected to suffer no ill effects. Pitcher Leon Chagnon also was reported on the crippled list this morning. He recently slipped on an icy pavement at his home in Massachusetts and wrenched a knee, but paid little attention to the incident. Yesterday he began feeling pain in the joint and finally called the club trainer's attention to his ailment. Treatment was started at once and it is believed the leg will be all right when regular training is launched.

The ball players are due in Paso Robles in time for a late lunch this afternoon. Catchers Finney, Grace and Veltman, as well as Pitcher Blanton should arrive three hours later. Manager Gibson has planned a short talk at the hotel today, after which George Aston will distribute uniforms to the men.

The rest of the batterymen should be on hand tonight or early tomorrow in time to start working out according to schedule.

Swift Expects To Compromise With Bucs

SCRANTON, Pa., March 1.—(AP.)—Bill Swift, big Pittsburgh right hander, says it is probable that he and the Pirates' management can adjust salary differences for the 1934 baseball season, but doubts that he will be able to leave for Paso Robles, Cal., with the second squad next Monday.

Confined to his home by illness, Swift said that he and President William E. Benswanger are not so far apart in salary that there can not be a compromise.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: "STARCHY"—An old, familiar character around San Antonio, Tex., many years ago was "Starchy," whose name really was Andrew Jackson, but who also was familiarly known as "Boot Andrew." This unique character became known as "Starchy" because of his unusual diet of nothing but starch. Among his donors were many washwomen who saved a regular quantity of starch for him each week. The nickname "Boot Andrew" was given on account of his strange habit of wearing a pair of shoes until the soles were gone and then slipping the shoe tops up over his ankles to make way for the new shoes. At times, the uppers of these shoes extended half way to his knees, being tied together with bits of wire. "Starchy" was reputed to be more than 100 years old at the time of his death, a few years ago. THE ORANGE PROBLEM—The volume of a sphere equals 4-3 of the product of its cubed radius and Pi (3.1416). The cubed radius of a sphere 2 inches in diameter is 1, that of a sphere 4 inches in diameter is 8, hence the ratio of 1 to 8 between the two oranges.

TOMORROW: A RECORD OF 1,525 RACES

CARNERA LATE IN ARRIVING AT SCALES

MIAMI, Fla., March 1.—(AP.)—With the fight apparently assured by a favorable turn of weather, Tommy Loughran, the American challenger, stepped on the scales this afternoon and registered himself at 184 pounds for his 15-round match tonight with Primo Carnera, giant Italian titleholder, for the world heavyweight championship.

Due to a misunderstanding, Carnera failed to appear on time for the weighing-in.

Appearing 25 minutes late, Carnera surprised the critics by tipping the scales at exactly 270 pounds, thus giving him an advantage of 86 pounds over the Philadelphia boxing master. This was fully 10 pounds more than the Italian was expected to weigh and indicated the difficulty he had experienced in training down.

The weather had cleared after a three days' rain and conditions were favorable for the show to go on following its second postponement.

ADVANCE SALE POOR

Officials of Madison Square Garden, sponsors of the battle, and the managers of the two fighters went into a huddle this morning, pondering over weather maps, and emerged later with the announcement that the elements had improved sufficiently to permit the scrap, first set for February 22, to be held at last.

Despite the fact the main 15-round bout was only a few hours away—10 p. m. eastern standard time, to be exact—there were no reports of anyone getting hurt in a last-minute stampede to buy tickets.

MUST TOP $50,000.

The understanding is that the Garden will break even if the fight draws as much as $50,000 in net receipts, owing to the fact the rival gladiators are working strictly on a percentage basis. Up to last night, the actual cash advance sale was less than $30,000, with tentative reservations for perhaps $15,000 more.

FAVORITES COP SQUASH TILTS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Contenders for City Class B squash racquets championship honors rest today and tomorrow after vigorous period of competition on the Keystone Athletic Club courts since start of hostilities last week-end. With record field of 61 entrants reduced to 15, survivors will engage in third-round tussels throughout Saturday afternoon, ample time for winding up the remainder of the tourney being available between then and the following Saturday, when the finale will make up part of a bill featuring the national professional champion, Jack Summers, of Boston and Ben Pope, K. A. C. instructor and semi-finalist in the recent national tourney at Philadelphia.

Jean Caspar, resourceful home club luminary, paced the field into the third bracket yesterday with an unexpectedly decisive victory over his veteran teammate, Del Kennedy, 15-7, 15-5, 15-9.

Meanwhile Dr. John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. favorite, encountered trouble aplenty in nosing out McCook Miller, youthful Pittsburgh Golf Club hope, in a struggle that went the limit, 15-11, 14-17, 15-12, 16-18, 15-12.

Other tussles, with the exception of the hardfought win of Walter Berg, Keystone aspirant, over Frank Stoner, talented Edgeworth Club satellite, adhered to the dope. Chip Kennedy, Howdy Brennan and J. O. Craig, accomplished downtowners, and Dr. Whitey Stegeman and Karl Wolfe, P. A. A. stars, vanquishing less experienced opponents in consecutive cantos. The summary:

SECOND ROUND

Upper half—G. C. Kennedy defeated C. K. Hubbard, 15-5, 15-9, 15-5; W. P. Berg defeated F. R. Stoner, 15-11, 18-15, 15-10; Karl G. Wolfe defeated T. N. Griggs, 15-8, 15-6, 15-12.

Lower half—J. H. Brennan defeated E. B. Hankey, 15-12, 15-11, 15-13; Dr. John L. O'Loughlin defeated W. McCook Miller, 15-11, 14-17, 15-12, 16-18, 15-12; J. O. Craig defeated G. A. Price, 15-8, 15-15, 15-10; Dr. G. Stageman defeated T. R. Kennedy, 15-8, 15-6, 15-12.

THIRD ROUND

Lower half—C. J. Caspar, Jr., defeated D. J. Kennedy, 15-7, 15-5, 15-9.

By JESS CARVER

At the risk of being accused of doing a bit of first class issue-dodging, this department is going to depart from the straight and narrow path of all-star team picking in nominating the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's all-district college array for the 1933-34 campaign.

The selecting of allstar teams of any sort always is tough. Not since the boys named the first all-star team of lions for the season of A. D. 56, at the Coliseum at Rome, has any such selection ever pleased everybody. In fact, few of them ever manage to please anyone, other than the gents honored thereby, and their dads and mothers, brothers, sisters and uncles, cousins and aunts.

PLETHORA OF STARS

It was particularly difficult to select an all-star quintet from the territory this year. Where in former years there never has been a dearth of stellar performers, this year there were at least 20 performers of unusual class. The boys are getting faster and smarter and more clever with each passing season, as the game takes on more finesse and picks up speed.

After having viewed in action the majority of the district teams, and had reliable reports from scouts and observers who at least know that the ball is blown up and not stuffed, we hereby nominate seven men for a first team, two forwards, one center and four guards. The idea of the four guards is that you can pick your own, thereby cutting by at least 30 per cent the ever-present squawks. The selections follow:

Forwards, Wes Bennett, of Westminster, and Paul Birch, of the Dukes; the center, Claire Cribbs, of Pitt, and the guards, Dudey Moore and Marty Reiter, of Duquesne; Russ Ochsenhirt, of Pitt, and Joe Janosik, of Waynesburg.

Cribbs, Bennett and Birch undoubtedly were the outstanding individual performers of the season. Those lads always were in the headlines and in the hair of the opposition. Bennett was a center simply because it was a good spot for John Lawther, his coach at Westminster, to use him. He would have been just as valuable at a forward or a guard. Nowadays, as soon as the tap-off, you can't tell who is who or who is playing what position, which may be just as well.

BENNETT HIGH SCORER

Bennett was the highest scoring man in the section. Thus far he's taken part in 22 games, has tallied 113 field goals and 96 fouls for the staggering total of 322 points. He was checked; as far as field goal getting was concerned, by the Dukes, Pitt and Waynesburg, but they had to foul him plenty and he made good on most of his free tosses.

Birch, the other forward, gets this corner's vote as the best shot seen hereabouts since the days of Charley Hyatt. Once let that baby get set and the scoreboard total, for the Dukes, is boosted. He passes accurately, handles the ball well and is above the average on the defense. Shucks, he's a swell ball player, so what!

Claire Cribbs has been hailed as the best center ever to play college ball in the territory. He is a fine passer, a good shot and an excellent floorman. He outplayed every center who was tossed against him, measured up to every standard that a good center should, and deserves, as much as anyone, to be called the outstanding star of the year.

Had he been just a trifle more consistent, Russ Ochsenhirt would be deserving of full possession of a guard berth. Ochsenhirt's play generally was of high order, and he was extremely valuable to the Pitt team. The same can be said of Dudey Moore, of the Dukes.

JANOSIK VALUABLE

Janosik was a greatly underrated performer. Marty Reiter played bang-up ball for the Dukes, but was no better or no more valuable than either Moore or Ochsenhirt.

Consider also the following forwards, all of them fine performers: Sweeney, of Westminster; Gibson, of Tech; George, of Bethany; Strimmer and Snyder, of Thiel; Colebank, of West Virginia; Feldman, of the Dukes; Skippy Hughes, of Pitt, and Ginsberg, of Geneva. They'd be valuable timber for any ball club.

Sabula of St. Vincent, is touted as the coming center of the district. Doechen, of Bethany, played fine ball, and Joe Stydaha, of the Mountaineer., had his good games. Joe always ran into trouble when pitted against Pittsburgh teams.

Rab Currie, of Waynesburg, could play either forward or guard. Art Grahame, of Geneva, after a slow start, rounded into form splendidly. Littell, the other Covenanter guard, was consistent in everything he did. Charley Hughes and Don McCamant, of Pitt, were missed whenever they were out of the lineup and Red Rigg and George Silverman made the Tech picture less dismal.

M'CABE DENIES LINEUP SHIFT

By TOM BIRKS

The same eleven that exhibited such fine form against Avella last Sunday will start in Sunday's important game with the Cleveland Indians in the western final of the national amateur cup, Manager McCabe, of the Heidelberg soccer team, announced today.

Quizzed regarding reports that two new faces would be seen in the Green and Gold lineup, McCabe said:

"I am fully satisfied that the team that put Avella out of the tourney can take the measure of the Indians in this important battle."

The defense line, composed of Ramous, Bobish and Kuten, was great, and really never made a mistake in tackling all day. The goal scored for Avella was not the fault of the defense.

Palka, the hard-working little halfback, who is not so well known to Pittsburgh soccer fans, came through with a brilliant exhibition of soccer, completely tying up the best wing Avella had. His passes to the forwards were cleverly executed.

Steve Kuten returned to the forward line and added the punch that the line needed. Stan Urbanic plays far better soccer when Kuten is leading the attack.

With the boys hitting on all cylinders, and with plenty of spirit, no change is being considered.

McCabe conveyed the impression that the team will beat the Indians easier than it did Avella. Cleveland critics say that the Indians are by far the best soccer club in the city.

The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock. David Evans, of Detroit, has been named referee.

SULK VICTOR IN UPSET

Runyan Captures St. Petersburg Open

Headed by Paul Runyan, squat little Westchester (N. Y.) professional, who yesterday annexed the St. Petersburg Open, and Bill Mehlhorn, of Louisville, who finished second in the tourney, the caravan of golfers who, in the past several days, negotiated two tournaments, are ready for a tough, two-day grind here. Runyan scored a 72 yesterday, which, added to his previous total of 69, gave him a total score of 141.

Sam Parks, Jr., of the South Hills Country Club, of Pittsburgh, turned in a total score of 155.

Vamarie First Home In Yacht Race

NASSAU, Bahamas, March 1.—(INS.)—After a thrilling 300-mile struggle against a gale which averaged an intensity of 40-miles-an-hour, the schooner Vamarie, owned by Vadim Makaroff, of Nassau, today claimed the honor of being first to reach the finish line in the first annual international yacht race from Miami to Nassau.

ARCHERS TO MEET

Archery enthusiasts will hold a meeting and dinner at McCann's on March 16, at 6:30 p. m., to organize an archery club through which it is hoped a range may be obtained in one of the county parks. Persons interested are requested to call W. D. Perry at Atlantic 6080.

HIGGINS TO SPEAK

Bob Higgins, football coach at Penn State, is to address Penn State alumni at a luncheon meeting to be held at noon tomorrow on the third floor of the Yale-Harvard-Princeton Club.

MEMORY TEST

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

How good is your memory of sports events, heroes and dates? Can you answer these questions:

M'GRAW RESTS IN VAULT

BALTIMORE, March 1.—(AP.)—John Joseph McGraw is home. His body lay today in a granite vault at Bonnie Brae, new cathedral cemetery, where it awaits burial in the spring.

The body was brought to Baltimore late yesterday after funeral services were held in New York. Two hundred admirers met the casket at the station. They escorted it, with relatives and friends, to the cemetery, where Rev. Timothy B. Kenney read the service.

It was Father Kenney who assisted at the famous baseball figure's marriage here in 1902 to Blanche Sindall. McGraw, who broke into the major league ranks here 42 years ago and went on to become manager of the New York Giants, died Sunday in New Rochelle, N. Y.

Eight Stars Remain In Florida Tourney

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 1.—(AP.)—Matching pace with the fierce, chilling winds which swept the course during the qualifying and first round match play, eight remaining women golfers in the Florida East Coast golf tournament enter the quarter-final round of play today.

Glenville Annexes W. Va. Loop Title

GLENVILLE, W. Va., March 1.—(AP.)—Throwing up a stiff defense against Fairmont's attack, Glenville last night won the championship of the state basketball conference by vanquishing the invading Teachers, 63 to 41.

WILMERDING AT Y. M. H. A.

WILSON WINS CUE MATCH

Whitey Wilson, Lawrenceville entry in the West Penn pocket billiard championship tournament, added further to the woes of E. J. McMinn, of East Liberty, defeating the East Ender, 125 to 68, at the Ritz parlors last night. Wilson had a high run of 22.

Playing at Joe Tobin's parlors last evening, he defeated John Barnard, 25 to 21 in a 37-inning match and then lost to Johnny Clinton, national amateur champion.

PONZI WINS TITLE

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP.)—Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia, who fell just a little short of victory at Chicago last December, today wore the world pocket billiard crown which he took from Erwin Rudolph, of Cleveland, in a challenge match. Ponzi, runner up to Rudolph in the tourney, decisively defeated the defender, 750 to 607, in the first match of the sort played in several years.

The three-day encounter, completed last night, saw Ponzi set a new high run record for challenge matches, 153, and average 11.88 points over the 64 innings.

OXFORD BEATEN

CAMBRIDGE, March 1.—(AP.)—Cambridge scored its first victory over Oxford in lacrosse in 23 years yesterday, winning by the margin of one goal, 7-6. Oxford previously won the annual game without interruption from 1911 through 1933.

LOCAL POINTER SHOWS CLASS

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., March 1.—(AP.)—A sterling performance by Homewood Flirtatious featured the opening day of the national bird dog championship field trials yesterday on the Hobart Ames preserve.

This royal-blooded pointer, owned by the Homewood Kennels, of Pittsburgh, and handled by F. E. Bevan, of Waynesboro, Ga., apparently was in top form.

Running with Mote Baird, a pointer owned by Capt. N. D. Woodruff, of Baltimore, Flirtatious began finding her birds eight minutes after the dogs were put down. In all, she discovered six bevies and added a point to her record by finding a woodcock.

Mote Baird's attention was diverted when a small herd of deer leaped ahead of him and he gave chase. And to add to his troubles he was kicked by a horse as he returned to the course.

Four Teams Tied In Bike Grind

NEW YORK, March 1.—(AP.)—The constantly shifting fortunes of a big night in the fifty-sixth international six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden saw four teams tied for the lead early today as the second half of the grind got under way.

The teams were Eduardo Severgnini and Tino Reboli, Reggie McNamara and Dave Lands, Paul Brocardo and Marcel Guimbretiere and Franz Schon and Alfred Letourner. The Reboli-Severgnini combination led on points.

RESULTS LAST NIGHT

Morgans ..... 9—Ravens 3
Pirates ..... 4—Carnegie Tech 1

The brand of opposition tossed in the paths of the leaders in the City Amateur Hockey League last night in the doubleheader at Duquesne Garden was willing, but not formidable enough to do anything towards shattering the deadlock that exists for first place.

The Morgans and Pirates, each sporting six victories and two defeats, added another triumph apiece. The Morgans walloped the Red Ravens, fourth-place six, 9 to 3, and the Pirates took the measure of Carnegie Tech, 4 to 1.

Battling determinedly, the Ravens made quite a game out of their tussle with the Morgans until the final period, when a brilliant attack, led by Jackie Powell, diminutive sensation of the league, and the Schooley boys, Roy and Bob, accounted for five goals. At one time during the second period the Ravens actually were in the lead at 3 to 2.

When compared with the Morgan-Raven affair, the Pirate tussle with Tech was listless. The Pirates put the game away with three goals in the opening period. Tech picked up its lone marker in the same stanza.

The Garden management announced that the game scheduled between the league all-stars and Michigan Tech for next Monday had been cancelled, but that the all-stars would meet the crack Hershey, Pa., skaters here on March 12. Last night's lineups:

SCHOOL CHAMPS PLAY

GROUP IX FIVE CLASHES WITH WASHINGTON

By JULIUS LEVIN

The field of contenders in the race for the W. P. I. A. L. basketball championship reduced to 16 teams as a result of the elimination of Perry Township, Section XIX, McDonald, Section XIV, and East Pike Run, Section XVI, in first-round engagements, another slicing is scheduled tonight when two more quintets are slated to fall by the wayside.

Johnny Reed

Two contests are listed for disposal this evening, thus reducing the field to 14 survivors. As was the case in the three first-round games played Tuesday night, tonight's engagements will be played on high school floors.

FOUR NEWCOMERS

Four newcomers appear in the second-round duels tonight, none of the contesting teams being a winner in 1933. Mt. Lebanon High School, scene of the Brentwood-McDonald game on Tuesday, gets its second tournament contest tonight when Dormont, champion of Section IX, opposes Washington, champion of Section XV. Scott High School, former state and league titleholder and champion of Section VIII, invades Norwin High School to meet Latrobe, champion of Section X, in the other elimination battle.

Dormont, coached by Sammy Smith, enters the battle with Washington with a splendid record compiled during the regular season. A member of one of the largest sections in the league, Dormont swept through the season by taking all 12 of its league games. Besides its perfect league record, Dormont captured seven out of 10 non-league frays, all defeats coming at the hands of City League quintets. South Hills and Langley turned the trick by single points, while Oliver scored a 27-18 triumph over the Dormonters. Dormont ousted Mt. Lebanon as the Section IX titleholder.

WASHINGTON STRONG

Washington, the successor to Canonsburg in Section XV, likewise enters the eliminations with a perfect league record. The Washington passers scored 10 straight league victories and took eight out of 10 non-league frays. Monessen and Braddock were the only teams to defeat Washington in non-league contests.

Scott High School, coached by Johnny Reed, returns to the eliminations after a two-year absence. The North Braddock quintet carried off the league title and followed this achievement by taking the state crown in 1931.

The Reedmen went through their Section VIII program without losing a game, compiling a string of 12 straight victories. Their record for non-league games also is an impressive one, winning seven out of eight games. The Pitt Freshies were the only team to defeat Scott, the collegians taking the second of a two-game series. The Reedmen won the first encounter, 46-33, but lost the second, 48-37.

LATROBE PRESSED

Latrobe High School, Scott's opponent, had to battle Greensburg in a playoff game to carry off the Section X championship. Greensburg defeated Latrobe in the final league game to deadlock matters, but could not turn the trick in the playoff on Monday. Blairsville also defeated Wild's team during the regular season. In non-league frays, Latrobe defeated all high school opponents, but lost three games to college freshmen and prep school teams. Kiski won two from Latrobe, while California State Teachers' Frosh turned the trick once.

The first game for the City League championship will be staged in the Pitt Stadium pavilion tomorrow afternoon when South, defending champion, opposes Perry, champion of Section II for the second straight year. Last year South defeated Perry in the same series in two straight games.

North Side League To Be Reorganized

The old North Side Twilight League will be reorganized this season at a meeting called by Steve Cox for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at 204 Sixth avenue. Representatives from the following clubs have signified their intention of attending: Ottie Cochrans, Sam Littles, Chi-Mac, Millvale Merchants, Bellevue, Fineview, Troy Hill and Etna.

DUKES, TITANS BREAK AGAIN

Duquesne University and Westminster College have broken off athletic relations for the second time, it was announced today by John D. Holohan, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne University. No reason was given for the break, although it is believed dissatisfaction over the manner in which the recent Dukes-Titans basketball game, played in Sharon, was handled was responsible.

Several years ago the Dukes and Titans split, but the breach was patched up and the teams clashed in football last fall and in two basketball games during the past season.

Tuckers Increase Metropolitan Lead

The E. M. Tuckers increased their lead by winning all three games from the third-place Iron City team in the feature Metropolitan Tenpin League match last night, scoring 3,083 to 2,842. Fort Pitt, led by Antic, Jr., who rolled a 268 score, won two out of three games from Auditorium No. 1, Forward took two out of three from Auditorium No. 2 and the North Side Elks scored a clean sweep over Old Reliable.

In other matches, Keystone A. C. surprised the Old Anchor team by taking two out of three; Elba won two out of three games from Roxian, and St. Michael's Lyceum copped three from the Pittsburgh Athletic Association team.

A-K TOURNEY NEAR FINALS

NEW KENSINGTON, March 1.—Completion of the second round of play in the Allegheny-Kiski Valley tournament tonight will find the crack Edgewood combine stacking up against its first stiff test, Har-Brack. The winner will enter the semi-finals tomorrow night.

In the other quarter-final battle tonight, Tarentum and Springdale will settle a dispute of some standing.

In consolation games, Franklin meets New Bethlehem and Saltsburg opposes Leechburg.

Arnold and Kittanning entered the semi-final round last night by winning their games of the tourney. Brooks Kuhn's team easily defeated Falls Creek, 31-14, and the Kitties nosed out Verona in a thriller, 36-35. Oakmont bested Vandergrift, 29-22, and Aspinwall defeated Freeport, 22-19, in consolation games. The lineups:

Dividend Paying Gains

By B. C. FORBES

LAST MONTH was the best dividend-wise for any February since 1930, records kept by this column show.

In the first two months of this year favorable dividend changes exceeded the total for the first seven months of last year combined. Unfavorable announcements last month were the fewest since 1929.

Mr. Forbes

Neither railroads nor public utilities contribute to this cheerful showing. They continue to encounter financial difficulties, especially companies faced with maturing obligations, as investors are in no mood to accept refunding obligations in view of the financial status of these corporations.

Certain industries are doing distinctly better than others. Conspicuous among those now in a position to treat their stockholders somewhat more generously are oil, textiles, paper, mining, household furnishings, retail stores.

Among well-known concerns figuring in February's encouraging dividend news are:

Am. Fork & Hoe.	Mining.
Am. Woolen.	Humble Oil.
Atlas Powder.	Industrial
Bridgeport Machine.	Rayon.

	'34	'33	'32	'31
January	207	30	69	117
February	109	42	31	70
March		29	43	80
April		21	24	38
May		39	20	46
June		75	30	58
July		41	13	47
August		70	22	31
September		103	32	55
October		58	27	41
November		102	44	42
December		159	85	90
Totals		316	769	440 715

THE CURRENT year has started off with more upward dividend revisions than were announced even in the first two months of the boom year of 1929.

There is this difference, however: During the boom years most of the changes represented increases in payments, whereas most of the announcements now consist of resumption of dividends which had been stopped, small increases in rates which had been drastically reduced, and moderate payments on dividend arrears.

The prospect is that March will bring more good news for owners of stocks. Corporate earnings this quarter are running very substantially ahead of the first quarter of 1933, when conditions became alarmingly bad.

While, admittedly, the country still faces obstacles and uncertainties, the spirit of the people is very different from what it was 12 months ago.

WASHINGTON continues to take men's minds off their business to an unhealthy extent. The sooner it becomes possible for the people to concentrate upon their own daily activities, the sooner will return to normalcy become possible.

Although it is not being expressed in this country as demonstratively as in some other countries, the most profound cry in almost every part of the land is:

"We want jobs!"

Unless it becomes possible to provide more employment no recovery program can succeed.

Everything calculated to create profitable employment should be encouraged; everything calculated to have the opposite effect should be discouraged.

THE COMMODITY and security markets have lately reflected the wavelet of uncertainty which Wall street attributes to doings at Washington. Cancellation of the air mail contracts aroused widespread misgivings as to whether other arbitrary official steps might be decreed.

How quickly, however, sentiment can change! Not long ago currency uncertainty was blamed for almost everything. The international value of the dollar having been brought down to approximately the prescribed 59-cent level, and prospects of further inundation of gold having been distinctly dimmed, hardly a word of apprehension is heard today about currency.

Perhaps general sentiment may shortly change as pronouncedly.

STOCKS DROP AS TRADING SLOWS UP

Stocks sulked during the first hour or so, then drooped under a brief selling wave which was attributed partly to discouraged liquidation and partly to the heavy rumor crop. Business and industrial news was still good. But Wall street was in a worrying mood.

Wheat sagged and cotton and other commodities were hesitant. Bonds were mixed. Foreign exchange showed no disposition to move out of a rather narrow groove.

Some of the amusement group, including Loew's and Pathe, again bucked the trend with gains of fractions to a point. Most of the tobaccos were off a point or more, the motors eased and the utilities were diffident. The rails were fairly steady.

About the only thing that financial observers could say of the situation was that the market was in a "backing and filling" area. It was reiterated also that various stocks seem a bit high-priced when measured by present and even potential earnings. Some optimistic developments were thought to have been pretty well discounted by a number of issues.

Much satisfaction was expressed over the signing of a truce in the automotive strikes at Toledo, whereby the workers return to their jobs, at least until April 1, with a 5 per cent increase in wages and recognition by the employers of the unions.

At the same time there was whispers of threatened strikes in other industries. But veteran traders recalled the old maxim about "never sell a market on strike news." It was admitted, though, that strikes at this period of the recovery might be embarrassing.

Just how business will be affected by the NRA meetings at Washington was a matter of much conjecture. It was reported in some brokerage houses that an administration spokesman, either this week or next, would address the capital gathering and put the official stamp of approval on Gen. Johnson's advocacy of shorter hours and higher wages.

WHEAT CLOSES UNSETTLED

CHICAGO, March 1.—Lower prices on wheat formed the rule today, largely as a result of March 1 bearish estimates on the condition of domestic winter wheat.

Tentative figures put the 1934 probable production of United States winter wheat at 475,000,000 bushels, compared with 351,000,000 harvested last year. Unofficial returns suggested that abandonment of winter wheat acreage would be only about normal this season.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3/8-5/8c under yesterday's finish; corn, unchanged to 1/4c higher; oats, 1/8-1/4c down, and provisions, unchanged.

Baldwin Capital Change Approved

PHILADELPHIA.—Baldwin Locomotive stockholders have approved the plan to reduce stated value of capital stock to $30,548,000 from $42,134,000 or by $11,586,000 which will make a corresponding increase in surplus.

Out of this increased surplus directors plan to create a reserve of $8,000,000 to be used for effecting certain adjustments in the value at which various items of property, plant and equipment and of investments are now carried on the books.

'THEORIST' HITS JOHNSON'S POINTS

By LEWIS HANEY.

Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, March 1.—"You can't get away with it. The blue eagle has just begun to function. We are going on as we have begun. We are about to embark on a new blue eagle campaign and a new and much tighter drive for compliance."

So spoke Gen. Johnson to the critics.

That able but intemperate person has invited criticism. We note, however, the following limitations on criticism:

1—The General rushes in before critics have spoken, and tells in 12 points what he proposes to do.

2—He says that he won't listen to any criticism of the "Recovery Act," and probably means his interpretation thereof.

3—No criticism is to be made of "the economic principles of the President's program" or "any pronouncement of the President's policy."

(4)—Criticism must be "constructive."

(5)—No place will be given to what he calls "academic theory."

(6)—He states that he has, from the beginning, invited and encouraged criticism. So we may infer that this meeting means no change of heart. Jibes and epithets will continue to greet critics.

Aside from this, criticism is welcome!

POINTS DISPUTED

Personally, I do not think his 12 points are sound, and I am an "academic theorist," so I am ruled out. I venture to deny the truth of one of the general's statements, however, and that is that he recognizes that NRA success depends upon the voluntary consent of businessmen.

Some business men have voluntarily accepted it, and some have not. There has been a great deal of coercion and compulsion. The general promises a great deal more. "Compliance" means compulsion and "cracking down."

The points in his program with which I do not agree are the following:

1—Rules against sales below costs of production. There are such large surpluses of some products that they can't be sold at all unless it be below cost of production. Anyhow, no one on earth can determine what the cost of producing any commodity is. This rule means government price-fixing.

2—Further reductions in hours worked per week and further increase in hourly wages. I fully recognize that the needy unemployed must be cared for. But I deny that, as a general proposition, business can now stand a combination of less work per laborer and higher wages.

WOULD REDUCE JOBS

For many companies, I believe, this would mean either losses or the use of more labor-saving machinery. Either result would mean reduced employment.

(And don't tell me about the outrageous salaries and bonuses paid a few executives. Such cases probably do not cover 2 per cent of all laborers.)

3—I do not agree to the principle of uniformity in hourly wages. Some laborers are more efficient than others, and some managements cannot pay as much as others.

4—I believe that "prompt and efficient compliance" will mean undesirable coercion.

CONSUMER NEGLECTED

Finally, I do not believe that consumer's interest is adequately represented. Consumers have a "channel for complaint and criticism," but what does that amount to? Anyhow, as the General says:

"The real consumers' representative is the President himself."

I think that the President is too busy to be an adequate representative. How can he attend to farmers, processing taxes, silver, government debt, bank credit and rising prices to the 1926 level, and still get time to represent the consumer against organized labor and price-fixing cartels?

Litchfield Favors Shorter Work Week

AKRON, March 1.—No reasonable ground exists for objection by employers against shorter hour weeks, P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, said. He added that he "was disappointed that there exists so much objection to a temporary shortening of working periods while this surplus of labor exists."

Chickie's Daughter

By ELENORE MEHERIN

A hungry note in his voice made Pippin glance upward. She found Ensign Lodge staring at her hair, a moody, boyish ardor making him look so young.

Grinning into his eyes, she teased:

"But the adventures you'll have! If I were a man I'd run the whole earth through and never settle down at all. Think of the South Seas, where all those wonderful bronze mermaids make love so gayly. How can you regret launching out on such a life?"

"You think Uncle Sam is sending us on a purple tour and we've nothing to do but pick sirens on love-lit isles?"

"How glamorous; but would he do it?"

They laughed and felt at home with each other. They sighed and told their dreams. William Lodge had two final years at Annapolis. He thought the navy wonderful and longed to carve out a mighty career—lead battleships against a thousand Gibraltars.

"No—No!" Pippin stormed. "Think of my brothers, thousands of brothers to be killed. Like cattle. For what?"

His arm slipped about her waist: "You sound like my mother. My father went down in the World War . . . His whole ship went with him. He was a captain on duty in the North Sea. They came and got me at school. I remember my mother's face as they opened the door.

"She caught me in her arms and held me against her, saying again and again—saying all night long: 'We won't cry, Bill. He'd not like it. He was brave. Always remember that, Bill. Your father was glorious and brave.'"

Watch Waters

They were quiet and stared into the waters that now looked black, oily and full of menace.

Pippin shivered.

"Cold?" said the boy, feeling close to her and tender. "Gosh, I didn't mean to pour out all that. I don't think I've ever told it to a girl before. You don't mind, I hope?"

"I'm glad. It makes you real." Then, with a rush and glow and altogether forgetting she had just met him: "Oh, Bill, there are so many things to do besides fighting and killing. My father says the world is ours and we must not mess it up, soiling all the beautiful land with each other's blood. He says we should make a better job of using our earth than they did yesterday. Oh, let's. I want it to be clean and glorious. Don't you?"

"Ah, yes," said he, his arm drawing tight. "I'd want anything you want. Look!"

He pointed to a moon of copper fire, now rising from the brown Berkeley hills. He let his hand drift back slowly across Pippin's hair. She was startled.

Then he said with a strange sound, like a caught breath:

"You're beautiful. Everything about you. I've never seen such hair. Nor such eyes. So blue. Like a piece of the sky. You're the prettiest girl I've ever looked at."

He wanted to kiss her. His face lowered to hers. She looked, fascinated, into his flushed, pleading eyes.

"No—don't."

"Oh, please."

Refuses to Kiss

"I'll have to go inside if you do, and it's so sweet out here."

She shook back her head, brushing aside the momentary spell of his nearness and desire. His arm relaxed but he continued to stare in her face. He said, eager:

"It wouldn't hurt. I may never meet a girl like you again. Think of all the lonely nights I'll have out on the ocean. I'll remember you standing here like a princess from a fairy tale. You won't be very angry if I stoop quickly and take it. I almost had it when you put up your hand."

"It's so silly. You can't possibly want to kiss a girl you've only known a few hours."

"I can't look at you and not want to kiss you. No one could. I don't feel that I've only known you a few hours. Really, I've always dreamed of a girl like you—"

"You don't mean it! I can't be THAT attractive. Come and see me sometime!"

In a gay flutter she led him back to the dance. Kathie caught her arm for a rapt:

"Isn't it thrilling. I'm having the time of my life. You look wonderful."

Pippin closed her eyes on the sweet intoxication. Such excitement! Ensign Lodge, sweeping her down the deck in a romping quick step, put his lips close to her ear.

"Don't you ever kiss them? You wouldn't be that stingy."

She gave a sparkling laugh: "You see, I'm young. Mother thinks I should be innocent."

"Great heavens, you can't be THAT young!"

"Oh—you think 10 or 12 is long enough for abstinence? Or when should a young lady lose innocence?"

"How old ARE you?"

"Good Lord! I thought you were 19 anyway. I guess mother DOES know best."

She found his crinkly brown eyes meeting and wooing hers.

He said, so that her heart flushed:

"You disobey, though, don't you? Once in a while? You wouldn't send me away to be lost on the briny deep without one joy to take to heaven for remembrance?"

It was jubilant, like that—dancing down rainbows.

YOUNG FREDERICK BEING RECONCILED WITH HIS FATHER, FREDERICK WILHELM I

The young prince, who became Frederick II, the Great, King of Prussia (1740-1786) was a military genius and a brilliant statesman.

In the Austrian War of Succession (1740-1748) he conquered Silesia; in the Seven-Year War (1756-1763) he increased Prussia's military prestige; at the division of Poland (1772)—a gross violation of international law—its territory.

Besides building up a strong army, he improved the land (by reclamation), fostered industry, abolished serfdom in Prussia, granted freedom of speech and certain liberties to the press in literary fields. Advocating culture, art, literature, he invited scholars, artists to his castle Sans-Souci, preferring the French.

Characteristic of his enlightened thinking was his taxing of the Hessian mercenaries (hired by British to crush the revolting Americans) marching through his lands as "cattle bought and sold." (World History)

MONITOR DEFEATING "VIRGINIA"—MONITOR'S CREW AFTER BATTLE

In the Civil War, the Union fleet blockaded effectively the Atlantic ports of the Confederacy. Admiral Dupont captured Forts Walker and Beauregard in Port Royal, S. C. (Nov. 1861); Capt. Wilkes, of U. S. frigate San Jacinto, took from the British mailship Trent two Confederate envoys to Britain, stirring trouble, allayed only by Lincoln's diplomacy.

The Confederates raised the hull of the Merrimac (sunk in 1861 at the Norfolk shipyards), built a roof of armored timber over its deck studded with cannons, and rechristened it "Virginia." It destroyed the Cumberland and Congress (March 8, 1862), two of the Union's finest wooden ships. The "Virginia" was defeated next day by the "Monitor," ridiculed by the Confederates as the "cheesebox (revolving gun turret) on a raft;" an invention of Ericsson and the forerunner of modern armored warships. LESSONS PASSED, ESTELLA, PIP FIND EACH OTHER

Pip's benefactor turns out to be a convict to whom Pip once rendered a service. This man by name Magwitch, returns rich from Australia only to be caught; himself mortally wounded, his wealth is comfiscated. Magwitch is proven to be father of beautiful Estella raised by Miss Havisham (once jilted by her fiance).

Pip—returning after 11 years from the Orient-meets Estella who found in her heart, purified by experience, the real sentiment for him.

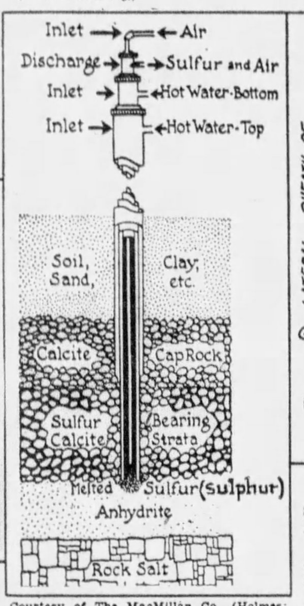
PURIFICATION OF SULPHUR

Sulphur found in nature is purified by sublimation: Melting, evaporation by heating and condensation by cooling (above).

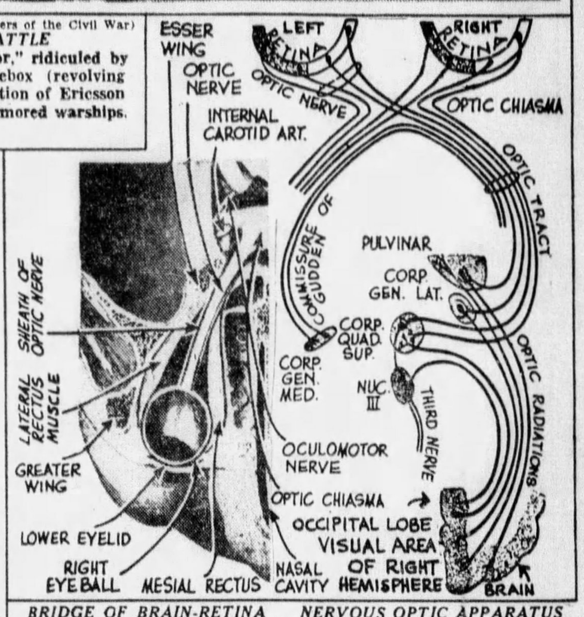
Sulphur is melted in pot D, flows through pipe F into boiler B. Further heated, it evaporates, sublimates into chamber G, where it condenses. The liquid sulphur is tapped at H and fills mold L, heated too. Cooling, it forms the roll sulphur or brimstone. (Chemistry)



Courtesy of The MacMillan Co. (Holmes: Introductory College Chemistry)

SULPHUR BY FRASCH PROCESS

Sulphur bearing strata is found deep underground around salt domes. To melt the sulphur and lift it, 4 concentric pipes are lowered; superheated water (170°C., 100 lbs. pressure) and air are forced down; the sulphur rises in a frothy mixture, flows into wooden bins and cools, forming huge blocks of 99½% purity. (Chemistry)



BRIDGE OF BRAIN-RETINA

The fibers of the optic nerve end in ganglion cells (in outer layer of retina) and convey the light impulses, received by the cones and rods of the retina, to the midbrain, passing through the optic chiasma.

Two theories explain how light waves are changed into nervous impulses. One holds rods and cones are mechanically stimulated by the vibrations; the other claims light causes chemical changes especially in the visual purple of the rods. Images of light sources (optograms) were developed on retinas.

NERVOUS OPTIC APPARATUS

JUNIOR PATROL

When the weather is very cold, fellows, it's best to play indoors.

The trouble is, we fear, that some fellows, and girls, too, don't know what to play indoors. They just don't find enough to do.

Of course, reading is one of the best things. We have had letters from some of our members telling us some of the interesting books they have read. We hope more fellows and girls will write and tell us the names of some more good books they have read.

A hobby is always a good thing, too, if you make your hobby teach you new things. Some people just collect things, like stamps, coins and rare minerals. All they know, sometimes, is that they are trying to get as many different kinds as possible, without knowing why or what they are.

If you collect something, know what it is and how it happened. For instance, if you collect stamps, find out how stamps are made, and why different colors are used, and what kind of paper and stickum stamps have, and the names of the people with their pictures on the stamps, and what they are famous for. It's better to have only a few things that you know all about than it is to have a big collection that somebody buys for you wholesale.

We have a letter today from 10 members, George Hill, of 28 Wilkins road; Virginia Hurrell, of 3 Wilkins road; Norma Jane Defbaugh, of 38 Wilkins road; Dorothy Scott, of Cherry Valley, and others. They all go to Woodside Road School, Pittsburgh. How about electing a captain, so that we can send him or her the swell black and orange armband? Write and let us know how your gang is getting along.

Now here is a nice note from Rose, Elmer and Dolores Fing, of 4399 Stanton avenue, Pittsburgh. They write:

"We listen to your programs as often as we can and think they are good. We also follow the Junior Patrol. We are sending in three coupons. If we can get enough members we will start a Junior Patrol club."

Well, we surely hope you do get enough members. We're glad that you like the programs and follow the Junior Patrol. Write and tell us all about your plans.

Belch and the World Laughs With You

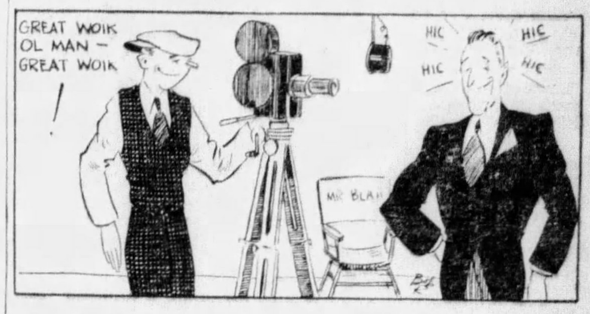
Looks like the School of Movie Acting has got to build a sound-proof annex.

Started with Barrymore and Laughton and Beery who have added to the sciences and artistic professions by raising the belch to a classical standard. That's no new language and indicates a fondness for radishes.

They may call that the Academy of Natural Acting. We want every man to be himself. But you don't have to go to Vienna or Milan to learn it.

In the quest for novelties in auricular celluloid the directors have ransacked the guttural archives. Soon they will have pictures in mumbles, pig Latin and sneezes.

It all started with a simple little hiccup contributed to civilization by a talented actor playing a souse. He required no make-up. The hiccup was such a tremendous laugh throughout the world that it couldn't have done better if it had been fired on Concord Bridge. The actor became a sensation overnight and made a personal tour of 52 weeks. He hiccuped in all the big cities and was acclaimed by dramatic critics who knew their stuff. People invited him to banquets just to hear his laryngeal chirruping.



The other Hollywood stars became emulative and hired hiccup tutors to train their voices. One thing led to another until you know the rest. We think that Beery started the festive belch. The credit may belong to Barrymore.

Some actors have combined the two and run a delightful scale. This is very difficult. A man cannot be in two places at once. Other actors depend on the sneeze with a big finish of stuttering.

Impediments in your speech are no longer handicaps. You can sign a big contract now with an extra bonus for noises that are unique and asthma that is extraordinary. They are going to film a six-star feature soon in which all the performers will do nothing but mumble. The leading lady will sing an aria through a very thick bath mat reinforced with beaver board. If you understand one word you get your money back. It will be the season's best mystery play. If the film jumps the sound track a trained sea lion will page a fish just to fill in the dialogue.

Anything for a laugh, as the boy said when he pushed the benevolent old gentleman off the international end of the wharf.

Revoke Their Licenses!

Persons Found Guilty of Driving While Drunk Should Be Barred from the Highways

Ben R. Marshall, superintendent of police, reported that arrests for drunkenness decreased from 2,100 in December to 1,516 in January. It looked as if, with the opening of the state liquor stores, we had made a good start towards solving the problem of intemperance.

But misgivings are aroused by a report from another office of the Public Safety Department—the Bureau of Traffic Planning. It tells us that automobile accidents have shown a sharp increase and that "unquestionably liquor is becoming a vital factor."

Fifteen persons were killed by autos in Pittsburgh in January of this year, as compared with six in January, 1933.

There were 436 traffic accidents in the city this January, as compared with 170 in January, 1933.

Thirty-six of the drivers involved in accidents in Pittsburgh this January, were reported under the influence of liquor, as against two in January, 1933.

A large proportion of the accidents occurred between midnight and 6 a. m., which suggests that some of those involved may have been at drinking parties.

The drunken pedestrian is also becoming a problem, we are told.

Drunken drivers are a menace to the public safety and should be barred from the highways. On being convicted of driving while intoxicated their licenses should be revoked, as the law requires.

A New Garbage Plan

Council Is to Be Commended for Trying to Save Money for the Taxpayers.

At the suggestion of Councilman W. A. Magee the City Council has employed Norman S. Sprague, consulting engineer, to prepare plans, specifications and estimates of cost for a municipal plant for the disposal of garbage and rubbish.

This is a move in the right direction.

For years there has been a well-grounded suspicion that Pittsburgh was paying too much for the removal of garbage and rubbish.

It was stated that if a long-term contract were given, thus making it worth while to invest in a plant and equipment, there would be sharp competitive bidding and the service could be obtained at a much lower figure than we have been paying.

But up until this year Council has been unwilling to give up the one-year contract plan, with the result that one company, long established here, has virtually had a monopoly of garbage and rubbish disposal and been able to charge a high price for its service.

During Magee's second term as Mayor the city engaged the late Morris Knowles, eminent engineer, to make a similar study. His report was rendered under date of December 31, 1924.

Apparently nothing was ever done with it.

It is to be hoped that the Sprague report will form the basis for an intelligent settlement of this vexing problem.

Voting Machines

Many Counties, But Not Allegheny, Will Use Them in the Primary Election.

It is the irony of fate that Allegheny County, in which the movement to substitute voting machines for paper ballots in Pennsylvania originated, probably will again be deprived of their use in the primary election of May 15.

It is announced that a way has been found to overcome the mechanical deficiencies and that several of the machines which have been overhauled have successfully stood all tests. But even if all of our 1,100 machines could be put into proper condition in time, it is doubtful if we would be able to use them because of the multiplicity of the candidates.

It seems that if we are to use our particular type of voting machines some way will have to be found of reducing the number of candidates.

In the meantime it is encouraging to learn that a machine of another type has apparently been found satisfactory and will be used in at least 22 counties in the primary.

More than 65 per cent of the voting population of the state resides in districts that have decided to use the mechanical method of voting.

Allegheny County has had an unfortunate experience. But while particular types of voting machines give trouble, it is not true that all voting machines are unsatisfactory.

Eventually we shall master the difficulties and come into full enjoyment of the advantages that adequate voting machines furnish—reasonable proof against fraud and a prompt report of the returns.

The Housing Census

The Real Property Inventory Should Be of Aid In Reviving the Building Industry

Word comes from the Department of Commerce at Washington that detailed information developed by the housing census, recently conducted here and elsewhere as a CWA project, will be made available to interested trades and industries within the next few weeks.

The report should be of value in connection with the efforts that are being made to revive our building industry.

The investigators inquired at every house if any extra families were occupying the dwelling. The extent to which there has been doubling-up on account of the depression can thus be ascertained and a fairly accurate estimate made of the number of houses that will be required to take care of the population when doubling-up is no longer necessary.

The proper municipal bureaus, social service agencies, trade and industrial bodies should get the figures as soon as they are available and use them as the basis for an intelligent and vigorous drive for better housing.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 1.—No area is more distinct with literary connoisseurship than Gramercy Park. In dark-paneled old homes with basement dining rooms and open fires are some of the finest libraries in town. And because of The Players it attracts leading authors of the day.

In a brief loiter there one may often see Will Irwin, Isaac Marcosson, Don Marquis, Christopher Morley, Sinclair Lewis and others. Gravity hangs heavy over Gramercy and is not even purged by the shouts of children in the high fenced enclosure that is the park.

Ordinarily folk who sweep out of the surrounding clamor into Gramercy slow into a doleful rosary of thought. It is hallowed ground. Even the flock of beggars that haunt it seem especially courteous. And domestic clatter diminuendoes to restful lullaby.

Men from many blocks away drift there late at night for the last pipe and a bit of introspection. It is where Oliver Herford sketched many of his famous cats. It is where Robert Holliday was inspired to turn out the best of his whimsical essays and A. E. Thomas his best plays.

Radio hurdles become increasingly difficult. Unseasoned talent is almost universally barred. The demand is for "names." Potential Amos and Andys and Tony Wonses get no further than the outer gate. This will continue, it is said, until the over-supply of experienced artists are assimilated.

And I wonder how many New Yorkers have made after dark excursions to the retail radio stores that erupt around Washington and Chambers streets? Sidewalks overflow with cast-off bargains. Bright lit windows are placarded with cut-priced offerings of all descriptions and with a hundred and one loud speakers going full tilt the section is violent bedlam. Most radios are sold after working hours.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I Want to Move With Life!

I'm "not consistent," you say?

Thank Heaven, of course I'm not! Why should I be?

Why should I believe the same things today which I believed last month or last year? Why should I even try to check my present program by the program I followed at twenty, thirty or forty?

If there was any value in the things I believed, the things I did then, it was because those notions and acts LINED UP WITH LIFE. What do I mean by that? sonal prejudices . . . they were part of the Truth of that time.

For example, I had certain notions about Government . . . Homes . . . Schools . . . Husbands and Wives . . . Careers . . . Personal Morals. Some, of course, were popeyed, and did neither me nor anyone else any good. But some were based on real knowledge, and those ideas helped me live more bravely, generously and elastically. To just the extent that my notions LINED UP WITH LIFE, in '03, '13, and '23 they were useful.

But life THEN and life NOW are two entirely different things. If I tried to use the same ideas which I used 10 years ago—or even one year ago—they would no longer LINE UP WITH LIFE AS IT IS TODAY. They might sound fine and look charming in type. But they wouldn't do the trick . . . they'd lack something . . . they'd lack the TRUTH.

For the thing that was true last year isn't true today. Certain general principles stand through the ages, but they are only very general principles. The world does change, and we change with it.

AND UNLESS WE DO CHANGE WITH IT, WE DIE ON OUR FEET.

I "write differently about families?"

Of course I do. Families are different in 1934 than they were in 1924, or even in 1930. Families have changed. Homes have altered beyond recognition. And they're going to stay altered.

The "Old Fashioned Home" will never return. It was, sometimes, a beautiful thing in its day . . . and sometimes not so beautiful. But for weal or woe, it has gone its way. And for a plain and inevitable reason . . . all those economic and social conditions which supported it have vanished.

Moreover, if it could, by some miracle, return, we'd hate it. It wouldn't fit the rest of our lives. It would be silly, wasteful, . . . as antidated as an antimacassar. And it's just as idiotic to sniffle over the passing of the Old Fashioned Home as it would be to cry because we can no longer draw our water from the Old Oaken Bucket.

So, though I ballyhooed for the Old Fashioned Home in 1919, I'm strong for Social Centers today, community nurseries and kitchens, clinics, gymnasiums and theaters . . . anything and everything that can make life bigger, better and braver for Ma, Dad and the kids in 1934.

Inconsistent?

Call it that if you wish.

But I call it LIVING.

I want to live. I want to live all the time. I don't want to map out a nice, neat book of rules for myself, and accumulate a set of pleasing ideas—and then sit squatto for the rest of my career.

I WANT TO KEEP MOVING . . . KEEP CHANGING!

AND I DON'T CARE WHAT iT COSTS!

Nor am I fooling myself about that cost. It will cost more than money, time, energy, pain or sacrifice. It will cost humiliation.

KEEPING UP WITH LIFE WILL MAKE A MONKEY OUT OF ME!

It will blast my smartest theories . . . show up my prettiest programs. It will make the stuff I wrote in 1924 look like a pipe dream in 1934. And cause all the disgusted Stand-Patters to grab their pens and tell me I'm "inconsistent."

All right, I am. And I'M glad I am. So's Life. Life never lingers over an old idea just because it was a wow at the moment. Life keeps moving along.

I WANT TO MOVE WITH LIFE!

The Texas Rangers, Hard Riding Sharpshooters, Round Out a Century of Service

By Edwin C. Hill

"THE best shots and the hardest riders in the world!" I give you the Texas Rangers—that gallant corps which this year is rounding out a century of service—100 years of glorious history, of courage and fearlessness nowhere surpassed.

It's a long stretch of time from Col. Jack Hays and his five-ball pistol down to Capt. Tom Hickman and his machine gun. Many a gusher has been brought in since Col. Jack on his pony stalked the Commanche over prairie and mountain. Today Capt. Tom, in a fast motorcar, chases bank robbers along macadamized highways. Manners and modes may have changed, but not the men.

A short time ago the states of Oklahoma and Texas were having some unpleasantness about a bridge over the Red River at Denton. Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, 'Alfalfa Bill," called out his overworked National Guard and sent a detachment to the disputed point. Thereupon Gov. Sterling of Texas ordered a band of Rangers to guard a barrier on the Texas side. The inimitable "Alfalfa Bill" pooh-poohed this move. Now, Rangers don't talk back to governors. Indeed they say little to anybody. All they did in this instance was to pass around the word that they were going to stage a little show in the river bottom and all hands were welcome free of charge.

When the last man of the audience had taken his place in the back row, the show began. A playing card was tacked to a sapling. Ranger Goss toed a mark 30 yards away, turned his revolver upside down, fired and split that card into halves. Then Ranger Hickman, shooting from the hip and at 50 feet, hit 18 out of 20 matchsticks. Ranger after ranger had some particular stunt and when the show was over the Rangers had answered Alfalfa Bill.

Comanches Were Their Chief Foes

MAYBE they did cuss, and maybe they did shoot craps, but they proved that they could use a gun in pretty much the same fashion in which the early Rangers had amazed Zachary Taylor and some young West Pointers named Robert E. Lee and George B. McClellan. The Rangers had their origin in the rebellion of Texas against Mexico and the setting up of the Lone Star Republic.

Seventy-five men, in three companies of 25 each, made up the first force, and their job was to patrol thousands of miles of border and wild country, protecting the settlers and ranches from the Indians and Mexican marauders. The Comanches were their chief foes and the Comanches were no mean fighters. There grew up in these Indians such an admiration for the Rangers that the braves would travel for miles to be on the scene for front row seats when the Rangers were having a go with the Mexicans.

In 1861, to the chagrin of the Union generals, the Rangers enlisted in a body with the Confederacy. One of them, Ben McCulloh, a friend of Davy Crockett, attained the rank of brigadier general and was k Ridge, Ark. The er of the states foun ers scattered and di the great Southwest settlers by the thous also drew bad men t dreds. The Comanches and the Apaches were too. The good people of knew only one sure remedy they employed it. Back came Rangers—six companies this e, each of 40 men.

The state appropriat $75,000, and furnished the gun and the ammunition. The Ran rs, at a pay of about $40 a m th, supplied their own horses, food and lodging. They were never uniformed, dressing pretty much as the cattlemen of the time. There was no hard and fast discipline, the age limit of 21 was winked at and many a youngster of 17 took his place beside the bearded and mature Capt. D. W. Roberts or Capt. George W. Baylor, to shoot it out with a train robber like Sam Bass, or to chase an Apache chief like Victorio across the Rio Grande into Mexico.

Self-Reliance Their Great Virtues

THE cardinal virtue of the Texas Ranger always has been self-reliance. It was borne into him of necessity and has been bred into him by example. When 75 men are assigned to cover a couple of hundred thousand square miles, they have to spread out a little to take in so much territory. It got to be that each man was pretty much on his own. When a Ranger was sent on a job, no one went along to tell him how it was to be done. Two or three men against a dozen desperadoes—that was what the Rangers expected and that was what they got. But it was this winning or dying against fearful odds which built up an "esprit de corps" that has proved the despair of the wicked and hope of the just.

What the Red Coat of the Mountie has been to the Canadian Northwest, so the badge of the Texas Ranger has been to the American Southwest. And the Ranger always got his man, too.

In Texas they tell a whimsical story of the Ranger's ability to go it alone. The Mayor of a fairly large city had forbidden the holding of a prize fight. But the tough element thumbed its nose and proceeded to go ahead with arrangements for the bout.

The ill-feeling developed into a riot, and the distressed Mayor telephoned for assistance. The assurance that the Rangers would take over the situation relieved his honor, who took himself to the railroad station to await his deliverers. The relief train pulled in, and one passenger stepped off. He was an efficient, hard-bitten individual, but he was only one. The Mayor looked at him in surprise.

"Where are the rest?" he gulped. "Do you mean to say they only sent one Ranger?"

The other looked at the Mayor calmly, and then answered in a slow drawl:

Criminal Folly of Air Mail Ruling Scored in House

By James T. Williams, Jr.

FEW and far between are the sessions of Congress in which either House listens, in a single week, to two speeches that live long after all the Senators or Representatives who heard them have retired from public life or the earthly scene.

Two such speeches were made in the House last week. Both were addressed to the cruel fate that has befallen our defenders with the colors who fly the colors, the passengers and the mails.

One of these speeches cost the life of the Representative in Congress who made it. This was the speech of Congressman Hooper, of Michigan, who was seized with a heart attack after returning from the House floor to his office and died a few hours later.

The question before the House was the proposal to authorize the Army Air Corps to fly the federal mail for a year, upon the ground that a national emergency existed. Mr. Hooper said:

"I rise for two purposes. One is to say that no matter what may be the outcome of the situation which has brought this bill upon the floor of the House nothing will tarnish or diminish the fame of America's best and most popular citizen, Charles A. Lindbergh."

Lindbergh Tribute Draws Applause

HERE the House noted the deep feeling with which this tribute was offered to an American hero whose traducers in both houses of Congress will live to rue the day that they ever stooped so low. And the earnestness with which Mr. Hooper spoke, no less than the truth of his words, brought from those members on both sides of the aisle, who are ashamed of the unjustifiable attack made upon Col. Lindbergh, tremendous applause.

Then Mr. Hooper continued:

"The other thing that I rose to say is that I am glad that the committee which brought out this bill had the good sense and the good taste to strike out of it the words 'the present emergency.'

"There is no emergency here except a manufactured emergency, manufactured deliberately for the purpose of bringing more and more power into the hands of an administration teeming over with power which has been abjectly surrendered to it by the Congress of the United States in the last 11 months. It has been under the guise of emergency that we have seen, one after another, powers, delegated to the Congress of the United States by the people of the United States in their Constitution, shorn away."

Within a few hours the brave man who raised his voice in support of his sincere convictions and in obedience to the dictates of a clear conscience was called to his eternal reward. But this House will not soon forget the rebuke it received at the hands of a dying member.

Notable Speech By Mrs. Greenway

THE other speech made in the House last week which will outlive its every member was made by a woman, a widow of a veteran of the war with Spain and of the Great War.

This speech also was made with deep feeling and in turn left upon the House a profound impression. This was the speech of Mrs. Isabella Greenway, Representative in Congress from Arizona. Republicans united with Democrats in that state to elect her to Congress. She was an intimate friend in public life of the Roosevelt family now in the White House.

Before coming to Congress, Mrs. Greenway operated an air line left by her husband. And here is what she said in support of her vote against the bill to abolish the eral air mail service, which become the eighth wonder of world, and to compel the Arm operate it for a year:

"I voted against the pass of this bill because I thin' last week has proved, with reflecting on either the pilots the Army, that the Army pla as such are not equipped carry mail at this time, and think that it might be better suspend the air mail until the equipment is adequate rather than run a hazardous service."

For concise and logical argument and for effective eloquence this brief speech of Mrs. Greenway has not been equaled in either house of Congress at this session. The reason it has not been refused is because it is irrefutable.
